THANKSGIVING DAY.

The proclamation of Thanksgiving Day and the observance of a public holiday under that name has been sometimes criticised. It is said that the observance as "a day of general thanksgiving to Almighty God for the bountiful harvest and other things with which Canada has been favored during the present year," is a mere form and that no such general thanksgiving actually takes place.

There is enough truth in this to make an argument. There would also be truth in the statement that the observance of Christmas, and Good Friday are not charged with the spirit appropriate to these occasions. Plausible argument might be made that the conventional Sunday in its religious aspect is largely formal, that public worship, family prayer, and grace before meat do not always have a corresponding spiritual import. This destructive criticism when it gets under full headway also undermines the King's Birthday and Dominion Day, it strikes at all the conventional amenities of social intercourse, the introductory and closing phrases of our letters, greetings and farewells to friends, the ordinary terms of courtesy to ladies and old people, the note of affection or respect in the domestic circle. These all doubtless become at times more or less formal, inasmuch as the feeling that the words should logically represent is not at the moment present to the consciousness.

Not the less do these forms and usages respond to a habitual inward grace or feeling. They are not false. There is in the ordinary life of the people a prevailing mood to respond to these outward manifestations. If for instance all such gracious recognitions of one person's kindly interest in others persons with whom he is in contact should disappear there would be reason to believe that the social fabric was going to pieces and that manhood was lapsing into a state of savage individuality.

Thanksgiving Day responds to a mood of the Christian people of Canada. The vast majority may not give expression to gratitude by any visible or audible form. They may not even be able to testify that they have joined in the spirit of the festival. They might never have missed the occasion if it had not been proclaimed, save as all holidays are missed by those who desire a change. But suppose, instead of making the proclamation that is given below, Lord Minto, acting on the advice of his ministers, had issued another declaring that as Thanksgiving Day had no significant meaning to the people of Canada it had been decided to set apart no more days for that purpose. Such an announcement would have jarred rather unpleasantly on the ears and sensibilities of even the most practical and calculating people among us.

"Whereas," says the governor general, "it has pleased Almighty God, in His great goodness, to vouchsafe this year unto our dominion of Canada a bountiful harvest and other blessings—"

"We, therefore, considering that these blessings enjoyed by our people throughout the said dominion do call for a solemn and public acknowledgment, have thought fit, by and with the advice of our privy council for Canada, to appoint, and we do hereby appoint Thursday, the seventeenth day of November next, as a day of general thanksgiving to Almighty God for the bountiful harvest and other blessings with which Canada has been favored during this present year; and we do invite all our loving subjects throughout the Dominion to observe the said day as a day of general thanksgiving."

AN INSUBORDINATE PROMOTED.

One of the changes in naval appointments places that splendid officer, Lord Charles Beresford, in command of the Mediterranean fleet, which is the highest command in the imperial navy. Lord Charles has seen much service, of the most active kind within his reach. He has managed all his life to be where there was fighting on land as well as at sea, and his name is a household word throughout the empire. Admiral Beresford has also seen political and administrative service. As a member of parliament and lord of the admiralty, he has made the navy his special care. During his period of political service promotion in the navy could not go forward, but he has now reached the summit in command, though not in rank and precedence. Lord Charles is something of an insubordinate, like Lord Dundonald. He has not in the least refrained from expressing his adverse opinion of governments even when he held command under them, and was insistent in his demands for reform as well when he was an officer in the fleet as when he was a member of parliament on the half pay list. This free speaking has not injured him in the esteem of the government or of the nation. The empire is not governed at Downing street by Boredens and Fishers.

THE NORTH SEA OUTRAGE.

The Hull fishermen are not able to explain why the Russian squadron fired on them. They know that there were no Japanese torpedo boats in the neighborhood, and can only say that the Russians seemed to them to be "demons" when they began to butcher the occupants of the fishing boats. All the evidence seems to lead up to the one explanation given some time ago. The Russian officers responsible for the outrage were evidently crazy with drink. If that is the explanation, or if the Russian officers simply went into a panic without drink and began to fire at everything in sight it is a question whether the great powers should allow Russian fleets to be at large on the high seas. It is said that British ships of war have kept within sight of the Russian squadron ever since it left Vigo. That is only a reasonable precaution after what has happened. These war ships might run amok among the next fleet of sun vessels encountered. The question how far Russia as a nation is responsible is one which she is willing to settle by offering apologies and compensation. But Russia should be expected to satisfy other countries that her lunatics will not be sent to frequent seas, and in charge of dangerous ships of war, and of guns which are able to kill people.

NOVA SCOTIA PROTESTS.

Halifax despatches state that it is proposed to protest a number of Nova Scotia elections. It will perhaps be found that behind this determination there are suspicions of election frauds as well as bribery. Not much has been said in public about these matters, but undoubtedly there are many conservative honestly of the opinion that the votes of certain polls were not honestly counted. An election trial may bring the facts to light, and it allows larger liberty of investigation than a criminal prosecution, since the latter requires that the prosecutor should know beforehand not only the exact nature of the fraud, but also the name of the offender. There are outside of this sufficient grounds for protest, as bribery was undoubtedly carried on in the Nova Scotia elections to an extent without precedent in that province.

DR. PUGSLEY AND THE RAILWAY

President McAvity of the New Brunswick Coal and Railway Company, contradicts the report that Attorney General Pugsley has gone to England to sell that railway. It will be noticed that the president does not deal with the suggestion that Dr. Pugsley will try to negotiate the bonds of the company. The statements made by Mr. McAvity may all be accepted as made in good faith and all but one are doubtless in full accord with the facts. When Mr. McAvity says that he knows Dr. Pugsley's business in London he would be safer if he said he thought that he knew it all. The attorney general's range of activities is always wider than some of his own friends suppose.

On further reflection Mr. Aylesworth appears to be not quite sure whether he desires to be in public life. Perhaps Sir Wilfrid Laurier is not quite sure as to whether he should be strengthened in Ontario. He is strong enough elsewhere to be able to do without this new force.

As predicted by this paper Liberal Cash was successful in the postponed Northwest election. The Galician got three votes, but there are several polls to hear from that may double the number.

Readers of the Sun will not be surprised to hear from the Tokio authorities that General Kuroki is still alive and vigorous. They do not know anything in Moscow.

A PAIR OF REFORMERS.

The report that Professor Robertson is about to resign his position in the department of agriculture, is probably correct. It has lately been apparent that he could not perform the duties which belonged to his commission, and he had on hand in the management of Sir William Macdonald's magnificent educational enterprise. Various explanations are given for the withdrawal of Professor Robertson from the official position which he has held for years. The truth probably is that he has found the double duty too much for him, and that he does not think it right to draw the salary of an office while he is giving his whole time and strength to other activities, even though these are equally for the public benefit.

There is no reason to fear his acceptance of any of the inducements held out to him in other countries. Professor Robertson has his work cut out for him in Canada, so long as Sir William Macdonald's purpose holds to devote a large part of his great wealth to the noble purpose of imparting a new inspiration, a broader spirit and a fuller life to the public school systems of the dominion. In this magnificent task, only possible where there is a union of financial ability and unbounded generosity and public spirit with a competent directing mind, clear and definite ideas, and great physical and mental energy and activity, Sir William Macdonald and Professor Robertson are the appropriate combination. One has the means, the public spirit and the general purpose and ideas, but he is no longer young, and could not undertake to organize and work out the details. Professor Robertson is able to enter into the older man's general scheme and to give it form. One is no more an enthusiast than the other. Both are qualified to be benefactors. It was a happy day that brought the two together, if we are right in believing that the work in which they have been co-operating is only in its infancy, and that the director is taking it for his life task.

Hon. Sydney Fisher has taken and received much credit for the higher agricultural development of the country in his term of office. The truth is that a certain modest elderly senator, founder of the experimental farms, and of most of the other enterprises whereof the development has had much to do with the increase of Canadian farm exports, did more for Canadian agriculture than Mr. Fisher has done all his life. So far as the minister of agriculture since then has done well for the country by the instruction of farmers in dairying, by the conquest of the British market for dairy products, poultry and fresh meats, by the promotion of cold storage transportation on sea and land, by the development of the bacon industry and trade, by the encouragement of ensilage feeding, this has been possible because so far as these activities were concerned, Professor Robertson was the minister of agriculture. For his greatness consists in the fact that, besides knowing the thing, he knows how to get the people to do the thing, whether these people be ministers of the crown, or traders, or manufacturers, or the plain farmer. His political and statesman's yet he is of such a type that no one has cared to ask which party he favors.

But while there is plenty of work in the department of agriculture for Professor Robertson, the pace has been so set there that the business can go on without him. Others have been trained in the various departments, and while there is no doubt that the effects of self-administered poison work, it is at least certain that something of the spirit of the discoverer and the benevolent promoter will continue when he is away. In fact for a year or two past Professor Robertson has been practically on leave of absence from his own department, while he has been giving his attention to the Macdonald schools, to nature study and to manual training.

If the educational reform which has been so well begun by the Mont-real founder is to be kept up for the period required to give all parts of Canada an example of the methods, the operation, and the fruits of the wider common school culture, there is need in the management of a strong, practical and enthusiastic man like Professor Robertson, who thoroughly believes in it, and has the power to persuade others. That will give the maximum of value with the minimum of error of outlay. Whatever is good in these designs might be accomplished through the regular machinery of administration in time for the generation after the next, the movement producing in the meantime, much friction, much misadventure for personal, sectional, and political advantage. It is clearly possible for Sir William Macdonald, with Professor Robertson for the manager of his work, to hasten this reformation by perhaps one long life time, introducing the better methods and larger school life to millions of young Canadians who otherwise would not know them, and giving the country a whole generation of a start in the competition with the rest of the world.

KEEPING AT IT.

Le Soleil, "organe du parti liberal" in Quebec, said editorially on the 16th: "Today is nineteenth anniversary of the execution of Louis Riel. All those who were accomplices in this judicial murder have disappeared from the public scene. Some have gone down to the tomb, and the rest have received their chastisement from the electorate. The last who remains, who was the youngest, Tom Chase Casgrain, has just been driven from political life by a young man of twenty-five."

"Bow down, it is justice who passes by." This is absolutely shameful. Louis Riel was fairly tried by a jury, and the law was carried out. He had raised two rebellions, the first including one cowardly act of slaughter. He escaped without punishment on that occasion, and we know what happened years afterwards. His is not the only grave in the west which recalls the event of 1885. But if we agree that the government should have commuted the sentence of Louis Riel it surely will not be said that it was wrong to send him before a jury. As this paper has pointed out, Tom Chase Casgrain, a young lawyer, was retained as one of the prosecuting counsel. Sir Christopher Robinson was his senior. Neither had anything to do with the course of the government afterwards, as Mr. Casgrain was not even a member of parliament until much later. There is not a supporter of Sir Wilfrid Laurier or Premier Parent who would refuse to consent to any criminal prosecution. These attacks on Mr. Casgrain for the purpose of stirring up a feeling against him are simply ruffianism and it is no credit to Sir Wilfrid Laurier, who is a man of a higher standard, to allow them to go on in a paper which is in a special sense his personal organ.

AN ASTONISHING SHOWING.

We have now the report as given out by the government of the three months Intercolonial business, from the beginning of July to the beginning of October of this year. Following are the details: Earnings.....$1,850,485 Expenses.....2,052,465 Deficit.....201,980 Yet this summer quarter is showing the most profitable of the year. During the fiscal year which closed with June last the total deficit was over $900,000, but in the July-September quarter there was a surplus. Following is the statement for the three months of 1903: Receipts.....$1,797,655 Expenses.....1,740,703 Surplus.....56,952

It will be seen that the railway earned $53,000 more in the first quarter of this year than in the corresponding period of 1903, but that it cost $312,000 more to pay the expenses of earning it. If each quarter of the current year makes the same comparative showing we shall have a deficit of $1,900,000 when the year is out. In the month of September alone the railway did more passenger business and more freight business than in September 1903. But while there was a profit of $48,987 in September, 1903, there was a deficit of $68,179 this year. Here is a change for the worse of $115,000 in the business of one month, and this in comparison with the year which reported the largest deficit in the history of the Intercolonial. Should this rate of comparative loss be maintained throughout the year the deficit will reach $2,300,000. This cannot be legitimate business. There is evidently some special and phenomenal bad management, or a carnival of plunder. The startling state of affairs cannot be due to the Empire Express, for the railway authorities have got out of their way to announce that this experiment was profitable. But evidently some remarkably unprofitable transactions have been and are taking place. The facts are, or the plain fact is, that the Intercolonial, but we venture to say that it is without parallel in the whole history of Canadian railroading.

FERGUSON INQUEST.

Jury Viewed the Body and Will Meet Again on Monday. The inquest in the case of Ruby Ferguson of Carleton, who died from the effects of self-administered poison, began last evening in the city hall at Carleton. Coroner Kenney summoned the following jury, who were sworn in: Wm. Ainslie (foreman), Alex. Kinch, E. S. Rocksborough, Orlando Turner, E. Lesley Smith, John F. Ring, Thos. Mortisey. The jury went to the home of the deceased and examined the exhibits in the case. The inquest will adjourn till Monday at 3 p. m. This will leave plenty of time for full enquiry into the case. A post-mortem examination will be made tomorrow by Dr. Day.

BIG FIRE IN BOSTON.

Charlestown Pier Burned at a Loss of Quarter of a Million. BOSTON, Nov. 17.—The London pier and shed of the Warren Line in Charlestown, filled with oil, pulp wood and other inflammable material was completely consumed by fire tonight and it was only by the utmost exertion that the firemen were able to save adjoining property, principally the big Hoosac Tunnel grain elevator and the White Star Line pier. The str. Canopic was in the White Star Line dock, but owing to the absence of the tug was some time before she was towed out into the stream. The Danish str. L. P. Holmblad, which was at the Warren Line dock, was towed out and a small schooner moored at the end shifted away in safety. A coal lighter was also saved. The fire burned very rapidly, but the wind sent the flames toward the harbor end of the shed. The entire north end of the city was deluged with sparks, some dropping on Washington street at far newspaper row, and numerous small fires resulted. At midnight the shed was still burning, but the fire was under control. The loss is estimated at a quarter of a million dollars.

Hooper and the officers was appointed to make all arrangements.

The society's scholarship at the University of Toronto, Ontario, Canada, was awarded to H. Tully Montgomery, son of Rev. H. Montgomery, rector of Kingsclear. It is of the annual value of $80 and is tenable for four years. Mr. Tully Montgomery is a student at the University of Toronto, and is a member of the base ball team, shot a large buck deer on Maryland Hill yesterday.

FREDERICTON, Nov. 16.—Papers recently received from Natal, South Africa, contain the following interesting marriage notice: "On 13th day of August, 1904, at St. Cyril's church, Durban, Natal, John Finlay, son of the late John Finlay, Canada, to Louise, widow of the late Captain Beachcroft-Harrison, 1st Batt. H. M. Wilshire regiment and adjutant R. G. L. I. militia."

The young man and woman Frederickson were well known to Thomas Wandless, verger of the cathedral. He enlisted with the draft for the first Canadian South African contingent, and took part in some of the battles in the late war. He has been in South Africa for some time and is said to be meeting with good success in that country. The announcement of his marriage came as a surprise to both his relatives and friends. The groom's fellow soldiers in the first contingent as well as others will be pleased to hear of his success and join in wishing her daughter, Mrs. Wandless, to remain in South Africa. The feed store of F. H. Everett, Campbell street, was broken into last night and the cash drawer, containing some three dollars, fifty of its contents. The police are working on the case and the culprits are supposed to be young boys.

TUG FANNIE HAD A ROUGH TRIP.

And Capt. Dykeman Wants a Light at Douglas Harbor on Grand Lake. Captain Dykeman of the tug Fannie, who has been navigating the waters of Grand Lake for about fifteen years, reports the great need of a light at the entrance of Douglas Harbor. He left Chipman on Monday with four scoops containing 320,000 feet of sawn lumber for E. B. Sayre, St. John, and encountered a rough storm on the trip. About ten o'clock, while coming down the lake, the wind sprang up from the eastward, followed by a heavy fall of rain. The captain tried to make Douglas Harbor, but owing to the darkness was unable to do so, there being no light to guide him. The nearest shelter was Robinson's Point, which has a light, and the captain was able to make this shelter owing to about two feet of a freshet. In a few minutes after getting in the rain was followed by a blinding storm and there was a big sea running. Had this shelter not been made, barges and steamer would have been swamped and the lives of the crew perhaps lost. The wind the next day blew strongly from the north, making it very rough. Through the good management of the crew, however, which consisted of Capt. Dykeman, Medley Dykeman, cook and mate, Chas. Coleman, driver and Harry Briggs, fireman, the Fannie reached St. John river Tuesday morning. The captain is strongly of the opinion that there should be a good light at the entrance of Douglas Harbor, as it might be the means of saving property and many lives.

CHICKEN INCUBATOR HOLDS HUMAN TWINS.

Mites of Humanity Have a Fighting Chance for Life Through Instrumentality of Contrivance. FAIRMOUNT, Ind., Nov. 14.—Upon the effectiveness of a chicken incubator depend the lives of twins to whom Mrs. Charles Kimes gave birth. Heroic measures had to be taken to give them even a fighting chance for their lives. There being no baby incubator near, the attending physician, Dr. William M. Warner, had brought in a chicken incubator. Carefully wrapped in cotton, the youngsters were placed in the machine. Dr. Warner believes he will bring them to a normal condition by this means. The temperature of the machine is kept at 99 degrees and an attendant is constantly at the side of the infants.

THE SON OF EX- U.S. MINISTER TO ENGLAND

Commends Pe-ru-na to All Catarrh Sufferers.

Hon. Lewis E. Johnson is the son of the late Beverly Johnson who was United States Senator from Maryland, also Attorney General under President Johnson, and United States Minister to England, and who was regarded as the greatest constitutional lawyer that ever lived. In a recent letter from 1008 F St., N. W., Washington, D.C., Mr. Johnson says: "No one should longer suffer from catarrh when Peruna is accessible. To my knowledge it has caused relief to so many of my friends and acquaintances, that it is humanity to commend its use to all persons suffering with this distressing disorder of the human system."—Lewis E. Johnson.

Catarrh Poisons. Catarrh is capable of changing all the life-giving secretions of the body into scalding fluids, which destroy and inflame every part they come in contact with. Applications to the places affected by catarrh can do little good save to soothe or quiet disagreeable symptoms. Hence it is that gargaris, sprays, atomizers and inhalants only serve as temporary relief. There is but one remedy that has the desired effect, and that remedy is Peruna. This remedy strikes at once to the roots of catarrh by restoring to the capillary vessels their healthy elasticity. Peruna is not a temporary palliative, but a radical cure. Send for Dr. Hartman's latest book, sent free for a short time. Address The Peruna Drug Manufacturing Co., Columbus, Ohio.

DISTRESS IN MACEDONIA.

People are Dying From Cold and Starvation. BOSTON, Nov. 17.—The American Board of Missions today received a cablegram from W. W. Peet, its treasurer, at Constantinople, announcing that the people in the vicinity of Adrianopolis, in Macedonia, are suffering terrible distress, death by freezing and starvation starting them in the face.

These people have returned to find their homes in ruins and nothing remaining but the bare land. Rev. Dr. Geo. D. Marsh, the missionary in charge of relief work, has supplied them with tools with which to rebuild their ruined homes and to till the soil. There can be no hope of further crops until next summer. Many will have to be fed during the winter to keep them from starving. Dr. Marsh says: "Many will die in spite of all our efforts."
