The Fast Line.

The fast Atlantic steamship line continues to be a leading topic in Great Britain and Canada. There is a general agreement that a subsidized freight service is out of the question. Canadian senting an organized opposition. There is some justice in their claim that it would be unfair to existing freight lines to expose them to subsidized competition This branch may be left to supply and demand. If there is sufficient freight offering at Canadian ports there will be a sufficiency of steamers to handle it. The main thing is to cheapen transportation to the seaboard and improve the harbor facilities. The conditions surrounding a fast passenger service are different. There is no such enterprise at present, and it could not be created without a subsidy. It would be not so much a commercial as an imperial undertaking, and it would fit into a general scheme of naval defense. The opinion is almost unanimous that such a dine should make Sydney or Halifax its Canadian terminus, as the St. Lawrence is too precarious for high speed with an increasing share of the freight business, which will naturally gravitate to her, with the improvement of the harbor and the river channel.

Mr. Mulock's announcement that arrangements have been completed for a direct steamship service between Canada and South Africa will be hailed with pleasure by Canadian manufacturers. They have already arranged to send the first cargo in Oc-

Boarding the Street Cars.

If precautions are not taken, there will be a sad accident at Springbank one of these fine evenings. The present method of boarding the street cars at the park is highly dangerous. A rush is made for the cars before they have come to a standstill, and people on the edge of the platform are in danger of being thrust on the track by the pres- tin says: sure of the crowd behind. It is particularly risky for women and children, and they should not be obliged to compete in this wild scramble for seats. The platform should be fenced sufficient to fill each train of cars as it came along. It would require the employment of a couple of guards, and presumably this is the reason the change is not made. If the Company choose to look at it from a purely financial point of view, it might be cheaper to prevent loss of life than pay damages afterwards. In the jostle Thursday night a young woman was thrown between a motor and a trailer and escaped being ground by the wheels almost by a miracle. If a casualty should happen, it will not be for want of warning.

The city and the street railway company may as well fight it out in the affairs has more than justified courts. The city has had enough of sniping and guerilla warfare.

The police of Old London have taken a great dislike to the Canadian arch. This is the highest compliment the arch could be paid. The reason is that it attracts such crowds that the thoroughfare is continually blocked.

Lord Rosebery claims the election in Leeds as a victory for Liberal-Imperialism. It was also a protest against the corn tax. In this country some people think the Empire cannot hang together without a British corn tax. Is it possible Rosebery's imperialism is off color?

The tonnage of the British Lerchar tile marine in 1850 was 32,634,000; in of iron wired back, "I do not agree 1890 it was 208,707,000. British foreign trade in 1850 was £260,000,000; in 1890 it was £877,000,000. It is not to be wondered at if the British people are slightly prejudiced in favor of free trade and against ship subsidies.

The Czar is discouraged in his attempts to organize a trust conference. Great Britain will not join for fear of offending the United States. The United States has not been invited bethe Czar is anxious to combat. Germany is reluctant to become a party to 1t. because her industrial organization is built up on a system of cartels or combinations.

Commenting upon Lord Salisbury's retirement, the London Saturday Review says that in the Venezuelan affair "he averted a quarrel with the United States by patience, amounting in the opinion of some, of whom are we, to meekness. Who shall say, at this hour, whether it would not have heen well for us to crush the Americans for half a century, as we could easily have done?" This is the fool tournal that attacked Sir Wilfrid Laurier, much to the delight of his Canadian revilers.

The exports of the United States for the fiscal year ending June 30 showed decrease of $106,000,000, the imports en increase of $30,000,000. Such a showing in Great Britain would be interpreted by a certain school of economists as a sign of decay, but how to they explain it when the United States is perched on the pinnacle of prosperity? As a matter of fact, the less the United States become a debtor nation, the more its imports and exports will be equalized. But the silly theory that imports are a calamity dies hard.

The Standard Oil Company denies that it has combined with the Russian and Austrian oil interests in a world monopoly. Some idea of the colessal character of such a combine may be gained from the fact that over 5,000,-000,000 gallons of petroleum, according to the office of the United States geological survey, are now produced annually in the world. Of this amount 2,500,000,000 are produced in the United States, 2,250,000,000 in Russia, and the remainder is distributed among a dozen countries, Austria producing and British shipping interests are pre- 72,000,000, Java 30,000,000, Canada 29,-000,000 and Germany 15,000,000.

> Mr. Carnegie's gift to Mr. Morley of Lord Acton's library is a splendid tribute by wealth to genius. There is nothing eleemosynary about it, as Mr. Morley is one of the highest-paid men of letters, and is rich as authors go. Mr. Carnegie has also written some books, but they have probably not added to his fortune. The two men have much in common politically. Mr. Carnegie is a strong anti-Imperialist from an American point of view, and Mr. Morley might be described as little Englander, though he has a unique place in public esteem.

The Republicans of Iowa, under Governor Cummins, have come out boldly in favor of tariff reform. Their formal resolution, passed in convenboats. Montreal must be content to do tion, calls for "such a change in the tariff from time to time as may become advisable through the progress of our industries and their changing relations to the commerce of the world," and especially "any modification of the tariff schedules that may be required to prevent their affording shelter to monopoly." Iowa is one of the most representative Republican States in the Union. The feeling is growing among Republicans that their own party must revise the tariff or the Democrats will be called in to do it.

> The illness of Governor Ross of the Yukon, a native of this city, has directed public attention to his record, and has elicited many enthusiastic tributes to his ability and personal worth. In the Northwest his name stands high, and he has discharged his difficult duties in the Yukon with Ah, no! the living oak shall crash, eminent success. The Edmonton Bulle-

His cheerful spirit and pleasing manner made him a personal favor-Ite with all, while respect for himself and love of absolute fair play protected him from the weakness of too many good fellows in public life, advancing personal friends from personal rather than frem public motives. If the blow which has fallen so unexpectedly results in lessening Mr. Ross' future activity, the loss will not be his alone, but will be the loss of the country as well. There are too few such men as Mr. Ross in the public life of Canada today, for any of them, or any part of their activity, to be spared."

London, Aug. 2.—The Express cor-respondent at Dublin has telegraphed: The appointment of a successor to Lord Cadogan in the vice-royalty is awaited with the keenest interest throughout Ireland. Lord Pembroke, believed, has intimated that he would be obliged to decline the post if it were offered him, because of the enormous expenses which are insparable from the post. Lord Zetland is also mentioned as a possible successor to the lord-lieutenant, but, adds our correspondent, I am in a position to state that no appointment would be more popular than that of the Duke of Connaught, who is at present commander-in-chief in Ireland, and who has gained the friendship and good well of all classes of Irishmen. The possibility of the Duke of Connaught's succession was openly discussed in Dublin on Tuesday evening, and it is understood that means have been found to inform his majesty that if the appointment could be made it would be greeted throughout Ireland as an evidence of royal good will and onfidence. Will Cure You.

THIS APPEALS TO WEAK MEN.

HOW MANY MEN ARE SUFFERING MISERIES FOR THE WANT OF A SIMPLE REMEDY? They do not live; they simply exist. In the faces of thousands can be read the story of a wasted life and blighted hopes; joys and pleasures are unknown to them because their vitality is being sapped. Varicocele, wasting drains, have exhausted Nature's Electrical forces and left them wrecks upon the shores of life. Many have sought in drugs and patent remedies to relieve their mental and physical suffering. They are soothed for a day, or maybe a week, falsely braced up, until, the effects of the drug wearing off like the momentary bracing of whiskey, they sink still lower in vitality, and, with hope exhausted, lose confidence in themselves and their fellow-man and decide to abandon all efforts to recover their power, feeling that there is no help for them. Man, do not sacrifice yourself in this way. Do not endure this living death while Nature holds out to you relief in the form of Electricity—that vital element of which, by a life of dissipation, you have deprived yourself—tearing down faster than nature could rebuild. In this great restorative—Electricity—there is life and happiness for you. It restores power to the weak and indifferent; it builds up the weakened system, and by its vitalizing, stimulating cure it makes the blood jump through sluggish veins, increasing the circulation to every part, assisting Nature to carry off the impure matter which clogs up the wheels of life. If you are weak and sick don't depend on drugs any longer, but try
