

SING A SONG OF CHRISTMAS-TIME.

Sing a song of Christmas-time,
 Mistletoe and holly,
 Two impatient little girls,
 Genevieve and Dolly.
 When the door was opened
 They shouted in their glee,
 And wouldn't you have shouted too
 To have so fine a tree?

CHRISTMAS.

There is no part of the world in which Christmas is not kept. Even in pagan lands are found some Christians who do not forget when the day comes which celebrates the birth of Christ. Though doubtless everywhere there are those who see in it only a day for feasting and merry-making, yet many others in the midst of the feasting remember what the day means and thank God for the heaven-sent Babe and for the angels' song. Let every heart unite in the chorus of "Glory to God in the highest."
