ST. JAMES FACTION CHAMPIONS UNION

Members of Congregation Is Urged by Letter To Vote For United Church.

SEVEN REASONS

In accordance with instructions of the union committee, appointed by the session of New St. James' Presbyterian church, there has been for-warded to every member of the conregation a letter from members of ession on the church union ques-

The letter cordially indorses the scheme and "earnestly and affection-ately enjoins the members of the congregation as true Presbyterians to remain loyal to their church, the Presbyterian church in Canada, and

The elders point out "that having been chosen by the members of the congregation to advise with them in difficulties." difficulties they possess the full right, in common with the minister, to render that service."

The following seven reasons are given in the communication as to why the members of the congrega-tion of New St. James' should vote to go into the United church of Can-ada: "Basis of union—The basis of union is Scriptural and evangelical (See page 21, the union bill, schedule

Seven Reasons.

"The polity and government of the United church: (a) Congregations already existing shall retain their present organization unchanged, except in the control of the contro cept in so far as they themselves may wish to change it. (See page 27. A, charges existing previous to union). (b) The polity and government of congregations of the United church, which shall be formed after union, is essentially Presbyterian. The congregation shall be governed by elders chosen by the people and ordained as at present. (See page 28, B. charges to be formed subsequent to union).

they are ready to accept it as a member of the alliance. The alliance is the highest existing authority on this question.

"The higher courts are Presbyterian—The higher courts of the United church shall be the presbytery, conference and the general council, which correspond (except for a few advantageous changes) with the presbytery synod and the general duration, unless either minister or congregation shall apply to the set-tlement committee of the conference for a change. (See page 32, the min-istry, and especially page 33, 7 (c).) "Education and examination of ministers—Special supervision shall be given to the selection and educabe given to the selection and educabe given to the selection and education of young men for the ministry of the United church, so as to insure efficient scholarship, combined with sound doctrine and high personal qualities.
