with five or six times their bulk of soil and suffered to remain a few months. In this way the decomposition of the putrescent substances will impregnate the soil with matter, which though nauscous and pestilential to animals is food for vegetables.

It will be well to mix the soil with which such carenses are covered with about one part of quick lime to live or six parts of earth; and at the time of its removal also to mix a little more quick hime with it to prevent the disagreeable effluria which may arise without such precaution .- N. . BEET Sugar -The rapid increase of the culture of beets and the manufacture of sugar therefrom, in France, ought to excite more inquiry in relation to the business than it does.

It seems by an article in the N. Y. Ev. Post (published last week) that the beet sugar has nearly driven out of France the colonial sugar -that from 58 manufactories in 1828 they have increased to 400 in 1835—and from five and a half millions of kilograms sugar, to thirty-five millions, in the same time. These facts come from the French numster, who says that he last 17 millions of fr. (more than 5 1-4 million dollars) revenue in 1835 by the diminution of Imported Sugar, and proposes n tax on heet sugar, (to make good the deficiency,) of 7 1-2 francs, (about a dollar and 41 cents upon every 100 pounds. Beets require a deep mellow soil, through which the roots can penetrate with little obstruction.
