

with transferred to and ordered for consideration under government orders in the same or at the next sitting of the House.

22. (1) In cases in which the Senate disagree to any amendments made by the House of Commons, or to which the House of Commons has disagreed, the House of Commons is willing to receive the reasons of the Senate for their disagreeing or insisting (as the case may be) by message, without a conference, unless at any time the Senate should desire to communicate the same at a conference.

When Senate and House disagree.

(2) Any conference between the two Houses may be a free conference.

Conference.

(3) When the House requests a conference with the Senate, the reasons to be given by this House at the same shall be prepared and agreed to by the House before a message be sent therewith.

23. A Clerk of this House may be the bearer of messages from this House to the Senate, and messages from the Messages to and from the Senate.