A HYAN INDIAN DROWNED.
n tow of the tug Lottie, and with flag half-mast, the schooner Pachowlee eered the harbor last evening, bearing mortal remains of Chief S'w'w'ish, of the most influential Indians of West Coast tribes.

The Chief fell a victim to the not unmon Indian falling, a fondness for the loss of the pale-face, and, having imbibed more than he could safely, fell overboard from his schooner the Fraser river, and drowned before could be rescued.
Amongst the members of the tribe, o are encamped on the Songhees reservation, there is weeping and wailing for the loss of their chief, the dusky eyes and their squaws refusing to be comforted because he is not. Shewsh was a direct descendant of the mat tribe who, before the encroachment of the white people, ruled the water portion of the island, and his tribe will probably succeed him as

PORTLAND ARRIVED.

Long Looked for Steamer From St. Michael's Reached Seattle This Morning.

She Has Aboard Two Hundred Thousand Dollars in Gold From Klondyke.

From Ten to Twenty Millions the Estimate of the Season's Output.

(Special to the Colonist.)
SEATTLE, Aug. 29 (3 a.m.)—The steamer Portland, from St. Michael's, arrived inside the Straits of Fuca at 12:30 o'clock yesterday afternoon, and was met by several tugs with newspaper correspondents, who boarded her, obtained the latest news from the Klondyke, and started at once for Seattle, arriving here at 2 o'clock a.m., some three hours ahead of the Portland.

The Portland had a passenger list of twenty-seven, including, however, but thirteen miners from the Yukon. She brought down but a small amount of treasure—only some $200,000 worth. Her passenger list was extremely light on account of failure of the Portus B. Weare, one of the boats of the North American Transportation and Trading Company, to return on schedule time. When the Portland left, the Weare was sixteen days overdue, and it was believed at St. Michael's that her engines had given out, as they were in very bad shape when she left on her last trip up the river.

The returning Klondyke miners are: J. Rowan, Tim Bell, Joe Goldsmith, W. W. Powers, W. W. Caldwell, William Oler, K. Zilly, F. W. Cobb, W. Zahn, A. Buckley, G. S. Lansing, B. Farham, M. B. Gowler. All of these men are claim-owners, and each of them had made a comfortable stake from his claim already, and has very much more in prospect, or looked out at heavy interest in the new gold fields.

Each one of these men tells the same story as to the manner in which they discovered their claims, and their estimate of the amount to be produced during the season varies from $10,000,000 to $20,000,000. Every one of them, without exception, deprecates in the most vigorous terms the present rush to the Klondyke. According to the most liberal estimate not to exceed $100,000,000 in provisions can be carried up by any possibility by the river this season, and every single pound of this has been engaged and paid for by the old miners in advance of its arrival. There will be starvation by the wholesale on the Klondyke this winter if a very small fraction of those on the way succeed in getting in.

They are perfectly agitated at the numbers whom they met at St. Michael's waiting to go up the river. They say those going in without provisions are facing almost certain death.

The companies are now doing their best to get in provisions, but so far have failed to reach Dawson with enough to cover those already on the ground. Considerable feeling is however expressed over the fact that the Alaska Commercial Company, in the early summer sent up one steamer towing a barge, the car-

AFRIDS DRIVEN BACK.

The Tribesmen Descended From the Hills and Burned the Village of Ublan.

General Biggs, However, After Sharp Fighting, Defeated Them With Heavy Loss.

LONDON, Aug. 27.—A special from Simla says that the Daulat tribe of Afridis, near Kohat, descended from the hills in strong force during Thursday night and attacked and captured the village of Ublan, setting fire to the buildings, nearly all of which were burned. General Biggs, commanding the forces at Kohat, having heard of the Afridis had prepared a force and went out on Friday morning and attacked the enemy. After sharp fighting the Afridis was driven back to the hills with heavy losses. The British lost consisted of one sepoy killed and a native officer and two sepoy wounded.

The Daily Graphic to-day publishes an interview with General Sir Robt. Lowe, who commanded the Chitral relief expedition in 1895, in which General Lowe is quoted as saying: "We have enough troops there to restore order and recapture Khyber very quickly, but it would be unwise to move for three weeks yet if it can be helped, until the climate is healthier and transportation arrangements can be made."
"There will probably be serious fighting, but the Afridis must be cowed and Ublan must be occupied and a good military road made to that place. It is not worth while to garrison the Khyber Pass with our own troops."

BOMBAY, Aug. 27.—In the second letter sent by the Indian government to the Amir of Afghanistan with reference to the complexity of Afghan subjects in the outbreak of Indian tribes on the frontier the government requests that specific answers will be given to certain specifications and that generalities be avoided.

CARRIED OFF A BABY.
A Mountain Lion Carried Off a Baby.

CASPER, Wyo., Aug. 28.—A two-year-old child was carried away by a mountain lion on Casper mountain Thursday morning. A fruitless search has been made by herders of flocks and miners day and night to find the baby. The little one is an orphan whose mother died last year and whose father had put in the keeping of a family by the name of Henderson, who herd sheep near Casper, at the head of the canyon. At daylight, Thursday, Henderson followed his flock, leaving the orphan child sleeping in camp. When he returned at 3 o'clock for breakfast the woman was still asleep and the baby gone. It had awakened and died off in its night-dress. A search was at once made for the little one, and its bare feet tracks were found leading to a spring nearly a mile away. Near the spring were found also fresh tracks of a huge mountain lion. No other trace of the baby has been found.

LAURIER AT QUEBEC.
He Meets With a Hearty Reception on His Return From the Jubilee.

QUEBEC, Aug. 28.—Sir Wilfrid Laurier and Lady were given a hearty reception on landing here to-day. They were driven up to the Hotel Frontenac, receiving an enthusiastic welcome from crowds which lined the streets and every point of vantage. The after proceedings consisted of the presentation of an address to Laurier by the Mayor, and an address presented to Lady Laurier together with a handsome piano from ladies of Quebec.

BEHRING SEA COMMISSION.
Mr. Peters Not Yet Finished His Argument.

HALIFAX, Aug. 28.—Hon. F. Peters resumed his argument for the British side before the Behring Sea commission this morning. He continued to discuss the question of compensation to sealers whose vessels were seized, and cited authorities in support of his contention that compensation could be recovered for the loss of the prospective catch. He contended that in the question affecting two great nations, damages should be assessed with a liberal hand.

FRANCE AND RUSSIAN.
An Alliance Reported Formed Between the Two Countries.

LONDON, Aug. 27.—A dispatch to the Daily News from St. Petersburg says it is learned from a high official source that an alliance has been formed between France and Russia.

PARIS, Aug. 27.—All the daily papers have editorials commenting on the importance of the announcement of the Franco-Russian alliance. The news arrived in Paris too late to cause much comment in the evening papers. Special editions were eagerly bought up, however, and the greatest enthusiasm prevailed on the boulevards.
