short toot, listen and toot again

If motorists would obey that injunction "short toot, listen and toot again" there would be fewer motor accidents and fatalities. It is the carelessness of the motorists in general regarding public safety that will eventually bring the wrath of the law hurling down upon the head of the just and unjust motorist alike and motorists who desire to avoid being penalized by stern justice should read a highly instructive and illustrated article, "Short Toot, Listen and Toot Again" appearing in the May issue of

Fine Programme At St. Luke's Church

Junior W. A. Presented Entertainment Last Evening — Programme Was Well Carried Through and Enjoyed.

The East End Improvement League are busily engaged in the preparation of a programme for a grand opening of their playgrounds on next Monday morning.

It will commence at 10 o'clock, daylight time, with a flag raising, accompanied by a chorus of children and a band. There will be short addresses by Mayor Schofield, the City Commissioners and members of the executive of the playgrounds.

After this part of the programme has been completed, the playgrounds will be opened, and the slide, swings, swinging bar, rings, etc., will be at the disposal of the children.

The East End executive are untiring in their efforts to make this a banner day, and extend a hearty invitation to all the children of the city to attend.

Races and other athletic events will be run off for the little folks, for which suitable prizes will be given. No child is too young to participate in these events, as the races will be classed for little ones of all ages.

TIE-ON SLEEVELESS SWEATER

Among the latest of sweaters is the tie-on sweater. This model is somewhat like the scarf-knitted in a straight piece with the neck opening and the underarm seams not sewed but left open. Cast on 88 stitches with No. 5 needles, knit 25 inches. Bind off 24 stitches in centre of neck. Neck opening is knitted six inches long on one side; second side is then made; and the two sides joined again by casting on the 24 central stitches. Knit until front is like the back. Try on and locate the waistline desired. At this point pick up 29 stitches on each side of front and knit each long enough to go around back and cross and to the front and tie. Finish ends of each and sweater with three inch fringe if desired.

two little boys. The family had come from the Crimea, where they had lived a hard-mouth existence for a year or so, their only home being a railroad car. They seemed relieved to get among civilized comforts again, and enjoyed being entertained by the English colony here. They have now left for Denmark to visit the Grand Duchess' royal relatives.

Royal Oak Tires

"Tougher than Oak"

Records, on file in our offices, show that the mileage of Royal Oak Tires amply justifies the term "tougher than oak," while our moderate charges, prove that a top-notch price doesn't necessarily go with a first-class product.

That's the kind of a tire the Royal Oak is.

Who Are the Mormons?

ELDER JENSEN SAYS:—Those who really know the Mormons as they are, give them the best possible name. "I never met a people so free from sensualism and immorality of every kind as the Mormons are."—Olive N. Robinson. "We must admit that Salt Lake City is one of the most quiet, orderly and moral places in the world."—Bayard Taylor. "Account for it how we may, the Mormons were in many important respects morally, socially and industrially far in advance of their neighbors."—Chambers' Encyclopedia, Vol. 10, p. 215. "If we believed the bible as much as the Mormons do, we would be far better Christians than we are."—Henry Ward Beecher. "Their (the Mormons) young men and women lead beautiful and wholesome lives."—Ella Wheeler Wilcox. "Indeed, among these Mormons the standard of sexual morality was unusually high."—Roosevelt. "I am proud of the Mormons."—Senator Ashhurst, in U. S. Senate.

HER MISSION HAS BEEN FULFILLED

The Spirit of Joan of Arc Today Unites the People of Britain and France.

Paris, May 21.—In an article which Le Martin published recently, former President Poincaré, writing of the canonization of Joan of Arc, says that the spirit of the "Maiden of Orleans" links France and England today in a unity upon which depends the future peace of the world.

"It is today," he says, "that Joan of Arc holds the last part of her mission in bringing together forever in the sacredness of her memory, the heroes of those she sought to push out of her kingdom and the descendants of the chivalry who fought beneath her banner."

"From the flames which burned Joan of Arc came the spirit of light and truth which has finally associated, in common accomplishment after long centuries of misunderstanding, the peoples of France and England. Joan gave to the wavering and uncertain people a dynasty around which was formed our national unity."

"She made possible the France of Francis the First, of Henry the Fourth, of Louis the Fourteenth, of the revolution and of today. If at the time she helped expel England from the Continent, she simply convinced our neighbors across the Channel to their national destiny and in reconciling them, in spite of themselves, to their mutual traditions, she prepared them to assume the mastery of the seas. For long centuries the two peoples, seated on opposite sides of the Channel, regarded each other

HEART SO BAD WAS NOT SAFE TO LEAVE HER ALONE

Miss Eva P. Yatsman, Krugersdorf, Ont., writes:—"I feel that I must write and tell you of the great benefit I have received from Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills. About four years ago I was taken terribly bad with heart, nerves and fainting spells, and was down in bed for about six months. I doctored with two different doctors and seemed to get better, although the fainting spells would not leave me. I would take such terrible falls, wherever I was, that it was not safe to leave me alone at any time. At last I decided to resort to proprietary medicine and took several different kinds, but seemed to receive little benefit from them. One day noticing the advertisement of Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills I decided to try them, and before I had taken more than two boxes I could see they were helping me. I have taken about ten boxes, and am almost cured of those terrible spells. I sincerely feel that your medicine has proved a blessing to me, and I advise any one troubled with their heart to try them, as I am confident they will find relief."

Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills are 50c. a box at all dealers or mailed direct on receipt of price by The T. J. Milburn Co., Limited, Toronto, Ont.
