SIR CHARLES IN BOSTON.

The visit of Sir Charles Tupper to Boston recalls another visit, by another Canadian statesman, a few years ago. Sir Wilfrid Laurier on that occasion made a speech to the people, in which he told them that Canada was still under the rule of Great Britain, " but, as in the case of every dependency, the dependence will not last. " Canada and England have interests apart, and the day will come, and " must come, when Canada and Eng-"land will have to separate from each " other."

The speech of Sir Charles Tupper in Boston was not one of that stripe. It was the speech of a statesman of imperial cast, who could look beyond the exigencies of party and grasp the significance of events and movements that are of vast import not only to the English speaking race, but to the whole world.

In view of the bitter attacks that have been made upon Sir Charles by the organs of Mr. Tarte, in which the has been held up as the enemy of the anadian race, it is worth

THE LESSON OF MONCTON.

The result of the civic elections in Moncton Monday has a peculiar significance at this time, which none will more fully appreciate than the minister of railways. It has been hinted that among the constituencies to which Mr. Blair had been turning a longing eye was the county of Westmorland. If such were the case, a change must come o'er the spirit of his dream. The Sun's Moncton correspondent states that the liberals forced the fighting on party lines. have their answer. There They was a liberal mayor last year and only two conservative aldermen. Now there is a conservative mayor, and the only liberal alderman has a majority of only one vote. Mayor Ayer, whose change of base on the Transvaal contingent was even more expeditious than that of Sir Wilfrid Laurier is succeeded by Mr. Sumner, who has defeated the editor of the Transcript by nearly two hundred votes. If it is argued that the sweeping change is due to purely local causes, it must then be admitted that grit rulers are not a success, even in civic politics; but the event has a deeper significance. It is another warning to the government at Ottawa that grit rule in Canada is not what the people want. Manitoba and P. E. Island have spoken. So have several Ontario constituencies, and Sherbrooks in Quebec. In this province we have had the example of Queens and Carleton counties, and now of Moncton. The latter city is to be congratulated on the result of yesterday's election, and conservatives everywhere will rejoice that another evidence has been given of the strength of the party and the weakness of its opponents in a centre where Mr. Blair's influence was believed by his friends to be paramount. The grits are on the run.

-----A NEW RELATIONSHIP.

The Boston Herald points out very clearly that the possession of the Philippines brings the United States into an entirely new relationship with and did no any assistance in securing those is lands to the United States, they could neither have been conquered nor purchased had England refused her assent. And now that they are possess ed, the Herald points out, "the English could make our hold of the Philippines exceedingly expensive and uncomfortable for us, without absolutely violating recognized international obligations, by permitting ambitious Filipino leaders to use the safe environments of Hong Kong, Singapore and other great seaports as centres for stirring up insurrections in one or another of the islands of the Philippine group, ports from which warlike supplies and contributions of money could be surrectitiously dispatched.

while to read what he said to a Boston audience concerning his fellow citizens of French descent. He is thus reported :

Canada was ceded by France to Great Bri tain, and with the country there passed ua-der British rule French speaking people. Nearly a hundred and forty years had rolled Nearly a hundred and tory years two mil-by, and although there were now two mil-lions of French Roman Catholics in Can-ada, they enjoy greater liberty and protec-tion than they could have in any other tion than they could have in any other country in the world. (Cheers.) in every country in the world. (Cheers,) in every struggle the French Canadians had been loyal and true to Great Britain. Though they were only two millions in number and a minority of the population of Canada, one of their lenguage and religion was now premier of the dominion. Thus did the Britis do justice to those other races who came under her rule.

Mr. Hazen's motion for the appoint ment of a committee to investigate his charges in connection with the two price bridges called forth an exhibition of government tactics that was far from creditable. Mr. Emmerson, Mr. Tweedle and Mr. White occupied the time up to six o'clock and then sought to adjourn the house until Monday afternoon, so that the reply of the opposition leader to their gross perversion of facts could not reach the country until some time after their remarks had been spread broadcast by the government press. Foreseeing some such line of treatment, Mr. Hazen had previously obtained the consent of the speaker to keep the house in session for a few minutes, so that he might reply. Brief as was Mr. Hazen's speech, it was a most effective answer to the base imputations and insinuations of unmanly and dishonorable personal rootives and of cowardice, which particularly marked Mr. Tweedie's violent harangue. Mr. Hazen showed that when he had propresed a week before to formulate his charges, he had held them back as a reasonal favor to the provincial secretary, and that his reward for this act of courtesy was a torrent of abuse. The rank and file of the government supporters looked particularly happy as Mr. Hazen applied the lash to the provincial secretary, who is even more urpopular today with his following, if such a thing were possible, than he has been in the past.

The Hon. Mr. Emmerson, to his credit be it said, assured the house that he courted the fullest and most complete enquiry. This may be taken to mean that he will discard the methods pursued by investigating committees in the past, when the Wilsons and the Killams shut cut on technical grounds, and when that was not possible, by brute party force, all evidence likely to be injurious to the case of the accused. It may be taken to mean that the witnesses called by Mr. Hazen will be permitted to tell the whole truth when they are on the witness stand. If this is what Mr. Emmerson actually means when he says he courts the fullest enquiry, the investigation need not occupy many days. A great

And lest some should doubt this statement, the Herald recalls "the encouragement that was given to Cuban revolutionists in the various seaports of the United States for many years before Spain abandoned Cuba: and how. from the safe refuge of our country. insurrections were stirred up against Spain among the so-called Cuban natriots.

Thus, in gaining possessions in the far east, so close to the great British possessions in that quarter, the United States has given a hostage to England, and is not in as independent a position as before the policy of expansion was entered upon. And while there is no alliance, there is what amounts to the same thing, a community of interest which should tend to more cordial relations between the two countries. The United States government evidently views the matter in this light, for it has not been moved from its attitude of strict neutrality in the present war by the clamor of the pro-Boer press or politicians.

Mr. J. C. Walsh, who came down from Montreal a few weeks ago to assume the editorship of the Telegraph, has returned to Montreal and resumed his work on the editorial staff of the Herald.

HALIFAX, N. S., March 11.— The tug Wanda, cruising off the coast at Pubnico and Cape Sable for traces of the steamer Planet Mercury, today picked up a deck plant in Lobster Bay, between Tusket and Pubnico. It is 20 feet long, white on one side and oiled on the other, and apparently from a ship's bridge. The opinion of ruany local persons acquainted with the coast, is that the Planet Mercury did not come as far in as generally supposed and may be far in as generally supposed, and may be lying on the shoals to the southeast of Seal Island, out of the track of both small coasting steamers and ocean going vessels. The scarch for further evidence of the diswill te directed to that point. aster whit te directed to that point. Ship-ping Master Bligh yesterday received a cable from Swansea, asking for particulars of the loss of the Planet Mercury and the fate of the crew. He replied that nothing was known of the crew and they were supposed to be all lost.

thing of the past. Loyal demonstra tions took place in front of the French newspaper offices. On arrival at the Windsor luncheon was served. Mayor Prefontain presided, and after the good things had been done full justice to, then there were speeches of good will and good wishes. Then the troops marched to the station, and Bonaventure depot was packed. The police for a while kept the crowd out, but finally a rush was made and the police were bowled over and the crowd got nossession of the platform. It was then that the buttons especially designed for the uniforms of the Horse began to disappear. Many a Montrual girl now possesses one of them, and the price paid in each and every instance was a kiss. One civilian resented his best girl giving the price. and the result was that one member of Strathcona's Horse has a black eye. But generally the exchange was freely made: It was 9.05 when the first train pulled out, followed closely by the second. At Point St. Charles the Intercolonial took possession of the trains. The Horse train, which came down from Ottawa, was waiting there, and it was split up with the other two trains into three, which got away shortly after ten o'clock. It is expected the trip to Halifax will occupy about 30 hours.

These men, together with those from other parts of Canada, will be equipped with the rifle green uniform. similar to that with which the first contingent sailed. Colonel Macdonald, superintendent of stores, arrived this afternoon from Ottawa to see to the equipment. Strathcona's Horse will arrive here late Wednesday night or carly Thursday. The horses will rule. be embarked Friday morning. The men will be reviewed in the afternoon and then embarked. The 'transport will eachor in the harbor over night, and on Saturday morning she will steam up the Dertmouth shore and return along the Halifax water front, which will give thousands, including the Irishmen who will be parading as "St. Patrick's day," a chance to cheer and wish "God speed."

As the embarkation takes place at the dominion government pier at the dcep water terminus, Ceneral Lord William Seymour has refused to order out the Leinsters to preserve order at the entrance to end on the pier. The militia corps and city police will do this work. Lieut. Frank Harper of Strathcona's Horse arrived here this afternoon direct from the Yukon. He will act as quartermaster of the corps. He brought with him two men of the force, Corporal Nicol and Trooper Lee. Major Bliss of Ottawa, who has been in the N. W. M. P. and on the Yukon force, latterly in the artillery, arrived also. He sails as the officer in charge of the Gatling gun. Lt. Col. N. Nicholson, director general of the Canadian militla, has also arrived. He will inspect the Halifax beerer corps tomorrow night, and, on the government's behalf, inspect the
