New Baunswick Coming to a Head.—A writer from St. John's, N. B., has recently addressed a letter to the Editor of the Montreal Courier, in which he says, "that the feeling for Independence and Annexation is more widely spread" in New Brunswick than he believes it to be in Canada. "The only difficulty in the way is, our leading men hesitate about taking a bold stand. But the stand once taken, the thing will rapidly gather head." Don't be in too much of a hurry. Take it coolly. Wait a little, till we dispose of California and New Mexico. Then Canada and Cuba may come together; but Nova Scotia and New Brunswick can only be counterbalanced by Jamaica, or another slice of Mexico. We must share and share about, or there will be trouble in the family. Don't let Annexation come to a head too fast in New Brunswick, or it may fizzle out before the time comes. Keep cool.—

ELOPEMENT AND MARRIOS—DECEPTION UPON A FATHER.—On Friday night last, Mr. Thomas B.—and Miss Matilds G.—, of this city, eloped to Covington, and were married. On Friday it was discovered by the father that his daughter had made an "arrangement" to leave him, to marry a man he had forbidden her hand, and he was determined to keep "an eye" on her. It had ter had made an "arrangement" to leave him, to marry a man he had forbidden her hand, and he was determined to keep "an eye" on her. It had been arranged, had her father had found it put, and she knew it that the young lady should meet the young gentleman and lover together at a certain place in a carriage, and go to Covington. After dinner, the father was anted, much to his surprise, to accompany his daughter to the very place of meeting which had been appointed, and they were to start at 4 o'clock. So, the father went about his business this the appointed time—returning, he found his daughter had started before his return. In valid as isosight her, but knowing they would cross in the ierry boat, he stationed himself on it, and hailed every carriage that passed, but found no daughter. At length as empty carriage came abread, sad, on the same trip, a ranged cripple, limping as usually, and staring about as though he had never seen a boot before. He was accompanied by a yout that looking personage in male attire. The forey host passed over, and the carriage stopped at the foot of the hill for the driver to arrange the hursens, (all pretext.) and the ranged boy and comparison waited there until the boat again showed of to venture to this side. Then by any man and the father, who was still on watch, and total him what had been done, and have he had been cheated by the ranged by and havelef in boy's clothes, and then she mildly asted page's parties, which, retuctantly was granted, and the bride, bridegroup, and the old gentleman rode bone together, making an interest and home together, making an interest and home one of the prices of the page had a design and the bride, bridegroup, and the old gentleman rode bone together, making an interest many and the side of the large and home one of the prices of the prices and home one of the page.

The Sherbrooke Gasetie, one of the ablest of our country papers, has come out boildy and marrially in favor of Annexation, and we trust that the Township folks will give it their patronage. Some of the best statistical articles we have yet seen, instituting comparisons between the United States and Canada, have been published in this journal. By the way, what has become of our constemporary's Montreal correspondent? He used to write very able and circumstantial letters, and at this crisis it would be as well to have them regularly furnished, for, to a certain and increasing existent, the public opinion of Montreal directs that of the rest of the Province.
