MARCHING ON CAPE HAYTIE

Government Assailed on Three Sides

Revolutionists Under Fiermin Are Likely to Capture the Provincial Capital.

Washington, July 25.—Advices from Cape Haytien say an army from the department of Artibont and from dispartments of sympathy with M. Fiermin, who has been declared president by the revolutionists, is marching on Cape Haytien on three sides. Gen. Albert Gaspard has arrived at Plaisance, where Emile Gaspard reached Doneon and Gen. Thesse Moniston is moving on St. Raphael and Trou. Gen. Alex. Nord, minister of war of the provisional government, is still at the capital but contemplates leaving Cape Haytien to take charge of troops relied upon to defend Port au Prince. The population is in a state of uneasiness, believing the town will shortly be attacked by the force under Fiermin. No news has been received of the movement of the warship Crete-Pirrot, but it is feared she may land troops to support M.

Captain's Excuse.

New York, July 25.—The captain of the Argonauts' Henley crew has just returned home. He ascribes the loss of the race to his crew having the wrong side of the river. He says "We can beat them and will do it next year."

Fire at Albany.

Albany, N.Y., July 25.—One fireman is dead, four are at a hospital and a monetary loss of half a million dollars exists as the result of a fire in the business part of this city last night.

LIMITED EXPRESS

From St. Louis For New York Wrecked

While Running Seventy Miles an Hour—Engineer and Mail Clerks Killed.

Columbus, July 25.—An appalling wreck occurred at Trebains, Ohio, last night when the limited express from St. Louis for New York crashed into a wild flat car coming down grade while going seventy miles an hour. Three bodies have been taken from the wreck. The engineer was burned to a crisp. Four others are missing. Sixteen passengers were injured. Both postal clerks were scalded to death.

Death From Economy

It is reported that a man in Chicago took an economical streak and decided not to buy anything he could possibly dispense with, so in taking his bath he used nature's toilet articles (his hands), scratched himself, blood poison set in, death resulted. Moral: Always use only the best sponges, bath brushes and toilet soaps. You can get them at Cribbs, the Druggist, at prices that will surprise you.

TELEGRAPHERS STRIKE

For several weeks trouble has been brewing in the Dominion telegraph service and tonight it culminates in the entire force walking out, for at 6 o'clock the operators will close their instruments and communication with the outside will be a very uncertain quantity, at least until satisfactory arrangements are made by which the men either return to work or their places are taken by others imported from the outside. The grievances of the men are so many that it is a source of wonder that they have tolerated the existing conditions as long as they have. Underpaid, underfed and treated as though they had no sense of feeling, there is not even a dishwasher in the cheapest restaurant in the city who has not been better off. Many of the operators along the line have not received a cent of salary in over a year and there is not a man in the entire service who has been paid up to date.

NEW RATES RECEIVED

Special Tariff on Hay and Oats

Potatoes and Onions Also Come in Under the Special Commodity.

Agent Rogers of the White Pass route has received notification of a special commodity tariff that goes into effect August 1, which will be of interest to all shippers of goods embraced therein. The new tariff covers hay, oats, potatoes and onions, and will expire with the close of navigation.

From Seattle, Tacoma, Vancouver, Victoria and other Puget Sound points the rate on hay when in lots of over seven tons will be $3 per hundred; on oats in lots over ten tons, $2.75; on potatoes and onions in straight or mixed shipments, less than car load lots, $4.25; same in car lots, $4.

A similar rate is also made from Skagway. On hay, seven tons or over, and oats, ten tons or over, flat rate of $2.50. On potatoes and onions, straight or mixed, car lots of minimum weight of 20,000 pounds, $3.50; same less than car lots, $3.85. The rate from Skagway does not include wharfage.

The local office has also received special notice to shippers in reference to the date upon which through rates expire, August 20. The notice says:

"After that date (August 20) bills of lading will only be issued to Whitehorse, but the White Pass and Yukon route will continue their through rates and through billing to Dawson so long as in our judgment the conditions on the Yukon river will admit."

The effect of the notice is that though the road will continue their through billing to Dawson and the same rates will remain in force until the close of navigation bills of lading will be issued only as far as Whitehorse, thus relieving the company of responsibility in case of a sudden freeze up, delivery beyond Whitehorse after that date being not guaranteed. Last year a similar notice was issued and it is a notable fact that at the close of navigation there was not a pound of freight left in the warehouse at Whitehorse.

KOYUKUK A DEAD ONE

Two Prospectors Fail to Raise a Color

Arrive on the Kerr After a Tough Experience of 14 Days on the Trail.

Two men arrived this morning on the Robert Kerr who have a very small opinion of Coldfoot and the Koyukuk. One of them is named Ambrose Ven and to a Nugget representative he did not hesitate to express his contempt for that camp and anyone who would recommend it as a good place for a prospector. Ven in company with several others left here over the ice last February the 18th and after a long, hard trip arrived in Coldfoot in due season. He is anything but a campfire-pro prospector and had been in the new diggings but a few days when he struck out to see what he could find. According to his story he prospected Hammond river, Glacier creek and the north fork of the Koyukuk without finding as much as a color. He says further that at the time he left there were but six claims being worked in the entire country and that on the majority of them it costs a dollar to take out every dollar's worth of dust. Of the claims in operation there is one on Hammond river, two on Hammond creek, and one each on Emma, Glacier and Myrtle creeks. Work has been suspended on Gold bench and everyone who can raise the price is getting out of the country, the majority going down the river to Nome. Grub is high, there is not a four-bit piece to be seen and taken altogether Ven considers it about as tough a proposition as he ever went up against.

He and his partner, a German by name of Stoney, left Coldfoot July 1 taking the overland trail to the head of the Chandelar, a distance of 70 miles which ordinarily is made in three days unless the pack carried is too heavy. The trail in the summer is a hard one to follow, it being so badly cut up by moose trails, and unless one is familiar with the country or well known landmarks they are quite liable to get lost. Such a misfortune befell Ven and his companion and instead of being three days to the head of the Chandelar and the same length of time to the mouth of the river they were fourteen days making the trip. The whole country in the vicinity of the divide between the Koyukuk and the Chandelar is on fire and at times the clouds hung so low and the smoke was so dense that for days the sun could not be seen. On leaving Coldfoot the men traveled as light as possible, their stock of provisions being only sufficient to carry them through and allowing for no delay. When out a little over a week they ate their last morsel, from which time they were compelled to subsist on the r gun, killing a few ptarmigan and rabbits. The last three days, however, they evidently ran out of the game country, as they failed to find even as much as a ground squirrel and had nothing whatever to eat save a few berries. When they finally struck the Chandelar they were some distance below the east fork, having been compelled to make a number of wide detours in order to get around the extensive fires encountered. As soon as they reached the Chandelar they managed to get together a raft upon which they floated down to 30 miles below Fort Yukon where they were picked up by the Robert Kerr. Stoney worked his way up on the wood pile. When taken aboard the Kerr both men were nearly famished with hunger.

For Richfield Cameron.

Several movements are on foot for the benefit of the unfortunate boy, Richfield Cameron, who lost his right leg while at play Wednesday evening. A number of ladies and gentlemen are moving in the matter and a number of his young playmates will arrange for a juvenile minstrel show for the poor lad's benefit. He is reported today as doing very well at the hospital.

OPPOSITION ORGANIZED

To Down Government in Election

Mass Meeting to be Held Monday Night When Platform Will be Launched.

A meeting was held last night for the purpose of presenting a united opposition to the government in the forthcoming political campaign. Mr. Prudhomme was elected chairman and Mr. Patterson secretary. After some discussion as to the best means to avoid future complications it was unanimously agreed to launch the campaign from a mass meeting. This was considered to be the only course to get the people to outline their own policy in the shape of a platform as a basis on which to organize for the calling of a grand public convention to nominate the candidate. A committee consisting of Mr. Prudhomme, chairman, Mr. Patterson, Mr. Rivard, Dr. Catto and Mr. Sparling was appointed to call the mass meeting at an early date. They have decided that a mass meeting will be held on the evening of Monday, the 28th, at 8:30 for the purpose of revising the platform and proceeding with the opposition organization. The place of meeting will be duly advertised.

Tomorrow Night

Tomorrow night at 10 o'clock in the Orpheum theatre Nick Burley and Joe Martin will meet in a ten-round contest, the agreement being that Burley is to stop Martin before the end of the tenth round or forfeit all stakes and door receipts.

Both men are in fine form and Burley has begun to realize that he is against the hardest proposition he has met in the Yukon.

Martin is confident that he will win everything in sight. The advance sale of tickets is large and, the prices being reasonable, are within reach of all.

Martin is from Cleveland, Ohio, and has a long list of victories to his credit.

GINZBERG AFTERMATH

Litigation in the Yukon Comes High

Of Judgements Amounting to $2,024.75 Only $141.25 Remains After Expenses.

R. M. Brown was in police court this morning on the charge of threatening Harry Hamberger with physical violence.

The charge and the cause for it are the aftermath of the well remembered Ginzberg escapade. The father and son skipped off down the river owing many bills; in Dawson. They were followed by Harry Hamberger and overtaken at Eagle. As is well remembered, the various accounts were turned over to Hamberger for collection and he made the Ginzbergs disgorge. Of these accounts R. M. Brown held a number for collection and he as agent placed them in Hamberger's hands at Eagle.

It was after the waterfront magistrate received the following statement, a copy of which was supplied each creditor by Mr. Hamberger, that the alleged threat of violence was made:

Table with 2 columns: Expense, Amount. Includes Electric Supply Co., Yukon Machine Co., Gasoline, Hamberger and Williams, personal expenses, Repairs of launch, paid to Busch, Repairs of launch, paid to Englebrecht, Wires to Eagle, Sheriff, capias, etc., Hire of gasoline launch, McGowan, law costs, Accountant, making up account, N.
