AS TO SUMMER RESORTS

Women Can Stand Them Much Better Than Men.

But They Are Great Places for Small Potatoes Such as Cheap Clerks and Other Lesser Lights.

It is a commonplace to say that there are a great many things in this world that don't come up to the prospect.

Viewed from afar it looks like the fellow who had the time and money to do the society visible supply of human happiness.

Then, too, there is no other such panacea for wounded vanity. In town, in winter, those of us who don't own automobiles and pockets full of theatre tickets and can't afford to set up bottles and birds very often, are pretty apt to find ourselves passed up for some fellow with a bigger wad.

Well, that's the way I figured it out, and about two weeks ago I gathered up my glad rags and started off to pose as the only pebble on the beach at a fashionable summer resort.

Then it dawned on me that I would have to dance with that whole ballroom full of girls or else be an inhuman monster, and the thought sent the cold perspiration down my spine, and made my knees smite together until they sounded like castanets.

It's a sight that goes to my heart, and I did the best I could. I danced with them in single file, by two, by companies and battalions and platoons, and I humbly feel that the miles I two-stopped during my brief vacation has been accounted unto me for righteous.

I have always envied those fortunate youths who occupied the center of the social stage and had the limelight always playing on them, but I begin to see that they have troubles of their own. It's one thing to have a pretty girl show a partiality for your society, and another to have 40 all apparently dying to back in your smile.

Then the things those girls could think of doing! I tell you feminine ingenuity is something diabolical. There was one girl who had a mania for flagging mountains, and every time I poked my head out of the door she tried to inveigle me into sprinting off up a hill with her.

Then the things the girls want! You know it's the fashion for girls to make collections of things to take home, and brag about next winter. This is the batman Cholly gave me at Long Branch. This is the cane Dick made me take the day he proposed to me when we climbed the White mountain.

Great idea, isn't it? Gives Maude and Mayme and Sadie such a beautiful opening to brag, and they make up such nice fairy tales to go with every article, but it's rough on the man. Why, I went away with a set of shirt buttons, and sleeve links and hat bands

YANKEE FOOTBALL

Will be Played by American Athletes in Dawson.

A movement is on foot among the American athletes in the city to organize an intercollegiate football eleven for the purpose of playing the noble game as it is played in the States.

Women can stand summer resorts. They are built that way, but as for me, give me my lowly office on the seventh floor, where the cool breeze of the electric fan can play upon me, and I will have nothing to do but work.

Shy on Officials. Skagway, and in fact Southeastern Alaska, is at present very poorly represented by judicative officials.

These gentlemen all being absent at one and the same time works a great hardship on the administration of justice, as unless the marshal catches a culprit in the act of committing a misdemeanor, he cannot procure a warrant for his arrest.

On the last trip of the Islander two worthless characters, Bryant and Onslow, formerly actors at the Peerless theater, got out of town without paying their bills, as there was no one in town to issue a warrant for their arrest.

Was No Breaking Off. "See here, Daniel," began the old farmer when he had cornered his son out by the corn crib, "what's this here circletin' round 'mong the neighbors 'bout you and Patience breakin' off yer engagement?"

"Nuttin' to it 'tall," with a sullen tone and look. "Blamed funny. I never see so much smoke where there wasn't some fire. Did you and her have some words?"

"I said there wasn't no breaking off, didn't I? What's the use of cross questionin' a feller like 'e was on the witness stand?"

"Lots of use, my young man. Hain't I tele you more time 'n you've got fingers and toes that my mind and m's mind is sot on this here marriage?"

"Don't our farms line, and isn't she a only child, and hain't you a only child? Hain't you got so gumtion nor common sense?"

"She said not. She said I didn't know enough to peel biled potatoes afore eatin' 'em or to keep awake when I was a-courtin' of her."

"She hain't so fur wrong, neither. And what did you say?"

"I tol' her she didn't have interleck enough to talk so's to keep nobody awake and that if I was a-pickin' and a-choosin' fur beauty she'd be at the foot of the class. That's what I tol' her."

"Well?"

"She ordered me to git out and said of she ever see me on that farm from hencefor'ard she'd 'et the dogs on me, and I tol' her the dogs would have a confounded easy time of it so fur as I was concerned. But there was no breakin' off."

Sad Death.

News of the death of a loved one is an exceptionally heart-breaking blow in a settled community at home and among friends, but such news, with all the sad incidents of bereavement, received on the northern frontier, is terrible.

A short time ago Mrs. H. A. Gillis, accompanied by her daughter, hurried through Skagway for Dawson to attend the bedside of a sick husband and father, a mine owner on Hunker.

At Whitehorse Mrs. Gillis was taken sick and her physician advised her not to continue the journey, and as she received word from her husband that he was much better, she decided to let her daughter continue the journey to Dawson, while she would return home.

Having recovered from her short illness she saw her daughter safely started for Dawson and returned to Vancouver. On the trip down she contracted a bad cold and shortly after reaching Vancouver, and before she could let the loved ones know in the Klondike of her illness, pneumonia claimed her as its victim.—Alaskan.
