

The three series — Stories of Here and There, Stories of Then and Now, Stories of How and Why — are particularly interesting, especially the second from which we would call to your attention Nos. 14 and 15, also a particularly interesting number is No. 17 of Stories of Here and There. These three instances just brought to your notice cover the Empire in government, history and commerce in short and simply told, and easily comprehended, little books.

Each of the nine Prime Ministers of the provinces of the Dominion contributes to "The Canadian Magazine" for July, an article on some phase of Confederation. Sir William Hearst deals with Ontario, Sir Lomer Gouin with Quebec, Hon. T. C. Norris with Manitoba, Hon. H. C. Brewster with British Columbia, Hon. W. M. Martin with Saskatchewan, Hon. A. L. Sifton with Alberta, Hon. G. H. Murray with Nova Scotia, Hon. W. E. Foster with New Brunswick, Hon. J. A. Mathieson with Prince Edward Island. The number is an excellent souvenir of the Confederation jubilee, with articles as well by M. O. Hammond on "The Fight for Confederation," by Dr. A. H. U. Colquhoun on "Our Eight Prime Ministers," and William Lewis Edmonds on "Our Governors-Generals since Confederation."

Russell H. Conwell (publishers, Harper & Bros., New York), whose new book, "What You Can do with Your Will Power" was published this season, makes it one of his great pleasures in life to help boys through college. Of all whom he has thus aided he cannot, he says, think of a single one who has failed for any other reason than ill-health. "But of course," he continues, "I have never helped any one who was not first helping himself. As soon as a man determines the goal toward which he is marching, he is in a strategic position to see and seize everything that will contribute toward that end. Whenever a young man tells me that if he 'had his way' he would be a lawyer, or an engineer, or what not, I always reply: 'You can be what you will, provided that it is something the world will be demanding ten years hence.' This brings to my mind a certain stipulation which the ambition of youth must recognize. You must invest yourself or your money in a known demand."

THE ROYAL MILITARY COLLEGE OF CANADA.

There are few national institutions of more value and interest to the country than the Royal Military College of Canada. Notwithstanding this, its object and the work it is accomplishing are not sufficiently understood by the general public.

The College is a Government Institution, designed primarily for the purpose of giving instruction in all branches of military science to Cadets and Officers of the Canadian Militia. In fact it corresponds to Woolwich and Sandhurst.

The Commandment and military instructors are all officers on the active list of the Imperial army, lent for the purpose, and there is in addition a complete staff of professors for the civil subjects which form such an important part of the College course. Medical attendance is also provided.

Whilst the College is organized on a strictly military basis the cadets receive a practical and scientific training in subjects essential to a sound modern education.

The course includes a thorough grounding in Mathematics, Civil Engineering, Surveying, Physics, Chemistry, French and English.

The strict discipline maintained at the College is one of the most valuable features of the course, and in addition, the constant practice of gymnastics, drills and outdoor exercises of all kinds, ensures health and excellent physical condition.

Commissions in all branches of the Imperial service and Canadian Permanent Force are offered annually.

The diploma of graduation is considered by the authorities conducting the examination for Dominion Land Surveyor to be equivalent to a university degree, and by the Regulations of the Law Society of Ontario it obtains the same exemptions as a B.A. degree.

The length of the course is three years in three terms of 9½ months each.

The total cost of the course including board, uniform, instructional material and all extras is about $800.

The annual competitive examination for admission to the College takes place in May of each year, at the headquarters of the several military districts.

For full particulars regarding this examination and for any other information, application should be made to the Secretary of the Militia Council, Ottawa, Ont., or to the Commandment, Royal Military College, Kingston, Ont.
