WEBS AND ASSESSED TO THE PARTY OF THE PARTY

New York, April 29.—Now that it's all over and I'm able to be up and about and take nourishment, I'm glad that I boxed with Champion Jeffries. But I am free to admit that there were times during our three round go that I wished myself in Kamchatka and Jeffries somewhere further off and much worse off. It's no picnic to be sparring partner to the champion. The young man who holds down that job ertainly earns his money. The thing came about quite by accident. A member of the World staff, my duty was to witness the opening performance of "Davy Crockett" and Jim Jeffries and write about it for the Monster Pachyderms Smath Things next morning's paper. With a friend I went to the Bijou Theater in Jersey City. After the second act I asked him o come back and meet one of the finest fellows that ever stood on two feet.

We went back to the dressing-room, and met Jeffries. He was raging.

"I've given myself a smash on the knee." he said. "but that ain't half my troubles. Yank Kenny, my sparring partner, is lost somewhere between San Francisco and here, and Bull Kenor Oars Attempts Voyage.

London, April 29. - A 45-foot cruising yacht without funnel, without sails, and without oars, has left the Thames in an endeavor to reach the Shetland Isles without stopping. The ressel is the twelve-ton motor yacht Napier Major, owned by Edge, and driven by a petrol engine. It is the first time on record that a petrol motor yacht has attempted a voyage of this description.

From London to Lerwick, which is Isles, is a distance of 750 miles. The the universal participation in the was clearly accidental, the evidence all Napier Major is not a racing vessel, having been built simply as a pleasure yacht for cruising or fishing. She will not travel more than eight knots an at the winter palace, as in 1904, or at hour. At this speed she should reach Lerried to run 2,000 miles. It is a significant fact that the weight of the motor and fuel is about one-third of what it would be with steam driver machinery of the same power,
