POOR DOCUMENT

Plaid Dress Goods at 29c. a Yd.

This is without doubt a most unusual offering when these materials are so stylish and in such demand. We are showing a large variety of patterns in these dress materials. They have been purchased at a special price, and are well worth 50c. a yard. They are 40 inches wide, and made from good pure materials.

PLAIDS with a silk overcheck at 55c. a yard. Neat and very effective colorings.

ALL WOOL TARTAN XXX PLAIDS AT 75c. A YARD. 44 inches wide,—a thoroughly dependable material and very stylish.

56-INCH HABIT CLOTHS in navy blue and black. A special offering of these worthy materials which are already shrunken and will not spot. 50c. and 75c. a yard. They are smooth finish, and suitable for suits, separate skirts or coats.

FRENCH WOOL WAISTINGS AT 39c. A YARD. They are the regular 55c. quality. We just have a small quantity of them, not over three hundred yards, and as the price is so low for these dainty silk-woven spot waistings, they will go quickly.

ARE RESTRAINING THE SPECULATIVE ELEMENT

Review of Conditions on the New York Stock Market---Developments that Had a Bearing Upon Sentiment Last Week.

(New York Commercial, Saturday).

Throughout the week it has been increasingly evident that the interests in control of the market are keeping a heavy hand of restraint upon the professional speculative contingent. Mr. Stillman's alleged intimation that there would be no stringency worth worrying about in the money market provided the mob did not go mad in the stock market, reflected the mood of the strongest factor in the group that organized the bull movement now temporarily halted. From day to day the general list has shown irregularity—the week's experience being one of see-saw; and the rise of many securities yesterday was of no more importance in the broad field of values than the decline of many the day before. Traders have been waiting for definite knowledge as to gold imports and for a readjustment of the monetary conditions which led last week to a deep invasion of the "legal reserves" and to a call loan rate of 40 per cent. Yesterday the needed information was at hand. It became known that considerably more than $20,000,000 had been secured in foreign centres and that since the beginning of the week the sub-treasury had paid over to national banks, under the "facilitation order" more than $19,675,000. As the activity of American importing bankers showed no marked abatement, the trading community felt justified in assuming that further engagements would be made, especially as nearly $2,000,000 is expected to reach London next Monday from South Africa. The bank statement will not reflect, perhaps, some of the gold secured last week on the theory that the facilitation order would extend to yellow metal taken on Thursday and Friday of that week; and it will not show engagements made yesterday, when approximately $2,000,000 was pre-empted. But, barring a disagreeable surprise in the loan account, it should show a small surplus.

On Wednesday the market had a short-lived stimulus in a report that the Bank of France would release in a day or so a large sum of gold to the New York importers. The amount was said to be $15,000,000. Had this proved to be true, the effect upon speculation here would have been highly exciting, both as a relief and as a precedent; but it was a figment of the imagination. The most important result of the canard was alarm on the Paris Bourse, to reassure which the managers of the Bank of France yesterday posted a bulletin branding the rumor as false and going so far as to say that the bank had on every occasion refused "absolutely" to allow gold to leave for "that destination"—presumably the Wall street speculative arena. Between the first report and the denial there was a suggestion that, though the original story was grossly improbable, the French institution would perhaps be willing to help London if the Bank of England's exigencies were likely to become acute in consequence of American importunity; and the Paris semi-official statement showed that this theory had some foundation, inasmuch as the Bank of France would be willing possibly to export gold to London provided the rate of exchange became 25.20 and "Egyptian requirements became pressing." They do not speculate in stocks in Egypt, though the "Banks of the Nile" are of very ancient foundation. The insinuation at the expense of Wall street is unmistakable; but there is some consolation for the American trader in the thought that any French gold sent to London for "Egyptian requirements" will help to restore London to a position enabling her to accommodate New York. As a matter of fact Paris exchange on London fell yesterday to 25.18 1-2. Nothing was ascertained as to the "Egyptian requirements."

Among important developments bearing directly upon market sentiment during the week have been the Cuban insurrection, the continuing advance in the price of copper metal, the reports of the government as to the encouraging conditions of corn, spring wheat and cotton, the announcement that the Western Union Telegraph Co.'s directors had decided to invite the stockholders to authorize at the meeting on October 10 a 4 per cent. redeemable gold issue of $25,000,000, of which $10,000,000 would be employed immediately for buying lines, extensions and other construction purposes, the failure of the Otis Elevator directors to place the common stock upon a 3 1-2 per cent. dividend basis, in accordance with the publicly expressed wish of the presidient of the company, the purchase of the Virginia & Southernwestern Railway by the Southern Railway Company, and the advance of the discount rate of the Bank of England from 3 1-2 per cent. to 4.

THE PRICES OF STAPLES ARE AT THEIR HIGHEST

Interesting Tabulated Statement by Bradstreet's Relative to the High Price of Many Articles--Fluctuations for Fourteen Years.

(Bradstreet's).

Seasoned conditions, pressure of new crop movement and good reports from some crops yet to be harvested make for weakness in agricultural staples, but insistent active demand for a large variety of crude, partially manufactured and finished products has brought about another advance in prices upon which the highest level of values was reached on Sept. 1. Meats, dairy products and, in fact, food generally, except some varieties of breadstuffs, have advanced, as have hides and leather and metals, more than offsetting declines in wheat and flour, some hog products, raw textiles (such as wool, cotton and other fibres), mineral oils and some building materials. Eight groups of staples in all advanced during August, while only four declined. The result was a raising of the index number on September 1 to $8.4428, a point hitherto unattained, fully 1.2 per cent. higher than on August 1, and nearly 2 per cent. higher than on September 1 a year ago. Fluctuations in the past fourteen years are shown in the following table, which gives the respective swings from high to low and the reverse thereof, as noted by Bradstreet's approximate index number

Total	$5.7019	$8.3289	$8.2795	$8.3376	$8.4428

It will be seen from the above table that the live-stock, provisions and groceries, fruits, hides and leather, metals, coal and coke, naval stores and miscellaneous products groups all advanced during August, while breadstuffs, textiles, oils, and building materials declined and chemicals remained unchanged.

Out of 106 products contained in Bradstreet's prices table thirty-four advanced during August, while twenty-eight declined and forty-four remained unchanged. Sixty products are found to be higher than on September 1 last year, while only twenty-seven are lower and nineteen remained unchanged.

THE CHATHAM FAIR OPENED

CHATHAM, N. B., Sept. 18.—The Chatham exhibition was successfully opened last night by Lieut. Governor Snowball. The show in all departments is a very creditable one, the agricultural exhibit being especially worthy of praise. At the opening ceremonies Premier Tweedie presided, and the speakers included Mayor Nicol, Hon. C. H. Labillois, Hon. W. P. Jones, Hon. F. J. Sweeney and George Robertson, M. P. P., of St. John. Mr. Robertson extended a greeting to Chatham from the citizens of St. John. He said the agricultural display was far ahead of that at the St. John exhibition. He was particularly impressed by the quality and size of the onions, he had never seen better imported ones, and there could be a great industry. The cattle could be no better, and the race horse was the best he had seen on this side of the water. The St. John people thought they should be the centre and all should visit them, but if possible he would arouse hundreds of them to visit the next exhibition here. Northumberland was a great county and had made great advances. Within a radius of 50 miles, there were more industries than in any other county.

A. O. SKINNER TALKS ON CLEAN STREETS

A. O. Skinner thinks that there are other matters requiring the attention of the police besides signs that project from buildings, beyond the distance allowed by law.

Talking with the Times Mr. Skinner said he had noticed that a number of citizens had been reported for having signs projecting from their buildings, beyond the legal limit. This, he said, was well enough no doubt; but he desired to draw attention to the conditions prevailing in front of a number of Charlotte street establishments.

Mr. Skinner observed that he did not wish to appear obnoxious in the matter, but, as Charlotte street was one of the principal thoroughfares he felt that these things should be taken up.

Mr. Skinner pointed out, as an instance that on Saturday last there were about fourteen barrels outside the platform of a Charlotte street grocery, besides five boxes and three oil cans, with potatoes in the tops. He also drew attention to the fact that the grocer's shop was on city property.

As a second example Mr. Skinner stated that a well known fruit dealer and confectioner, also on Charlotte street, was in the habit of opening his fruit right on the sidewalk and this he knew was contrary to law.

He was unable to understand why this should be allowed to continue, and expressed the opinion that if the guardians of the peace report the sign-boards already referred to, they should also have an eye to these other matters.

WILL KEEP WOMEN OUT

The general conference of the Methodist church of Canada, at their meeting in Montreal yesterday, voted down the women's rights problem, so-called, by a vote of 147 to 105.

The report of the committee on church union was up for a brief consideration. When it came to a question of considering the report clause by clause, the objection was raised that the report should contain some definite statement of proposed action and that on this the voice of the conference should be first heard. Finally it was referred back to the committee.
