

forget him. I knew him very intimately, and always regarded him with a great deal of affection. This regard was mutual.

Cameron's second wife is still living, and in excellent health. She resides in Chicago and is now 73 years of age. She is a daughter of Col. John R. Woods, who, at one time, was a wealthy man. Like

THE HONORABLE G. A. WALKEM.

Cameron, he had some bad speculative investments, and is now much reduced in circumstances. I might say that Judge Brew died in Cariboo, and was not killed in the Chilcote country.

I have now finished this long, long story, but I could have made
