IMPERIAL CALLS YOU TOMORROW!

Double Opportunity to Help Save Lives of Babies and Hear Noted Lecturer.

Four o'clock tomorrow afternoon is the hour, The Imperial auditorium is the place—the speaker Edward Lee Hawk, The subject is The Child.
The purpose is not only to give a brilliant speaker a hearing on a vital subject but to swell the Free Milk Fund for babies who otherwise would go without proper nourishment and either enter upon life handicapped by under-nourishment or die because of it.

Every father, every mother, every citizen who believes human life is worth saving and making strong for the world's work is interested in the subject: "How to Know What Your Child Should Be." Mr. Hawk has made a deep impression by addresses he has already delivered in this city, and what he will say tomorrow will appeal to every heart.

Do not fail to hear him. He speaks under the auspices of the Council of Women, and The Times-Star fund, and as Mr. Golding has given free use of the Imperial and Mr. Hawk makes no charge whatever, the total collection which will be taken by a group of young ladies will go to the Free Milk Fund.

People who do not feel that they could give a large subscription will be able at this meeting to give a contribution and so help to Save the Babies. This is the sole purpose of the work now carried on here at the Council of Women to the limit of the funds available. Hear a very able speaker tomorrow afternoon on the subject of the child in our midst, and help to save the little ones.

PLAYERS WE KNOW
NOW IN NEW YORK

Theatrical Favorites in St.
John are Filling Engagements There.

St. John theatre-goers will be interested in the fact that the two leading players of the first St. John company of the F. James Carroll Players are now filling engagements in New York—not on Broadway, it is true, but within a stone's throw of that street of theatres.

Miss Lillian Foster, who was the leading lady of the Carroll Players in 1922, opened this week in the Belmont Theatre in 47th street, in a new show called "Conscience." Leslie Adams, who shared the first roles with Miss Foster that season, has been playing for the last three weeks in Miller's Theatre in 48th street in another new production, "The Haunted House."

Miss Frances Woodbury, who was Mr. Carroll's leading lady at Halls last season, is another who in the near future will be filling a New York engagement. On Sept. 29 she is due to open with Margaret Lawrence in a New York production.

On Monday of next week Mr. Carroll will open his first season on the 8th avenue Theatre, Brooklyn, with a company in which no less than six of the people who were in St. John last season will participate. They are Miss Edna Freston, James Coats, Miss Myra Marsh, Miss Virginia Odeon, all taking part in the cast; John Gordon, who will direct the company, and R. C. Benjamin, who will look after the scenic end of the engagement. The players will open with "Dolly with a Hat," which was one of the bills played here last year.

Mr. Carroll, who has been in the city for the opening of St. John season, is due to leave for Brooklyn this evening to be present when his company make their bow on Monday night.

MARRIED IN ROXBURY.

A wedding of interest to St. John friends was solemnized in St. Patrick's church, Roxbury, Mass., on Sept. 8, when Rev. J. T. Donovan, C. S. R., who was celebrant at nuptial mass, united in marriage Miss Christina L.
O'Neill, daughter of Mrs. Catherine and the late James J. O'Neill of this city, and William A. McNulty, son of William McNulty of Roxbury. The bride, who was given away by her mother, wore a becoming traveling suit of sand and a corsage-bouquet. She was attended by Miss Emaline Hodges, cousin of the bride, who was dressed in a dress of cinnamon velour with fox fur and hat to harmonize. The groom was supported by his brother, John McNulty. Following the ceremony breakfast was served at the Quincey House, after which Mr. and Mrs. Mc-Nulty left on a honeymoon to New York and Atlantic City. On their return they will reside in Roxbury. They were the recipients of a large number of magnificent presents.

As Hiram Sees It

"Hiram," said The Times reporter to
Mr. Hiram Hornbeam,
"there could never be a question of my allegiance to Mrs. Horn-beam's pumpkin pie.
If ever it had been possible to waver for a moment it would have been in the C.
McAdam the other day.
She was low voiced, demurely attentive, graceful in movement—what I mean to say is that the pumpkin pie was real pie. It was not a thin slab or a slice, but the deep kind that satisfies. At first I thought Jim Wood, man must have heard I was on my way and ordered out the pie—but soon discovered that it was just her natural sweetness and charm—what I mean to say is that the pie was designed to meet the needs of an open contentment."
"I see what you mean," said Hiram.
"You got that there gal an' the pie all mixed up an' you can't get 'em apart. Wait till I tell Hanner."
"You wouldn't think of repeating our conversation to her—would you?" anxiously enquired the reporter. "I wouldn't, I'll be bound."
"I'll tell her," said Hiram, "that when you see a hunk o' pie you thought o' her an' cried."
"That would be better," said the reporter. "Yes—with that amendment I think you may tell her the story. Her sweet."
"Mrs. Hornbeam," said the reporter unblushingly.
"You're another," said Hiram. "I guess you better quit gallivantin' round the country—it goes to your head."

GET READY FOR HUNTING SEASON

Sportsmen Preparing for the Woods—What Game
Laws Provide.

Now that summer sports are drawing to a close, hunters are looking forward with keen anticipation to the shooting season. As a result many a rifle has been taken out of its case, shotguns have been unslung from their racks and old shoe packs have been dug out of chests and closets in readiness for the day when their owners will pack up and start off in quest of moose or deer, birds about their ears, and a chance for a chance to bring down some ducks or geese. The exhilaration and fascination which is a part of this sport can only be fully appreciated by those who have tramped through the woods, caught a glimpse of the king of the New Brunswick forests and got a head on a big bull as he was nibbling at strawberry or with his head hung up in the air trying to get a moment's rest—a suspicion that the dead enemy-man—was approaching.

Record Season Looked For.

Outfitters and guides in conversation with a reporter from The Times-Star say that from all indications this season will create a new record so far as the number of hunters going into the woods is concerned. They say that great enthusiasm is being displayed by sportsmen here as well as throughout the province and in addition many lovers of big game hunting from the U. S. have written asking for particulars as to supplies and information about camps.

The passenger department of the C. N. R. in Montreal in a circular says that parties of sportsmen, ranging from 10 to 25 in number, have made reservations for hunting trips in Ontario, Quebec and New Brunswick, these parties originating in Pittsburgh, Detroit, Buffalo, Boston and New York.

In view of the fact that the shooting season opens for some birds on September 15 and that for moose on October 1, the following official summary of the
