Major Weston Did Good Work and 3000 Men Coming South

Montagu White's Fool Threat of Sacrificing Johannesburg Is Not Taken Seriously—There is Nothing to Be Feared Now.

London, March 15.—(5 a.m.)—Events are moving in the South African campaign in a speedy and satisfactory manner, from both the military and political points of view. It could hardly have been expected by the most sanguine that they would take a turn so favorable.

Major Weston's Good Work.
The report when Major Weston cut the railway north of Bloemfontein for the first time, was the signal for the British to move forward. It is estimated that Mr. Weston's operations were of a high order. The evidence goes to show that, so far as the southern part of the Free State is concerned, there would be no further resistance.

Montagu White's Fool Threat.
Mr. Montagu White's threat, in an American newspaper, that the Boers will sacrifice Johannesburg and raise it to the ground, is not taken very seriously. Mr. Chamberlain's statement that President Kruger has already been warned as to the consequences of such conduct is regarded as showing that sufficient precaution has been taken.

A MESSAGE FROM LORD ROBERTS.
Gen. Pole Carey, with 2000 men, left Bloemfontein to join with the main force. He has received the following from Lord Roberts: "Bloemfontein, Thursday, March 15.—(5.45 p.m.)—Gen. Carey crossed the Orange River and occupied Beethune this morning. Gen. Pole Carey, with 2000 men, left Bloemfontein to join with the main force. He has received the following from Lord Roberts: "Bloemfontein, Thursday, March 15.—(5.45 p.m.)—Gen. Carey crossed the Orange River and occupied Beethune this morning. Gen. Pole Carey, with 2000 men, left Bloemfontein to join with the main force. He has received the following from Lord Roberts: "Bloemfontein, Thursday, March 15.—(5.45 p.m.)—Gen. Carey crossed the Orange River and occupied Beethune this morning."

SURRENDER OF BLOEMFONTEIN.
Fuller Details as to How the Peaceful Occupation was Without a Fight—The Entry in State.
Bloemfontein, Tuesday, March 13.—Lord Roberts entered the Free State capital to-day practically unopposed. He lay at Venters' Vlei, 14 miles away, last night, with Gen. Kelly-Kenny's and Colville's divisions, the Guards' Brigade and the Mounted Infantry.

French Cut the Railway.
Gen. French, having cut the railway and the telegraphs, experienced a slight skirmish with some Boers holding the kopjes southwest of the town. Early in the morning the cavalry brigade moved forward and occupied, slowly, several kopjes which commanded the Boers. A few well-placed shots from the Boers drove the French off the kopjes. Gen. French then sent out scouts to their way toward the town, intercepting the communications of the Boers. The Boers, who were gathered in the vicinity of the railway, with one other, galloped forward and entered the town, which was an every-day aspect.

People Were Out Shopping.
The people were out shopping or for morning walks, and at first the newspapers were regarded as trustworthy. When, later, it became known that they were the forerunners of the British army, they were treated cordially and conducted to a club, where they met Mr. Fraser, the Executive Council of the Mayor and other officials. These they persuaded to take cartridges and to meet Lord Roberts.

British Were Closing In.
As the party drove out of the city the British cavalry were closing round a large net. The deputation soon arrived at the railway station.

PEACE NEGOTIATIONS.

Om Paul: I must want a little trim. John Bull: I'm sorry, Uncle, but I think a close shave will look better.

HERE'S A FINE EXAMPLE OF HOW BRITAIN SAYS "NO"!
When the United States, at the Request of the Boer Republics, Approaches England for the Purpose of Intervening in the War.

Washington, March 15.—In response to the Senate of the United States, the British Government has refused to intervene in the war between the Boer Republics and the Transvaal.

The Sad Death of Mr. John Emmons of Rat Portage was followed by that of his wife. Mr. Emmons was a prominent citizen of Rat Portage, and his death was a great loss to the community.

APPROVED BY LONDON PRESS.
The newspapers of all shades are in accord with the British Government's policy of non-intervention in the South African war.

ADVANCE SPRING STYLES AT DIANECA.
Imported novelties in men's spring dress suits are not likely to be in great demand until Easter, or after, as the weather is still so uncertain.

A REPUTATION WORTH MILLIONS.
The Daily News says that the United States in the quarrel with Spain, an attitude respected by us in a manner which has been gratefully acknowledged by Gen. Buller in the North African campaign.

A SIGNIFICANT COMPROMISE.
The Daily Chronicle says: "If Lord Salisbury's answer should prejudice Mr. McKinnley's electioneering prospects, the latter

SPY AND DISSONANCE AND A LOYALTY CRY

This Seems to Be the Game Which the Laurier Government Will Work on the Canadian People.

Sir Wilfrid Was Forced Into Sending the Contingents—Now He Takes All the Glory—"Preferential Trade" Sprung on the House.

Ottawa, March 15.—(Special.)—Sir Wilfrid Laurier is a lucky man. He was forced into sending the contingents by the strenuous demand of the people, and he takes all the glory accruing from his dictatorial conduct. He made a speech on Tuesday night that was heralded as the top-notch of patriotism. Opportunistic, even, he takes the acclimation of the world for Canada's loyalty as his own particular due.
