*UNITED STATES VISA LAW

Mr. BRUCE:

In view of the action of the United States government in requiring passports and visas from Canadians and others visiting the United States, will the Canadian government take immediate action along similar lines to protect Canada against danger of the entry into Canada of German or nazi agents?

Mr. MACKENZIE KING: This question relates to a matter of government policy, which will be made known in due course. However, I might say to the hon. member that the whole matter of passport and visa requirements as between the United States and Canada and as between Canada and the United States is one which at the moment is being considered by the two countries through their respective legations.
