VISITING STATESMEN AND TRADE.

Once more, at the Toronto Board of Trade to the delegates to the Intercolonial Conference, the unity of the Anglo-Saxon race was demonstrated. The speeches of the visitors were all expressive of the warmest feelings of regard for the Dominion, while the addresses of Sir Oliver Mowat, Hon. Mackenzie Bowell and others representing Canada, were equally strong in their appreciation of New Zealand, Australia and South Africa. All professed to entertain the sincerest esteem for the mother nation, which has set to her dependencies the best example of nation building offering.

There seems to have been unanimity of sentiment at the conference with regard to the Pacific cable and proposed fast Atlantic steamship service, and the British Government will be asked to subsidize both.

The trade question came up. A number of the delegates, including those from Canada, urged that Great Britain should depart from her free trade principles and grant preferential terms to the colonies over foreign nations; but that being regarded as out of the question, they resolved that the colonies should be granted power to enter into preferential trade relations with one another.

It is significant that so strong a Conservative journal as the London Standard regards the preferential trade proposition, so far as Great Britain is concerned, as likely to lead to the ruin of British foreign trade. It is out of the question. If there is to be a trading arrangement between the mother tree and her outlying branches it must be on the basis of trade freedom rather than as a "protective" system. This view was held by the delegate from New Zealand and by several of the Australian representatives. If the Earl of Jersey, who looked on for the Imperial Government, had spoken, he would have expressed a similar conviction. Canada and all the other portions of the empire can have all the trade with Britain that they desire by simply pulling down the barriers that they have raised against the mother country, and letting trade take its natural channel. That course will not suit privilege and monopoly holders, but it is what the masses require. It is the only policy that will bring real and abiding prosperity to the whole people of this much-favored new land.

—The ballot box is the best place to remove inequalities that ought not to exist. There will be fewer fruitless strikes when this view is more generally recognized.

LONDON'S NEW RAILWAY CONNECTION.

London has a new connection with Georgian Bay and Northern Ontario in the link of the Grand Trunk Railway joining the Port Dover and Warton branch of the system with the town of Owen Sound. When this branch was built, Owen Sound could have been made the Georgian Bay terminus if its citizens had been willing to subscribe a bonus of $30,000. They refused, and Warton was chosen instead. Now to get connection with the Grand Trunk the people of Owen Sound grant a bonus of $75,000. This G. T. R. link will give us direct connection with the chief lake port on Georgian Bay. It starts from Parkhead, eleven miles to the west of Owen Sound, and across the Pottawatoni, near Owen Sound, by a fine bridge. London, the railway center of Western Ontario, will be distinctly benefited by this new connection.

REPEAL THE LAW.

Mr. Turcotte, a Quebec M. P., forfeited his seat by contracting for Government supplies. He was promptly whitewashed by Parliament at the bidding of Sir John Thompson. How could the Conservative leader do otherwise, when he countenanced the whitewashing of the far greater sinner, Caron? Better to repeal the independence of Parliament Act altogether than to continually show contempt for it, as is now the case.

THE WAR CLOUD.

The East has another war cloud. This time the threatened bloodshed is in the Orient, and Korea, a peninsula running out of the great Chinese empire, is the center of disturbance. To all appearances, unless better counsels speedily prevail, we will have the spectacle of two Mongolian nations pitted against each other, and using a strange mixture of barbarian weapons and more modern engines of war.

It is about the standing of the King of Korea that China and Japan are preparing to fight. An ambassador of his who was ambitious and not over-scrupulous was assassinated in the Chinese city of Shanghai. The courtier had been a former Minister to Japan, and while serving his sovereign in that capacity had interested the Mikado in a very ingenious scheme to overthrow the Korean Government and make him, the Minister, dictator. The King of Korea, no doubt, repents his precipitancy in having his unfaithful representative put out of the way, for the Mikado, when he heard of the incident, at once occupied Korea with some 19,000 Japanese troops, which he refuses to withdraw, despite the protests of the Emperor of China, who, wanting a slice of Korean territory himself, has assumed his character of protector of that country, and has chartered several steamships to send an army to the disputed territory. China, too, has landed an army in the unfortunate land, which is resting on its arms.

It would never do to let the barbarian moguls fight it out alone, and so Russia appears on the scene claiming an interest in Korea because of the proximity of its Siberian territory. If the Czar could get possession of the fine Korean port of Turan, which is open all the year round and is infinitely superior to Russia's own port of Vladivostok, he could vastly improve its position in far eastern latitudes. It would be just like Russia to set China and Japan at each other's throats, and after they had exhausted their energies appear as peacemaker and claim the disputed territory for the Czar's own uses as his pay.

In any case it looks as if the Korean king were between the "devil and the deep sea." He may lose his head as well as his empire, and he no doubt bitterly repents the day when he adopted eastern habits and sent an ambassador abroad to get his head cut off and bring him no end of trouble that could have been saved if the head cutting had been undertaken in the public square of Peking.

—As its P. P. A. candidates were badly defeated in the recent Provincial election, the Hamilton Spectator now sagely proposes that Ontario should go without a Government for a few years. It desires to have its Ottawa friends manage us, we suppose. No, by a large majority. Ontario wants no Curran bridges in hers, thank you. She will stand by Sir Oliver.

PULLMAN'S CANADIAN DEFENDERS

Canadian N. P. journals are defending Mr. Pullman, the Chicago autocrat. They argue that he is an ill-used man, and a victim of tariff reduction in the United States. Poor fellow; he needs the sympathy of our defenders of monopoly rule. He has only made $30,000,000 or $40,000,000 since he began to operate under the system that our "protectionist" contemporaries applaud. His company was only able to pay 8 per cent on its watered stock last year. And while such independent journals as the Chicago Herald, which condemns the strikers, state that his men were underpaid and half starved, and characterize his conduct in refusing to submit the trouble to arbitration as "arrogant, brutal and indefensible," Mr. Pullman has defenders in Canada who quote his plea for the continuance of the McKinley tariff as the acme of wisdom, and as going to prove that what the United States and Canada needs is not a more equitable system of collecting the national revenue, but as big a dose of trade restriction as can be imposed!

ONTARIO'S HERITAGE.

The Prospects of Sault Ste. Marie and Neighborhood.

Former Londoners Who Are Prospering in Algoma.

Mr. T. H. Purdom and Col. Leys have just returned from a business trip to Sault Ste. Marie, Ont. Mr. Purdom, in speaking of the future of new Ontario, expresses his belief that it will be decidedly satisfactory to those who cast their lot in it. There is, he says, many thousands of acres of good agricultural and mining lands in the region of Algoma, most promising mines, and valuable water power running to waste. As to mining, that which is most needed, according to those who are experts, is a steadfast mining policy. With liberal treatment of capitalists, and a knowledge that their investments will not be subject to frequent changes in regulations, there seems to be no doubt that in a short time Northwestern Ontario will have a legitimate boom. The new canal at the Soo is nearing completion. It will still further improve the position of the Canadian Soo. That town has a magnificent water power at its disposal, and is ready to liberally treat with anyone desirous of using it. In the Soo are many progressive business men, who have unlimited faith in the future of New Ontario. Among others Mr. Purdom met Mr. Fred Rogers, a former Londoner, who will be remembered by many as a student in the law office of Messrs. MacMahon (now judge), and Geo. C. Gibbons. Mr. Rogers has been in the Soo for about four years, and he is contributing in no small degree to the making known of the merits of the rich, although comparatively undeveloped district in which he has his home. Mr. Rogers is the compiler of an attractive "Hand Book of Information Relating to the District of Algoma," which is being circulated in large numbers in Great Britain, and which contains many letters of appreciative former residents of this locality, who are now settled in Northwestern Ontario. Mr. Purdom also met Mr. Geo. Rankin, of this city, and P. C. Campbell, well known in this country, who are interested in the development of mines in the locality. They, too, look for a growing interest in the new territory, not only on the part of capitalists, but by farmers and dairymen. While on his way up, Mr. Purdom met Mr. McGregor, druggist, Gore Bay, formerly with Mr. Strong, of this city, and he saw several other Middlesex men, who are determined to make their way in Algoma. Mr. Purdom and Col. Leys had a pleasant trip by way of the G. T. R. to Collingwood, and the steamer City of Collingwood.

Collapsed.

The Railway Strike Practically at an End.

The Men Returning in All the Large Centers.

Bloodshed in Chicago and Hammond—Train Wreckers—A Few Men Still Going Out.

THURSDAY EVENING.

Boston, Mass., July 12.—Quite a number of meetings were held last night by the various Knights of Labor organizations in this city and in every case, as far as known, the orders of General Master Workman Sovereign for a strike were ignored.

San Francisco, Cal., July 12.—Interviews with Knights of Labor leaders show that the organization will go out if ordered by the Knights of Labor and American Federation.

READY FOR WAR.

SACRAMENTO, July 12.—Last evening Marshall Baldwin issued an order to search places known to have been frequented by strikers and confiscate everything they could find. At the headquarters of Chairman Knox weapons and ammunition were found in nearly every room. The greatest find, however, was seven jute sacks each half filled with slugs about an inch in diameter and three-quarters of an inch thick.

BACK TO WORK.

LOS ANGELES, Cal., July 12.—The engineers of both the Santa Fe and Southern Pacific Railways decided last night to return to work in a body. This action will be followed by the conductors, brakemen, switchmen and firemen.

ST. LOUIS, Mo., July 12.—Every train departed on time last night. Workmen in the skilled trades go no further than sympathy.

PEORIA, Ill., July 12.—The strike here is over.

FARGO, N. D., July 12.—The engineers on this division of the Northern Pacific have reported for duty, and are at work. The conductors are at work.

RAWLINGS, Wyo., July 12.—The Union Pacific is breaking along the line.

CHICAGO, July 12.—The railroad situation in Chicago yesterday was improved and reports from the eastern and western connections indicate a general improvement along all the lines with the exception of the Lake Shore, which is badly tied up at Toledo and Cleveland. In the south-west the situation has changed and many of the strikers have returned.

LEAVING WORK.

LOUISVILLE, Ky., July 12.—The local branch of the A. R. U. at a meeting last night, voted to tie up the entire Louisville and Nashville system. The officers of the road do not think the attempt, if made, will cause much trouble.

FOSTERIA, Ohio, July 12.—The switchmen, firemen, engineers and brakemen operators on the Toledo and Ohio Railway went out on strike today, and freight traffic is now practically tied up. Passenger trains are allowed to run as usual.

SHEDDING BLOOD.

NEW YORK, July 12.—A Chicago special to the Herald says there were four murders in that city last night, all more or less attributed to the strike.

HAMMOND, Ind., July 12.—Two United States deputy marshals were killed last evening and a number wounded in a fight with rioters. Militia have been sent there.

CLEVELAND, Ohio, July 12.—As far as Cleveland is concerned the great railroad strike is at an end. All the striking employees of the Big Four Railroad returned to work this morning. The city yards of the Lake Shore are fairly well manned. The Erie was opened up fully yesterday. The Nickel Plate is handling everything in sight, and is running through trains to Chicago.

LONDON, THURSDAY, July 12.—The Pall Mall Gazette, in an article under the caption of "Dipsomania," says the men comprising the American Railway Union must be cursing the hour when they entrusted their liberty into the hands of Debs.

WRECKED A TRAIN.

SACRAMENTO, Cal., July 12.—Officials have issued the order with which the men were loosened from the track of the Southern Pacific, near Washington, Yolo county, causing the wrecking last evening of the train from the city for San Francisco, and the killing of the engineer and three privates of the regular army. The officers know the persons to whom the tools belong.

Nothing impure or injurious contaminates the popular antidote to pain, throat and lung remedy and general corrective, Dr. Thomas' Electric Oil. It may be used without the slightest apprehension of any other than salutary consequences. Coughs, rheumatism, earache, bruises, cuts and sores succumb to its action.
