

The Presentation in the Temple. Luke 2: 22-39.

Commentary .- I. Jesus presented in the temple (vs. 22-24.) According to the the temple (vs. 22-24.) According to the Mosaic law (Lev. 12) Mary went to the xiii. 8 we read of "the Lambslain from temple forty days after the birth of Jesus, that she might be made ceremonially clean and have a place in the congregation of Israel. The sacrifice on gregation of Israel. The sacrifice of the patriarchs and of the Mosaic law, such an occasion was a yearling lamb together with the various rites and ceremonise. Dointed to "the Lamb of God, and a young pigeon or a turtle dove, but the law provided that, if one could not afford a lamb, two young pigeons or two turtle doves would be accepted. Mary's poverty was such as to requirea her to bring two birds as her sacrifice. Another eeason for the visit of Joseph and Mary with Jesus to the temple at this time was to present him to the Lord. According to law every first-born son was holy to the Lord, that is, it was originally designed that he should be the priest of the family, but the tribe of Levi was chosen instead, and the first-born son was to be presented be-fore the Lord and redeemed at the price of five shekels, or about three dollars. Jesus was thus redeemed.

II. A devoted saint (vs. 25-28.) 25. Si-The same as Simon. It was not an uncommon name among the Jews. Some have supposed that Simeon was the father of Gameliel, but there is nothing definitely known about him be-yond what is here recorded. Justyond what is here recorded. Just-Righteous."—R. V. HMe was careful in "Righteous."—R. V. HME was careful in his observance of the law and just with his fellow men. Devout—He had an inward religious life. He was devoted to God and he loved him and worshipped him from the heart. Waiting for the consolation of Israel—"May I see the consolation of Israel—"May I see the consolation of Israel!" was a common Jewish formula, and a prayer for the advent of the Messiah was daily used. —Farrar. Simeon was waiting, not list—lessly and idly, but devotedly, prayerfully, trustingly, and at the same time action of the Lord. Israel's consolation was to be in the promised Messiah. The Holy Ghost was upon him-He was fully devoted to God and enjoyed that purity of heart that is brought about by the operation of the Holy Spirit. Alford says, "Simeon possessed that higher form of spiritual life expressed in the earliest day by "walk-ing with God." 26. Was revealed unto him by the Holy Ghost—He ha! an express communication from God concerning the subject.—Clarke.

27. Came by the Spirit into the temple—The Spirit led the holy man into the temple at the time that Jesus was being brought. The mature saint and the young Messiah met, and the venerrepresentative of the old law did profound homage to the infant and di-vine founder of the new gospel.—Whe-don. Simeon went often to the temple, but on this occasion he was especially directed and probably at a time when he would not ordinarily have been there. The Spirit was in him and he was led by the Spirit. After the custom of the der verses 22.24. Then took he him up

The song of Simcon in an expression of his supreme satisfaction in realizing his highest hopes. isfaction in realizing his highest hopes. He was ready to depart since he had seen the Lord. "Though Simeon," says Clarke, "means his death, yet the thing itself is not mentioned; for death has not only lost its sting, but its name also, to those who have, even by faith, seen the Lord's anointed." Lydia E. have seen the salvation Simeon have seen the salvation—Simeon had literally seen the infant Saviour. The word rendered "salvation" includes, not the Messiah only, but the wno.e pian for the deliverance of the world from the dominion of Satan. He saw Carst, and, seeing him, he saw the fulfilment of the prophecies pertaining to his nature and his work. Jesus brought the news and promise of salvation, he made an atonement for sin, he invites all to obtain salvation and he works out the salvation vation and he works out the salvation in us by the operation of the Holy Spirit.

Both John, the forerunner, and Christ, the Saviour, had appeared and had been recognized in their respective offices. Before the face their respective offices. Before the face of all people—In the presence of the people, publicly. 32. To lighten the Gentiles—The prophecies concerning Christ represent His as coming to bring salvation to all nations. See Psa. xeviii. 2, 3; Isa. xlii. 6, xlix. 6. The covering that enveloped the Gentiles is taken away in Christ (Isa. xxv. 7). The glory of Thy people Israel—Christ would be to the true Israel a glorious fulfilment of their people Israel a glorious fulfilment of their hopes and desiree. He first came to them, but His mission included the entire world.

33. Marvelled-Joseph and Mary had many things already kept in their hearts, and Simeon's proppecy added still more to their astonishment. They must have been convinced that in Jesus the been convinced that in Jesus the pro-phecies were being fulfilled. 34. Blessed them—Pronounced a blessing upon them. Is set—Is placed, or fixed. The figure there came also bitter sorrow and dis tress. Thought revealed—In the acceptance or rejection of Christ would be disclosed the attitude of heart of those whom He came to save.

IV. Anna the prophetess (vs. 36-39).
36. Anna, a prophetess—Some think that she was rather an instructor in holy things than one who foretold future events, but it is clear that she gave a prophecy regarding the work of Christ (v. 38). Aser—The tribe of Asher is lost to history, but there were individuals of that tribe that joined with Judah in the great Passover of Hezekiah (II. Chron. xxx, 1-11). Gave thanks likewise—Her faith, piety and devotion, through the illumination of the Holy Spirit, enabled her instantly to recognize the infant Christ, and she had no hesitancy in declaring His Messiphship. by the Spirit. After the custom of the law—To present him before the Lord and to redeem him. This is explained under verses 22-24. Then took he him up Herod, the flight into Egypt and the return.

Questions.-What is the meaning of Questions.—What is the meaning of the name Jesus? At what age was Jesus presented in the temple? Who was Simeon? What four things are said about his religious character? What revelation had he received from God? How did he recognize the child Jesus? What prophecy did he utter regarding Christ? Regarding Mary? Who was Anna? What did she do when he saw the child?

I. Was granted unto Simeon. We have a very short biography of Simeon, giving a concise and exact amount of the whole man, his name, his abode, his character, his faith and his spiaitual standing. His devout spirit adorned his justice and his just spirit strengthened his devotion. He was just in his character before men and devout in his character before God. In him we have a lesson of trust of New Testament believer. His song is the last mote of the psalmody of the Old Testament. This song gives us a glimpse of the man himself, for in it his habitual beliefs, convictions and hopes rise to their highconvictions and hopes rise to their high-est and most confident expression. To the prophecies which Simeon addressed to Mary concerning her divine Son he added one relating to herself. He gave a hint of Gethsemane and of Calvary, the first announcement that the way of the holy child must be the way of sorrow, the first foreshadowing of the passion found in the New Testament. Mary's joy was too great at that moment to be destroyed by his words. It was only chastened by a shade of impending sorrow. But the youthful Mary pending sorrow. II. Was bestowed on Anna. Before the day of Pentecost was fully come, there were tokens of it in the prophetic flashes which shone out from the souls of Simeon and Anna. She had lived through the long, sad period of war, con-quest and oppression which had intensi-fied in every Jewish heart the yearning for national deliverance by the promised Messiah. Deepest in Anna's soul was the longing for the redemption promised. She dwelt not so much upon the thought of consolation as upon redemption. The seemingly hopeless exile of her own tribe, the political state of Judea, its condition, social, moral and religious, all kindled in her deep, earnest longing for the time of promised redemption. Her soul quickly caught the spiritual illum-ination which possessed Simeon and which was expressed in his song and prophecy. She knew to whom such a would be welcome and she devoutly plared to them the glad tidings of the Redeemer's appearance on earth, in the

Till Dr. Morse's Indian Root Pills cured his Kidney Trouble

There are few diseases that cause more acute suffering than Kidney Trouble, and Mr. F. A. Thomas, of Sudbury Ont., is one of those who know it. He writes: "For over three years I suffered from kidney disease. First I thought I had sprained my back, for suddenly the pain would catch the small of my back and it would be impossible for me to straighten myself up for several minutes. A dull ache across the kidneys was always present, my urine was thick and cloudy, and passing it caused a burning, scalding pain. Tried medicines, but they failed. I was advised to try Dr. Morse's Indian Root Pills, as they had cured my wife years before. A few boxes affected a years before. A few boxes affected a complete cure. I now enjoy the blessings of good health, which is due to this remedy.

Don't neglect kidney trouble—it's too dangerous as well as too painful. That old, reliable family remedy, Dr. Morse's Indian Root Pills, has cured thousands and will cure you. It is equally effective in curing constipation and its attendant evils, biliousness, indigestion and sick headaches, and in purifing the blood—25c a box at your druggist's.

New Year Plans For the Garden

(John Gall, Weston, Ont., in the Canadian Horticulturist.)

At this season many flower growers are laying their plans for next summer's gardens. In garden work there is a starting point as in all other business operations, and it is impossible to succeed without beginning at this point. Start slowly; avoid extravagance; do not cultivate beyond your knowledge; begin with plants that succeed under adverse circumstances, and learn from them how to grow other and more diffi-cult subjects. Do not think because your neighbor spends hundreds or per-haps it may be thousands upon plants annually, that it is really necessary for you to do likewise. On the contrary, bear in mind that he is the best gardener who produces the best and largest crops at the least expense.

In the beginning plan to work your soil deep, make it rich and keep it elean then you will have made a good start; continue to keep your garden clean and you will be the winner in the race. Make you will be the winner in the race. Make up your mind to give the weeds to understand from the beginnin that your garden is not their home. Keep your soil so well worked around your plants that weeds cannot grow. This will make the plants your active, growing friends. They will be faithful to you as long as you are faithful to them.

For sowing select seeds of some of the most choice annuals, such as petunias, calendulas, zinnias, balsams, phlox, mignonette, nasturtiums, dianthus, salvia and asters. A packet of these will cost but fifty cents each. A few genuine mixed gladiolus and other bulbs will not cost much more, and all together will give you a beautiful flower garden—one that will afford much pleasure and at the same time stimulate you to and at the same time stimulate you to greater effort.

WHAT TO AVOID.

Do not run wild after novelties. Bear in mind that high-priced seeds, bulbs or plants to not necessarily give the most beautiful flowers or finest display. Supply and demand regulate prices. A plant that was plentiful and cheap thirty years ago may now sell at a substantial figure because of its rarity. Therefore start cheaply, buy a dozen of plants or packets of seed for a dollar instead of only one plant or one packet, and when you have become thoroughly accounted. you have become thoroughly acquainted with the culture of these, and can man-age them well, you can safely indulge in some of the more expensive binds some of the more expensive kinds.

Many people who take but little interest in their gardens at first, become suc-cessful and even enthusiastic over the work as they become acquainted with plants and interested in their growth. Such people soon get hobbies, which they are apt to ride at a furious rate until all out of breath. They want and will have every variety of the plant with which they are smitten. Such gardeners we find exceedingly useful: you can we find exceedingly useful; you can learn from they what not to buy—infor-mation of far greater value than to cnow what to buy.

The secret of success in gardening is selection, a thorough knowledge of plant and their various requirements before purchasing. Many flowers will succeed well in a given locality where others will not; therefore it is of the greatest importance to know plants and the place you have for them. You may rest place you have for them. You may rest assured that where grass and weeds will grow flowering plants will, provided weeds are kept down. Start cheaply but with a determination to succeed, until you know what you are able to do; then be governed by your taste and the means you have to gratify it.

VEGETABLE JOTS.

Asparagus grows readily from seed. One ounce is sufficient for about fifty et of drill.

It is time to begin planning the garden for next summer. Select your seeds and Peppers need a rich, sandy loam and requent cultivation.—G. Bremner, Burlington, Ont.

In bleaching celery, care must be taken not to have more of the early crop boarded in than will be sold within two weeks. It is better to have it green when marketing it than to have it overbleached.—George Smye.

Tomato seed should be sown in the frame about ten works before it is seef-frame about ten weeks before it is safe to set the plants in the open ground. As soon as they are large enough to handle set them out two inches apart in another frame and as they grow stronger transplant again at four inches. This produces stocky plants. Every time they are moved increases the chance for earliness.

Our tests of vegetables have proven very interesting. We now have in progress tests of thirty-three early and late varieties. Some are probably new to a considerable portion of the public, and have merit, while a large proportion appear to be well known varieties under a different name, and frequently the name is made up of a number of descroptive adjectives which are miglead. scroptive adjectives which are mislead scroptive adjectives which are mislead-ing. I have distinct recollection of oen variety in our test that is being sold-under four names. Work of this kind is unfortunate, and something should be done to straighten out the jumble of meaningless names and place them on a basis that is reasonably accurate and reasonably scientific.—Prof. C. E. Myers, State College, Pa.

The market this morning is easier in practically everything. Choice cattle cannot be said to be firm and all medium and common stuff is off 15c to 25c. Sheep and lambs are a great deal easier. With prices off 25c to 35c cn sheep, and 25c to 50c on lambs. The run is slightly heavier than yesterday afternoon, because some cattle that were delayed on the road yesterday have arrived to-day. Milk cows are not in very great demand, and are not bringing first class prices. Hog prices are not any stronger and the run is also light.

Receipts show 117 cars, with 1,500 cattle, 1,300 sheep, 1,500 hogs and 205 calves.

There was some demand for feeding builts, for which $3.60 per 100 pounds was plad, but the trade on the whofe was slow. There was also an easier feeding on the market for milch cows, owing to the more liberal offerings. The condition of the market for small meats was unchanged, but prices for all lines being stetady on account of the smallefferings for which there was a good demand, and an active trade was done. Choice calves were scarce and wanted, a few good ones selling as high as $12 to $15 each. did chance for sewing or embroidery; but her eyes suffer from the strain unless she has a good light. The Rayo is the best lamp made.

It gives a strong, diffused light that is remarkably easy to the eyes. There is no glare to it; no flicker. It lights up a whole room.

The Rayo is an economical lamp, too.
You get the most possible light-value for the oil burned; and the Rayo itself is a low-priced lamp. Yet it is a handsome lamp—an ornament to any room in the house.

The Rayo Lamp is easily lighted without removing shade or chimney; easy to clean and rewick.

Made of solid brass, nickel-plated; also in numerous other etyles and finishes.
