

CONTENTS

| CHAPTER |                                                                     | PAGE |
|---------|---------------------------------------------------------------------|------|
| I.      | HOW THE YANG-TSE DESERTED SHI-SHOU                                  | 11   |
| II.     | A CHINESE PRODIGAL . . . . .                                        | 17   |
| III.    | KOH PROVES HIMSELF A FRIEND IN NEED                                 | 21   |
| IV.     | FROM OPIUM DEN TO CHURCH—AND BACK                                   | 29   |
| V.      | THE ONLY HYMN IN THE BOOK . . . .                                   | 41   |
| VI.     | "I WANT TO WITNESS" . . . . .                                       | 55   |
| VII.    | CHENG'S FIRST SERMON . . . . .                                      | 68   |
| VIII.   | A MINISTER AND A WITNESS . . . .                                    | 73   |
| IX.     | FULL OF THE HOLY GHOST AND WISDOM                                   | 83   |
| X.      | CHENG'S FIRST SPIRITUAL SON AND GRAND-SON IN NAN-CHOU . . . . . | 91   |
| XI.     | HOW YANG AND HSIE FCGAVE THEIRENEMIES . . . . .                 | 107  |
| XII.    | THE MANDARIN, THE GENTRY AND THECATHOLICS . . . . .             | 117  |
| XIII.   | WE START AN OPIUM REFUGE . . . .                                    | 123  |
| XIV.    | CHRISTMAS AT NAN-CHOU . . . . .                                     | 132  |
| XV.     | "INSTANT IN SEASON, OUT OF SEASON" .                                | 143  |
| XVI.    | OUR CHURCH RULES AND WHAT THE MAN-DARIN THOUGHT OF THEM . . . . | 153  |
| XVII.   | SOME STRANGE INQUIRERS AND CONVERTS                                 | 166  |
| XVIII.  | THE PARTING . . . . .                                               | 179  |