SAFEST SOAP FOR THE SKIN

Poslam Soap, Medicated with Poslam, Possesses Rare Virtues Over Ordinary Soaps.

Poslam Soap—different from and superior to all ordinary soaps for toilet and bath—is the latest product of the Emergency Laboratories, proprietors of Poslam, the famous skin remedy.

The unique feature of Poslam Soap is that it contains Poslam in its entirety, combined with an absolutely pure soap base.

This is commendation indeed to those who know the virtue of Poslam, the marvelous healing remedy through which so many thousands of cases of eczema and other stubborn skin troubles have been completely cured.

POSAM SOAP is rendered anti-septic and germicidal. It is the safest and most soothing nursery soap and will not irritate even the tender skin of chafing infants. It improves the health, color and quality of the skin, beautifies complexion, renders the hands soft and velvety. An unusually large and heating cake; price, 25 cents; for sale by Chas. R. Wasson, "Clanton Bros., F. W. Mourie, and all druggists.

MRS. SCOTT'S SUFFERING OVER

Doctors Advised An Operation. How She Escaped Told By Herself.

Buckner, Mo.—"For more than a year I suffered agonies from female troubles and the doctors at last decided there was no help for me unless I went to a hospital for an operation. I was awfully against that operation, and as a last resort wrote to you for special advice and I told you just what I suffered with bearing down pains, backache, shooting pains in my left side, and at times I could not touch my feet to the floor without screaming. I was short of breath, had smothered spells, felt dull and draggy all the time. I could not do any work, and oh how I dreaded to have an operation."

"I received a letter full of kind advice, which I followed, and if I had only written her a year ago I would have been saved so much suffering. For today I am a well woman. I am now keeping house again and do every bit of my own work. Every one in this part of the country knows it was Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound that has restored me to health, and everywhere I go I recommend it to suffering women."—Mrs. LIZZIE SCOTT, Buckner, Mo.

If you want special advice write to Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co. (confidential) Lynn, Mass. Your letter will be opened, read and answered by a woman and held in strict confidence.

GOVERNMENT TICKET WILL SWEEP THE CITY

Candidates Receive Assurances of Support from Every Quarter and Outcome of Fight More Certain than Ever—Meetings Last Evening.

Stirring speeches full of the ring of victory, enthusiastic outbursts of applause, interpellations expressing strong feelings of confidence in the government, and large attendances featured the rallies of the government supporters held in Carleton and Victoria ward last evening. The candidates addressed both meetings, and received splendid receptions. Hon. Robert Maxwell delivered a speech in Carleton and dealt with the issues of the campaign in his usual trenchant manner. Mr. Tilley made a fine impression at both meetings and though he was the last speaker at the rally in Victoria ward developed a new note which took exceedingly well with his audience.

At the meeting in Victoria Hall W. Clawson presided and Hon. J. E. Wilson was first called on for a speech.

After some introductory remarks, Mr. Wilson said that at the last election the supporters of Mr. Hazen had made some promises to the people and he asked the audience whether they had not carried out those promises.

A voice—Every one of them. (Applause.)
Proceeding, the speaker stated that the present government had shown that it had no thought of dishonesty, when it passed its audit act making the auditor general an independent official, and retaining the old auditor who was by his political affiliations an opponent of the government.

Warrants Support.
The government, he continued, felt entitled to the support of the workingmen because it had carried out its promises to protect their interests. The government had adopted at its first session a workingmen's compensation act, providing that the worker should receive compensation for injuries received through no fault of his own and that in event of death by accident his dependents should receive compensation. Last session the government had strengthened this act, by raising the death benefit from $1,500 to $2,000, and increasing the number of occupations coming within the provisions of the act. Nobody would say that the government had done much for the workmen by passing this act.

Continuing, Mr. Wilson pointed out that the government had redeemed its promise to effect an honest collection of the territorial revenues, and went on to point out the benefits of the teachers' pensions act, the act to provide for the maintenance of a tuberculosis sanatorium at River Glade, and to assist local sanatoriums, and other progressive legislation during the past four years.

A Poor Regime.
Referring to the opposition charges, he said that the old government led by Mr. Pugsley, had given corporations extravagant privileges in the streets of St. John, and that the present government would never while he was a member of it, give any corporation such privileges as Mr. Pugsley had done.

Mr. Wilson stated he was in a position to say that the Drummonds of Montreal, were seriously considering the establishment of a steel plant at Courtenay Bay, where the iron ore from Gloucester county would be utilized.

C. B. Lockhart, the next speaker, was given a hearty reception. In opening he said he was proud to be the candidate of a government which had done so much for the province as the present one, and he felt the people of St. John would show their appreciation of good, honest government by returning the whole ticket by large majorities.

Voices—"We will," and applause.

GOVERNMENT TICKET WILL SWEEP THE CITY

Continuing, the speaker said he met a temperance man during the day who said that he had become convinced that the so-called prohibition candidate was a fraud, and that he had decided that it was his duty to support the government because of what it had done to promote the cause of temperance, and would therefore vote for the whole government ticket, and not for Mr. Kierstead as he had intended to do.

After dealing with some of the scandals of the old government, the speaker took up the temperance question. He said Mr. Kierstead was trying to ride two horses.

A voice—"That's so. But he can't do it. He's riding for a fall."
The speaker said he was a temperance man. A voice—"You're the best in the crowd."

Continuing, the speaker said that the ministers would have raised a row if the government candidates had held political meetings on Sunday, as Mr. Kierstead's friends were doing.

Thought Him No Good.
While Mr. Lockhart was dealing with the inconsistency of Mr. Kierstead in accepting the nomination of the opposition convention, and then posing as the nominee of the temperance people, a man in the audience arose and said he was at the Liberal convention when Mr. Kierstead was nominated by Mr. Pugsley, and that he would not support him, because he was no good.

Philip Grannan was greeted with loud applause. In opening he said he had no doubt the ticket would be returned by large majorities.

A voice—"You're going to win, boys."
Continuing, he remarked that his speech in the Opera House was referred to by the Telegraph as three or four well-rehearsed sentences, but he begged to assure the audience that there was more truth in those three or four sentences than in the whole Telegraph for six weeks past.

The rest of his speech was of a practical nature, and was well received.

Mr. Tilley was given a rousing reception, and delivered an interesting address along general lines.

Good Roads.
Chas. Fowler stated that he had recently visited his old homestead and had asked his nephew what he thought of the government's road policy. His nephew told him that under the old government the road taxes had been collected regularly, but that for seven years not a cent had been spent on the roads in his district. Under the present government every cent collected in the district had been expended on the roads. The speaker declared that the roads were better than he had seen them in the last twenty years.

Major F. H. Hartt, and John Tuttle favored the audience with a number of songs, and the meeting was concluded by singing the National Anthem and cheering the government and candidates.

Another most successful meeting was held in the "Prentice Boys' Hall" on the West Side, where a large and enthusiastic gathering heard the truth about the maladministration of the old government, in hearing and forcible speeches from the candidates and Hon. Robert Maxwell.

L. P. D. Tilley was the first speaker and said during the twenty years in which he had been connected with politics he had never met with so much enthusiasm as has been displayed during this election, and this alone augured well for the success of the Flemming administration.

Mr. Tilley nailed the slanderous statement published in the Telegraph which credited him with making slurring remarks about the working men. The speaker proved this to be a malicious falsehood and said it was impossible to believe anything printed in the columns of that paper. Mr. Tilley then wound up a vigorous and enthusiastic speech by asking the electors to vote for the ticket, the whole ticket and nothing but the ticket. This request was greeted with loud cheers and shouts of "you bet we will."

PROBABLY THEY DIDN'T KNOW ABOUT THE N. S. ROADS

Standard Correspondent With all Due Respect to the Telegraph Points Out that it Might Be Worse.

Special to The Standard.
Parrsboro, June 18.—If the Telegraph is seeking bad roads it should come to Nova Scotia, which has so long enjoyed Liberal government. All our highways are bad enough but the post road from Five Islands to Parrsboro is the champion bad road of the universe.

This is not the fault of the wicked Tories for the road is under the fostering care of Ralston and Carter. Half a dozen New Brunswickers who recently motored over the road will vouch for its badness.

with young Alberts, told the story to his mother. Search was made but up to an early hour this morning there was no trace of the body.

It was reported about the West End last night that a young colored lad named Alberts, son of Albert Alberts, of west end, had been drowned in the harbor. Details are lacking but the story goes that the lad, who was about 8 years old, was playing on Colwell's wharf with some companions of his own age when he fell into the water. No alarm was given at the time, but some minutes afterwards a lad named McKay who was in the interest of prohibition, and that many men had assured him he had helped them to give up drinking. This, said the speaker, is the only kind of temperance work. In closing his address Mr. Lockhart referred to the excellent work done by the Flemming administration, and asked for the support of the West Side electors on June 20th. The meeting was then brought to a close with three cheers for the King and the candidates, after which the gathering sang God Save the King.
