President Brown of O. B. A. Orders West End and Dodgers To Play.

STIRRING BATTLE

Last Week's Big Crowd Went Wild Over Great Struggle Staged.

Mayor Brown of Stratford, president of the Onterio Basketball Association stated last night to the Advertiser over long-distance telephone that the second rlay-off between Windsor Dodges and West End "Y" of Toronto was definitely on for bonight at the local Y. M. C. A.

r Dodges have been reticent over their intentions, but a Dodge team official yesterday assured The Advertiser that their team would not default under any circumstances. West End Wired President Brown that they would te on hand.

Dominion's Best.

This brings the best basketball played in the whole of Canada right to the London fans door a second time, an opportunity London has gained through being a neutral city, and brought here only once in London basketball history by a local team. That was when the Garrison team played senior three years

The Dodges official announced yesterday that they would bring even more supporters this trip, and West End will also be bringing along a bunch of their lation's supporters. Never in the history of senior basketball in Canada has a second play-off been necessary to decide the title, evidence in itself of the Week Later Start Has Already equality of the two teams.

Local fans probably favor the Dodges to win, not alone because they are playing a Toronto team, which in itself is enough, but because they perhaps lean to the youthfulness of the border lads, who are probably one of the most youthful teams ever to play senior weather that's been served up in this latitude the last week has come just as good and very much cheaper than the brand sought by the majors and all the way down the line when they start the big trek southward in the early spring. The Advertiser camera man caught the Mackey squad yesterday just when they were running all out in every department, and with the new pilot figuring on some sort of hobble harness to keep his peppery squad in check and within reasonable limits. There had been some absentees from the day before just because they went too fast. Stimpson was an exception. He had been coing fast, but it wasn't speed that put him out of action and out of the pict He was looking at a high fungo when his neck suddenly "crick-ed," and he's been nulating a suburban visitor to New York just shortly after his return home to the rustic life. Red Ryan also is absent. He was going after the hot ones about a month too fast, and he twisted his ankle badly. Bedside pictures are tabouthese joyous spring days, so last year's memories of Red's short sojourn here ast week will have to suffice

The gentleman occupying the center of the spot is Lee Mackey, last year's premier catcher in the Mint, and new manager of the London team. He has been caught in the act of checking over the assorted wares of one of the new pitchers, and he looks as if he hadn't quite got them sorted out yet.

Down the Line In All Sports

Thistles were not given as good a test as might have been expected, considering that at the last moment Dr. (Cap) Stevens brought over the Detroit Women's Swimming Association's team, champions of the State of Michigan. It served to prove that the girls in the east of the U. S. play better basketball than there more westerly sisters, as it recalled the Shamrock-Chicago Uptown Brownies' game. However, the main thing was that in this case the receipts went to charity, so none of the fans had cause to feel that they hadn't got their money's worth. The game was a splendid example of sportsmanship. The Detroit girls made a hurried trip at little notice, and after a hard series to do their bit for another city's unfortunates; Thistles laid all plans aside to fulfil their promise. And if the united welfare didn't gain as much as it might have, nothing can be taken away from the efforts of the two teams. Last night's game will always be a bright spot on Thistles' record.

Brantford, for years a stronghold of baseball, has been handed rough treatment this year. First the town that boasts a dyke was ousted, or ousted themselves, from professional baseball, and now the Inter-County League comes along and shows them the door and tells them to shut it as they go out.

Arrangements are practically settled for a series of games next week between Thistles and Shamrocks. As soon as this is over, they can go on about the new city hall. Meantime, Thistles have gone up in the betting, and, as one amateur plunger put it last night, the odds will be about even when the first game is staged.
