WHAT OUR FRIENDS SAY OF US.

"I shall keep your wishes to write for THE YOUNG CANADIAN in mind, in case I can meet them in future."
LORNE, Osborne.

"I have ordered my bookseller in London to procure and forward to me early copies of your YOUNG CANADIAN."
DUFFERIN AND AVA, British Embassy, Rome.

From Lady MACDONALD.—"I will most gladly write some day. . . . Please send me two copies."

"I heartily wish success to your journal. May it fulfil your desire by helping the Canadian people to solve the problem of their destiny, which you truly say is now practically before them."
GOLDWIN SMITH.

From Lieut. STAIRS, R.E., of the Stanley Expedition.—"My sincere well-wishes."

"My subscription to THE YOUNG CANADIAN, which I wish every success."
W. C. VAN HORNE, Pres. Can. Pac. Railway.

From Sir CHARLES TUPPER, Canadian High Commissioner in England.—"I take this opportunity of wishing you every success."

From Sir DANIEL WILSON, University College.—"I heartily wish you success in your undertaking."

"Personally I am glad to help an enterprise which I hope may be able to do good work in the interests of our country. . . . It will be most pleasing to me if in any way I can aid the laudable object."
DONALD A. SMITH.

"I shall read it with great interest, and follow its fortunes with good wishes."
EDWARD BLAKE.

"The proposed Magazine is one of excellent promise. . . . Well calculated to accomplish great results in the Dominion. . . . My warmest sympathy and approval."
SANDFORD FLEMING.

"Wishing you every success."
WILFRID LAURIER.

"I am intensely interested in your YOUNG CANADIAN. I wish it all possible success. I shall do my utmost. . . . I shall spare no effort to further your success."
CHARLES G. D. ROBERTS.

"I heartily trust that your venture will prove in every way a success."
GEORGE ILES, 330 Pearl Street, New York.

"I hope the enterprise will be successful, and I know it will do good."
E. FARRER, "The Globe."

"What a splendid idea! I have often wondered why some one did not start just such a national nursery of Patriotism. Put me down as a subscriber and a voluntary canvasser."
W. GEO. BEERS.

"It is highly creditable so far as programme, paper, printing, and engraving are concerned."
J. M. LEMOINE, F.R.S.C., Quebec.

"Please send the paper to my Department."
HONORÉ MERCIER, Premier Ministre, Quebec.

"I am instructed to ask you to put on your list of subscribers to THE YOUNG CANADIAN, the Department of Public Works, Ottawa."
A. GOBEL, Secy.

"I am sure THE YOUNG CANADIAN will be warmly welcomed. Such a Magazine has long been needed. Ten thousand welcomes."
T. J. ALLEN, Detroit.

"Wishing you good luck. . . . You may expect something from me."
J. G. BOLRINOT, C.M.G., LL.D., D.C.L., F.R.S.C., House of Commons.

"There is certainly need for such a vehicle of thought."
GEORGE BRYCE, M.A., LL.D., Winnipeg.

"You have my cordial sympathy in your purpose of rousing Canada to pass from her unworthy state of tutelage to assume the rights and obligations and attain the natural development of a full and national life."
F. BLAKE CROFTON, Cor. Sec. Hist. Soc. of Nova Scotia.

"An appeal through the eye and the ear will not be long in conveying its message to the thousands of busy enquiring brains all over the land."
JOHN HUGH ROSS, Montreal.

"If you can keep the Art side of THE YOUNG CANADIAN nearly up to what you show in your prospectus, it will be a strong point for you, not alone in Canada, but beyond the border. All the Art attempts by Canadian Publications—except some of the Xmas numbers—have been wretched failures. I don't see why Montreal should not be a great distributing point for a first-class Magazine."

"How glad Canadians ought to be that you have promised to make yours of such a quality. I believe the Y—C— is on the right road. It has a different note, a different everything. I wish you and the Y—C— every good luck."
EDMUND COLLINS.

"I lament the necessity of finding a publisher for the greater part of my literary work outside my own country, and I accordingly hail with peculiar pleasure the opportunity you will afford me of speaking first to my own people."
J. MACDONALD OXLEY.

"A work so much required in this country."
ROBERT BELL, B.A.Sc., M.D., LL.D., Ottawa.

"I am much interested in the plan and purpose of THE YOUNG CANADIAN."
N. F. DAVIN, N.P., Regina.

"This new venture commands my warm sympathy. . . . I shall be most happy to aid your enterprise in any way."
AGNES MAULE MACHAR.

"I hope it will be warmly welcomed by Young and Old Canadians."
ETHÉLWYN WETHERALD.

"THE WEEK has been very good to your project. I, too, wish it all success."
SERANUS.

"To assist you in any way possible will be a labour of love to me. I have had the idea of such a paper as THE YOUNG CANADIAN for several years, but have never been in a position to move towards its realization. From this you may know what pleasure your announcement gave me."
J. A. LEIGHTON, Trin. Coll., Toronto.

". . . Your laudable literary enterprise. . . . The time surely has come for the successful launching of such an undertaking."
G. MERCER ADAM.

"I am quite charmed with the idea of your Magazine. To build up a sentiment of Patriotism and noble aspirations in the young is a thing very much required in our new and busy country."
A. SCHULTZ, Government House, Winnipeg.

"Having seen a part of your paper, and wishing to subscribe for one of this kind, I would like you to send me a sample or two."
G. P. MONAGHAN, Halifax.

"I accidentally stumbled on a copy, . . . and being a Young Canadian myself, immediately became deeply interested."
P. MCARTHUR, New York.
