

The Gigantic Sale of Boots & Shoes

Announced In The Newspapers on Saturday Begins At Our
Union and Mill Street Stores
On Wednesday Morning at 9 O'clock.

Both Stores Will Be Closed All Day Tuesday Preparing For It.

Contemplated Changes in many of the lines carried in our wholesale department makes it necessary for us to convert into cash about one hundred and twenty-five lines of new fresh goods. We have thought it best to confine this sale to our two branch stores on account of their proximity to the residential portions of the city—the Union street store being handy to the people of the South and East end, whilst the Mill street store is on the direct way of the people living in Carleton, Fairville and North End. We have no hesitation in saying that during the ten days of this sale people will be able to procure footwear suitable for every member of a family at prices less than manufacturers are quoting today. We anticipate a tremendous rush and to handle it properly have provided an extra staff of salespeople. The terms are cash. No goods will be allowed out on approval, but every facility has been provided for trying on and any goods purchased and not proving satisfactory will be cheerfully exchanged or money refunded.

Remember Sale Begins on Wednesday Morning at 9 O'clock and Ends Saturday August 6th
Sale Is At Our Union and Mill Street Stores.

WATERBURY & RISING

CHILDREN ATE MORPHINE IN MISTAKE FOR CANDY

Two May Die and Six are Seriously ill at Webster, Mass.

Webster, Mass., July 25.—Opium pills found on a public dump and eaten for candy, caused the probable fatal illness of two children and serious sickness to six other youngsters here.

The two who will probably die are: Victor Pepka, aged 6, son of John Pepka, Frank Mrowkowski, 12, son of Michael Mrowkowski.

The others who were made sick are: Martha Pepka, 8, Frances Pepka, 10, and Helen Pepka, 12, children of John Pepka, and Lucy Mrowkowski, child of Michael Mrowkowski; Katie Kamarek, 6, and Vladislav Pepka, 13, son of August Pepka.

The children had been playing about the dump and one of them found a little box containing several pills, which, after an eager consultation, were declared to be candy. A whole box of candy meant that there must be a party, so the youngsters adjourned to a tent which they had erected near their homes and proceeded to enjoy their find.

Shortly afterward the holiday spirits of

The children began to wane. Everybody seemed sleepy; so gradually the party broke up and everybody went home to have a nap.

Late in the afternoon, the children were found by their mothers asleep in odd places about the house. It seemed strange to the parents to have their little ones give up play so early and then it was noticed that the sleep did not seem quite natural.

Some of the mothers became alarmed and two physicians were called. A hasty examination showed that the children were victims of morphine poisoning, and the quick work of the doctors undoubtedly saved the lives of the sufferers. Victor Pepka and Frank Mrowkowski, however, are in a serious condition, and little hope is felt for their recovery.

The physicians say that they must have taken at least 12 grains of the poison, while the others took considerably less. All of the victims are being treated at their homes.

Cyrus Andrews, a wealthy oil operator of Pittsburgh, Pa., having no confidence in surgeons, amputated his own toe with a pocket knife.

The Evening Chit-Chat

By RUTH CAMERON

THAT women do not strike out from the beaten tracks and the overcrowded lines of feminine work and find less crowded occupations and professions for themselves half so much as they ought, is a belief I have long held.

Therefore I have occasionally devoted and shall occasionally devote this column to telling some of "the other things" that women are doing in the world. I hope to bring a suggestion to some of the women who have their living to earn and to whom none of the beaten paths appeal.

I wish any woman who is doing something out of the ordinary line of women's work would let me know about it that I may tell of it in this column.

If I had my life to live over again I should take an agricultural course instead of a course in the normal school. Out-of-door work is much more healthy for the majority of women, and compared with school teaching, it is much more remunerative.

That's the conclusion of one woman who broke down as a school teacher and became strong and well as a "visiting gardener."

Being a "visiting gardener" means that she took full charge of gardens, planted them and kept them in shape. On a small farm of her own she raised young plants to sell to her patrons and also had something of a market garden.

People who had summer homes in the country and wanted their gardens started before they came out from the city were some of her best patrons.

She hired two Italian assistants and charged twenty cents an hour for her time and theirs.

In seven years she has made a good living and more than half paid for the place she originally hired. She believes there are plenty of opportunities in the suburbs of all large cities for such work.

Another outdoor occupation into which a good many women who are unable to stand the confinement of indoor work have gone is that of mail carrier. It may not be widely known but it is a fact that there are many women who are earning as much as rural mail carriers as they would for school teaching in their respective districts.

Raising Persian kittens was the business into which one girl went to escape being a stenographer.

When she started in with one Persian kitten, bought with the money given her for an Easter hat, all her family laughed at her except her father. He said he thought staying at home and raising saleable cats was much better than rushing off to town every morning to sit in an office and bang a typewriter.

Her kittens have sold as high as $200 when suitable for show purposes. She seldom sells for less than $25. She has had to study the subject deeply, and says it has also taken hard work and much time, but she makes as much as a stenographer and enjoys the work far better.

Raising cats might at first seem an unusual occupation but it won't when I tell you how one woman in Granby, Mass., makes her living. How would you like to have a thousand or more mice in your back yard? She has all of that, for she raises mice for a living. Mice, mostly, but also guinea pigs and rabbits. The mice go mostly to laboratories, but some are sold for pets. Here breeds sell as high as $2.00, but the laboratory kind bring much less.

The animals eat up immense amounts of vegetables and fodder and require great care. She says she works at least twelve hours a day, but she makes a comfortable living and is much out of doors.

Do any of these methods of earning a living appeal to you as preferable to the beaten paths?

Daily Hints for the Cook

MAYONNAISE DRESSING.

Take one even teaspoonful of mixed mustard, one teaspoonful of salt, a pinch of cayenne and the yolk of one egg. Stir together and add very gradually a teaspoonful of the best olive oil, stirring steadily one way. It should form, if properly stirred, a thick paste, so thick as to form a smooth, yellow ball. When ready to use, thin with vinegar or lemon juice, and add a little sweet cream to the consistency of very thick cream.

After the oil, the egg should break, that is become thin, the addition of another yolk will usually restore it.

MILK SHERBERT WITH COFFEE

Mix well 3 cups of rich milk, 1 cup double cream, 1 cup of clear, strong black coffee and 1 1/4 cups of sugar, freeze as usual.

CURRENT PUNCH

Current jelly is the main ingredient of this drink. Boil together for five minutes a cupful of sugar and three quarts of water. Remove from the fire while the sirup is still hot, dissolve it in two one-half lemons and three oranges sliced very thin. Then set on ice until chilled, and serve in glasses partly filled with crushed ice.

WILL ADVERTISE OTTAWA

New Publicity Man Will Have
$15,000 to Spend Each Year—
Money Raised by City Council and Board of Trade

(Ottawa Journal)

"I am just going to look around for a few days and get used to the place, see what there is to see," said H. W. Baker of Fort William, Ontario, who has been engaged as commissioner for the Ottawa Publicity Bureau. Mr. Baker is young and energetic. As he comes from Fort William, a city that has grown from 4,700 in 1905 to nearly 25,000 of a population now, and has given some of its older sister cities pointers in the matter of getting industries, it is likely he will "make good" here.

He naturally cannot pose as a prophet regarding the opportunities this city affords, as he has just got here; but from what he has already seen he sees no good reason why Ottawa should not get industries. He seems to think that if outside capitalists knew of the exceptional opportunities, good locations, railway connection, unusually cheap water power, etc., they would invest their money here. Before long Mr. Baker will have a talk with the members of the bureau and then will get down to an active advertising campaign.

He has been agent for the Publicity Bureau at Fort William during the past eighteen months. Within the past two years Fort William has gained a large hardwood factory occupying twenty-five acres, and a wire and nail factory occupying twenty acres. Then within a year, fourteen wholesale houses have been added to it.

Mr. Baker modestly claimed no special credit for this, but it is known that he had considerable to do with it.

He acted in connection with the formation and successful work of the Publicity Bureau at Portage la Prairie for some years.

Ottawans are hoping for much from the Ottawa Bureau, which for the next three years will have $15,000 annually to spend. Of this, $10,000 each year is supplied by the council and $5,000 by subscriptions from the board of trade members and others. The intention is to begin a systematic campaign of thoroughly advertising the capital; of bringing factories here; of making it known as the most appropriate place in Canada for conventions, etc; and of encouraging capitalists to look towards this city when they are investing their money.

The funeral of little Annie Davis, the three-year-old child of Mr. and Mrs. James Davis, of Clarence street, who was so painfully burned about the body while playing with matches last Thursday, and who afterwards died in the General Public Hospital, took place from that institution yesterday afternoon.

Mistress (showing how to set the dinner table)—"There, Emma, that's how the glasses should go." New Maid "Yes, m. yes. You see I've never lived in a drinking family before."

GREAT MANUFACTURERS' OUTLET SALE

At C. B. Pidgeon's

Commencing Wednesday, July 27 at 9 a. m.

OVER $25,000 WORTH OF CLOTHING AND SHOES AT GREAT PRICE REDUCTIONS

This enormous stock represents the most desirable productions of over a dozen leading manufacturers and importers of the country, together with our own seasonal, dependable merchandise, only of the highest merit. At the time these goods were contracted for, business among the manufacturers and importers, who sell to the retail trade had been almost at a complete standstill. Many interesting price concessions were placed before us. We anticipated a liberal outlet for goods of quality at exceptionally low prices. Our merchandise purchases for this season have been the heaviest we ever contracted for. The result is that our present stocks (aggregating over $25,000) represent the greatest volume of fine merchandise we ever offered at any time in the history of our business.

It is hard to believe that we should ever be enabled to offer such vast quantities of fine merchandise at such low prices. But all these extraordinary price concessions are due to our exceptional buying opportunities during dull season. We are bound to look out for our patrons and whenever we can sell goods under market value, whenever through such conditions as backward seasons, overproduction, etc., at any time where there is a chance to save money for our customers, we stand ready for the most extensive trade transactions. This is not the first special price event we conducted. Within the past years we inaugurated many special under pricing sales that have benefited this great and prosperous shopping community by thousands of dollars in pure cash savings. But never in our entire career have we been in a position to quote prices as low on stocks so liberal and well selected as at this Great Manufacturers' Outlet Sale which opens Wednesday, July 27, C. B. Pidgeon, Cor. Main and Bridge Sts., North End.

Come Early to this special sale of Summer Clothing, Furnishings and Shoes at C. B. Pidgeon's, Cor. Main and Bridge Sts. This gigantic sale opens on Wednesday, July 27, and continues until our greatly increased stock is reduced to its normal size. But bear in mind the early bird usually gets choice pick of the handsome bargains, so come early. Car fares paid to all purchasers of $3.00 or over, C. B. Pidgeon.
