BORN IN THE PHILIPPINES

A cablegram was received this morning from the Philippines announcing the birth of a son to Mrs. W. J. Hamilton. The message came to George W. Gray, her brother, manager of Jas. V. Russell's branch shoe store, and simply stated that Mrs. Hamilton had given birth to a son and that both were doing well.

Mrs. Hamilton was formerly Miss Louise Gray of the north end. Mr. Hamilton is a native of St. John but has lived in the Philippines for the past fourteen years. He is a son of James Hamilton, sparmaker of Paradise Row.

THE CARS WERE COLD

The absence of heat in the electric cars has been the cause of a good deal of grumbling on the part of passengers during the past few days. This was especially noticeable yesterday, when the cars were cold and cheerless.

A passenger on a King street car exclaimed indignantly, "We're paying for comfort in cold weather, and it's up to them to give it to us."

Eyestrain is caused by even a slight defect of vision. Glasses properly fitted makes eyestrain perfect. Consult D. Boyaner, optician, 38 Dock street.

THINK IT WAS INCENDIARY

Assertion Made at Last Night's Inquest That Fire in King Building Was Set.

In connection with the death of James W. King, who lost his life in the fire which destroyed his brother's manufactory on Sunday, Nov. 4, the assertion was made at the inquest last night that the King fire was of an incendiary nature.

The first witness was Victor Dykeman, pattern maker, who said that he occupied part of a building on Waterloo street, owned by Mrs. Thomas Sweeny. He had sub-let part of it to W. E. King, brush manufacturer. On the evening in question he left his shop at 10.30 and locked his door. A partition divided his apartment from that of Mr. King's.

Chief Kerr stated that the fire broke out between Ungar's laundry and Myers'. Spontaneous combustion of coal might have caused the fire in Myers'. The witness swore positively that the King fire was not caused by the Myers' fire. Chief Kerr told of the position in which the body was found.

George Blake, district engineer of the fire department, stated that he had examined the burned building and he was of the opinion that the fire had started in the cellar directly under the King shop, pretty well to the rear. The fire, he said, did not catch from the outside. He thought it was of incendiary origin.

Charles Brown, district engineer, stated that he had not made an examination of the building and was told to do so today.

Victor Dykeman, re-called, said that W. E. King had told him that he had put a fire out early in the evening in his (Dykeman's) room. He had not made any negotiations with any company to dispose of his business, but had thought some of moving into the country to escape high taxes. He understood Mr. King had an offer to transfer his business to Halifax. The witness said that a few days before the fire he had added to his stock, and had a considerable quantity on hand.

Deputy-Chief Jenkins said that he thought that the fire had originated in the basement from that of the King shop.

The jurymen are Charles A. Clark (foreman), Henry Gallagher, Charles Damery, Frederick Melick, William Godsoe, Albert Peters and James Wilson.

Coroner Berryman would like to find the young man who saw the light in the window of the building occupied by W. E. King about 10.40 o'clock the night of the fire, and who upon meeting Mr. King on Waterloo street called his attention to it. They investigated and a small fire was found near the motor on the premises of Victor Dykeman and the man helped Mr. King stamp it out.

The inquest will be resumed this evening at 7.30 o'clock.

NEW LODGE ORGANIZED

Members of Knights of Pythias Had a Great Session Last Night.

Not for years has there been such a gathering of the members of the order of Knights of Pythias as were present in the Pythian hall on Germain street last evening when St. John Lodge No. 30 was formally instituted by Grand Chancellor, F. A. Marr, of Halifax, assisted by prominent knights from various parts of the maritime provinces.

The proceedings which included the necessary preliminary work, the exemplification of the three ranks of knighthood and the election and installation of officers of the new organization, commenced at 7.30 o'clock and did not terminate until well on in the "wee sma' hours."

The names of the officers elect and the charter members of the new lodge have already been published. Among the visitors present at the ceremonies from outside points, in addition to the Grand Chancellor, were: Grand Prelate, A. J. Tingley, of Moncton; Grand Trustee Harrison McAllister, of Milltown, Past Chancellor, George Polly, of St. Stephen and others.

The proceedings throughout were very impressive.

A luncheon was served about midnight by the members of the new lodge and the gathering closed with appropriate speeches from the various officers and a vote of thanks was tendered by the newly initiated members of St. John lodge to the Grand Chancellor and also to New Brunswick lodge No. 1 and Union, No. 2 for their efforts in assisting to make the institution of the new lodge, the great success that it was.

BEATEN TO A STANDSTILL

Every business or professional man who has examined the methods of the Currie Business University, Ltd., will admit that you can learn more about business and commercial methods from this school than anyone can possibly tell you. Some may think that they can get just as valuable information elsewhere; but one week's trial of this school's methods has been sufficient to convince the most prejudiced college graduate or experienced office man that this school has all textbook and stereotyped systems beaten to a standstill. This institution secures its information from a higher and more intuitive source, namely, the expert. Its representatives are in consultation with the ablest business and professional experts almost daily.
