JOHN D. MCNAIR'S RHODES SCHOLARSHIP STOPPING HARD

Brilliant Victoria County Lad Chosen As Fourth Representative Of U. N. B. From Eight Applicants.

Fredericton, Dec. 16.—Chancellor Jones last night officially announced the selection of John D. McNair, of Arisaig, Victoria county, a member of the class of 1911, as the Rhodes scholar from the University of New Brunswick for 1911. The selection did not come as a surprise to the students of the University, who have been showering the successful candidate with congratulations.

Mr. McNair was selected from a list of eight applicants and is the fourth in the list of Rhodes scholars sent to Oxford from the University of New Brunswick. The scholarship is of the value of £300 per annum and is tenable for three years. Mr. McNair will begin residence at Oxford next October and will take up studies to fit him for his career in the legal profession.

"Jack" McNair, as he is known to his fellow students at the University, has had a remarkably brilliant career as a scholar. He is 21 years old, having been born at Andover, a son of James McNair, head of the McNair Lumber Company. When he was very small his parents moved to Arisaig, Victoria county, where he first attended the Grammar school. Later he attended the County school at Andover and spent the last year before matriculating into the University of New Brunswick at the consolidated school at Florenceville, leading his classes at both these schools. When he entered the U. N. B. he was awarded the county scholarship for Victoria County and was one of the leaders of the matriculating class.

His career in his classes at the college has been marked by continued success. In his first year he took distinctions in mathematics and in his second year, also while in his junior year. Last year he took honors in philosophy and economics as well as distinctions in French. His examinations during the past two years he has had an average ranging from 91 to 96 in his general work, in his sophomore year having an average of 91 at the Christmas examinations, while last year his average at the Christmas examinations was 92 and 95 at the examinations at the close of the year.

In the college life at the U. N. B. "Jack" McNair has always taken a prominent part and his quiet and unassuming manner is all that has stopped his being a leader. He is a member of the track team in 1909 and each year he has played basketball with his class team in the inter-collegiate league at the University. He was also manager of the football team this year.

In the debating society he has been a prominent figure, having been a member of the University debating team last year, and at present he is the president of the debating society and the general choice for the position of leader in this year's University debating team. He is also one of the senior editors of the University Monthly and holds other positions in the student body.

Mr. McNair is the fourth Rhodes scholar from U. N. B., the others being Chester Martin, St. John, Ralph St. John Freese, of Sussex, and L. Ralph Sherman, of Fredericton.

LABOUR FLOODS FARMERS' REQUEST

temper of the delegation accurately, and convinced that the move would do good in the absolute silence, called off the resolution.

Sir Wilfrid, when the delegation had got through with its case, not knowing the student body, did not know the resolution to come along. He was compelled to get upon his feet and had to reply without having the counter effect to assist him. It will thus be seen that the whole proposal had been carefully planned and the greatest care taken that no newspaper would miss having it. As pointed out above, it pleased the speaker.

When the premier rose to address the great assembly, he was warmly greeted, and as he proceeded the applause became less frequent. When he closed his remarks in absolute silence.

The House of Commons adjourned at 6 p. m. for the Christmas holidays, and will not re-assemble until January 11.

The afternoon was spent in committee of supply, passing non-contentious items.

R. L. Borden suggested that the West farm memorials and his speeches, together with Sir Wilfrid Laurier's reply be printed for circulation.

Campbell suggested that the rumor that there may be trouble in Ireland constituted an emergency within the meaning of the navy law and drew a picture of the mobilization of the army.

BOARD OF CONTROL FIRST STEP TO TAKE

Labor Men Believes Immediate Adoption of Commission Idea Might Prove in Advance of Public Opinion.

In answer to the editorial remarks of the evening papers upon the action of the Trades and Labor council in asking that the question of adopting the Board of Control System be submitted to a vote of the citizens, a local labor man said last evening that the delegates appeared to be of the view that the commission system of government here made it advisable to refer the question to the citizens, and that the eventual form of city government in Canadian cities, but thought that conditions here made it advisable to go slow, and give the Board of Control, which is a sort of half-way house to the commission, a trial.

It was pointed out that St. John did not like German cities, possess a body of men who have made an extensive study of the civic problem, and that until the Board of Control had prepared the way it might not be advisable to dispense at once with all the civic wisdom enshrined, or embodied in the board of aldermen.

However, there was a feeling among the citizens that the present civic machinery was antiquated, and that some change should be made. The papers should publish what they know about the workings of the Board of Control and commission Government, and the Common Council should give the citizens an opportunity to say whether they want one or the other, or are content to go on as at present.
