BRITAIN'S LAND MONOPOLY. Mr. Andrew Carnegie has been credited with the belief that the United Kingdom is destined to become the playground of the English-speaking peoples, who regard it as their motherland. In one sense the forecast may be taken as of appreciative intent, but in other senses, and these of weightier character, the descent of the old country to the level of a pleasure island for the idle rich that come from oversea, would furnish only matter for regret. Certainly it carries no appeal to those who know British history and how the industries of the country have been created and are maintained. They want to see the resurrection of the sturdy yeoman, the patient, industrious, God-loving and good living husbandman, who in days gone by were the backbone of the nation, and still would be were they given holdings

TO CONSIDER CHANGES IN CITY BUILDING LAWS

Influential Deputation of Business Men Urge That Money is Being Wasted.

With a wordy and detailed list of proposed revisions of the city archi-tect's building bylaws, a committee composed of representatives or the Canadian Manufacturers' Association, the board of frade, the Engineers' Association, and local architects, presented themselves to the civic fire and light committee yesterday afternoon.
The contents of their paper had been made public before, and the same ground was pretty well covered by the speakers yesterday. As a proof of their arguments, a letter from the E. W. Gillette Co. to the civic committee, was read, in which the manufacturers stated that, owing to the stringency and expense-involving capacities of the present bylaws, they would be unable to extend their plant here, as intended, but would have to move outside the city unless certain changes were made. C. R. Young, secretary of the com-mittee, and of the Engineers' Association, said the committee didn't want the laws changed so that cheap and flimsy construction could be used, and referred to some insinuations to that effect. He said the bylaw was lax with reference to re-enforced concrete work, and in the provisions for cement work, fireproof shutters and other de-

WHAT CAN I DO FOR MY SKIN-TORTURED BABY?

Is the Despairing Cry of Thousands of Mothers. A Scotchwoman Tells How Her Child was Cured.

"What can I do for my skin-tortured baby?" How many worried, worn-out mothers, whose children are suffering with eczema, tetter or other torturing, disfiguring humor, have asked themselves this question! Through neglect or improper treatment, some minor eruption has developed into a distressing and unsightly affliction. Simple treatments fail, and stronger ones are tried, sometimes so harsh that the suffering is increased rather than allayed. Even professional aid has proven useless, and the fear is ever-present that the skin disease will be ome chronic, turning the child'a future into a nightmare of physical and mental misery.

Such mothers, who have witnessed their children's suffering and who have undergone the long, sleepless nights and distracting anxiety which they alone can realize, will understand the gratitude that prempted this letter from Mrs John Ewan, 5, Victoria St., Inverurie, Scotland, and will read it with keenest interest:

keenest interest:

"I use Cuticura Soap steadily for my baby's skin. She had the eczema when she was three months old. She was in an awful mess all over her body. We never thought she would get over it. We sat with her night and day for about a month, expecting every minute to see her die. The doctor gave me an ointment to rub her with but it did her no good. My mother was home from America and she told me to try Cuticura Ointment and to wash her with Cuticura Soap. There was a great difference when I used the first box. It seemed to soothe her and she slept. I used three boxes of Cuticura Ointment and she was quite cured. She has the purett skin and is the fattest baby now! She is a miracle, the doctor declares. I am glad to tell anybody about it."

And that the success of the Cuticura

the doctor declares. I am glad to tell anybody about it."

And that the success of the Cuticura Remedies is not confined to the treafment of eczema, is amply proven by Mrs. M. A. Schwerin, 674 Springwells Ave., Detroit, Mich., who writes:

"When my little Vivian was about six months old, her papa had a boil on his forehead. At that time the child was covered with prickly heat and I suppose in scratching it her own head became infected, for it broke out in boils, one after another. She had about sixty in all and I used Cuticura Soap and Cuticura Ointment which cured her of them entirely. We do not think any one can praise Cuticura Remedies too highly."

That mothers may test the efficacy and economy of the Cuticura Remedies for themselves, the Potter Drug and Chem. Corp., 121 Columbus Ave., Boston, Mass., will send free on application, a generous trial box of Cuticura Ointment, sufficient to afford immediate relief in the most distressing forms of eczemas, rashes, itchings and scalings of the skin and scalp. Under the influence of Cuticura Ointment, the itching and burning stop, the child falls into a refreshing sleep, the mother rests, and for the first time, perhaps, in many weeks, peace falls on a distracted household. The Cuticura Remedies are sold by druggists sverywhere.

The horses have been named for the two good stake events, and it looks as if every horse ramed will face the starter. The stake for the 2.30 trotters has a great list of horses, many of them having raced against each other during last iall, and also the past winter, and some of our local horses have in fact. All of them are getting a very careful preparation. There are a number from outside points whose history has preceded them, and should weather conditions be satisfactory it is predicted that the record for trotters over the Dufferin track will receive a severe bump. For the pacing stake the above names show a very classy lot of side-wheelers. It would be almost impossible to pick a winner for the first heat. The local horses have all been carefully looked after and are in good shape right now, some fast work outs the past week as well as some extra fast quarters at the end of a mile, and no doubt those coming from a distance have been looked after just as carefully and the result should be some extra good racing.
