MORE THINKING. LESS TALKING

An observant writer in a New York paper speaks of President Coolidge's quiet and dignified attitude, in the coming election, with respect. Evidently the president has no great faith in the "brass band campaign." He remembers that if he is a presidential candidate, he is also and first and foremost the President.

Again, Coolidge makes comparatively few public speeches. When he does speak he is listened to with attention. It is said, he requires two weeks' notice when he is asked to address a public gathering. And then he thinks and dictates and revises.

What he has to say is worth hearing.

People seem slow to comprehend that this is a changed world since the war. The glib talker is at a serious discount. No one has the right to occupy his fellow citizen's time with the utterance of silly platitudes. The mass of the people are thinking.

There is something pathetic in the old ring politician these days. He hardly knows where he is at. This new, thinking world is strange and frightful to him. Why should people think? Why not forget the war and get back to the dear old days of party devotion and loyalty?

President Coolidge is a party man, but he recognizes that the old party is surely, is slowly, breaking of some kind is in the air, the public man who knows.

GREENWOOD CEMETERY

Improvements have been carried on all summer in Greenwood cemetery. New walks have been laid out and gravelled; a new building has been put up at the entrance for the caretaker's tools, and a stile was built having easy flight of steps across to gain access to the place so that the gate could be kept locked; a thing which seemed quite necessary as it was frequently left open and cows, sheep etc., gaining entrance. Last but not least, a fine arch has been built over the main entrance with the name "Greenwood Cemetery" in large black letters upon it. The caretaker, Mr. Glayshurst, deserves a great deal of praise for the manner in which he has kept the cemetery.

PRESIDENT OF N. B. POWER COMMISSION SPEAKS OF GRAND FALLS DEVELOPMENT

That, in all probability, the New Brunswick Electric Power Commission would have all its data regarding the Grand Falls development ready for presentation before the International Waterways Commission by December, was the announcement of Hon. Dr. E. A. Smith, chairman of the commission, who arrived in the city last night to attend to the regular routine month-end of his department.

Dr. Smith seemed to be very much pleased with the progress that had been made. The survey parties, with the exception of one small one which was collecting the ends of its data, had been disbanded, he said. All that now remained to do was to prepare the data, specifications and plans to place before the commission in proper form.

Dr. Smith did not anticipate any trouble in having the scheme ratified by the international body. In Quebec the matters which must be taken up with the Government, he believed, would be placed in the hands of their streams committee which would make a recommendation to the Government. The desired rights could then be granted by order-in-council.

The situation was somewhat different in Maine, where all lands were held in fee simple. This being the case, there would be no treating with governments, but there would be with hundreds of individual owners of land who would have to be repaid the value of their land flooded in the backup of water from the dams. Telegraph Journal.

CHURCH OF ENGLAND SERVICES

Hartland Thanksgiving service was held last Sunday in the Holy Trinity church at which Rev. H. E. Rigby of Woodstock gave appropriate addresses both morning and evening. The music was also appropriate for the occasion. The church was very tastefully decorated with flowers and fruit of the season.

There will be no service in the Hartland church Sunday on account of Harvest Thanksgiving service being held at Glassville. There will be service in the morning and afternoon at that church, and in the evening the Rev. W. P. Haigh will be at Beaufort.

OBITUARY

Much sympathy is extended to Mr. and Mrs. Fred McIntosh in the death of their little son Lenny, which occurred at the Fisher Memorial Hospital on Wednesday, Sept. 24. Funeral services were held at Grafton on Thursday afternoon, conducted by Rev. P. J. Quigg with burial in the Grafton cemetery.

BERTRAM FOX

The sad death of Bertram Fox occurred on Sept. 24, after a lingering illness of tuberculosis. Three weeks ago he was taken to the sanatorium in St. John where everything was done for his recovery but every effort failed. He was 46 years old and leaves to mourn, his wife, one son and two daughters, his aged parents, five brothers and one sister, besides a large circle of relatives and friends. The remains were brought to his home in Queensbury for burial. The funeral service was held at the Baptist church of the above mentioned place on Friday afternoon, conducted by Rev. P. J. Quigg of Woodstock, with interment in the cemetery nearby.

DEATH OF REV. W. B. WIGGINS
 Rev. W. B. Wiggins, died suddenly at his home in Moncton from the effect of a sudden attack of acute indigestion.

The late Mr. Wiggins was over 70 years of age and was editor of The King's Highway, the official publication of the Reformed Baptist church. He was one of the oldest ministers of the Reformed Baptist church having been associated with that denomination since it was founded in 1888. Recently he held the post of secretary and legal representative for the denomination and was president of the Missionary Society. Formerly a pastor at Moncton. The deceased also held a pastorate at Woodstock and was well known in Fredericton, where his many friends were shocked to learn of his sudden death. In addition to his widow he is survived by two brothers and a sister. A brother and sister reside in Boston while the other brother resides in Norton. He had no family.

SEES A GOOD SEASON IN THE POTATO TRADE

A. D. McCain, president of the McCain Produce Company of Florenceville, N. B., was here yesterday completing arrangements for potato shipments to Havana. He said there will be weekly sailings from this port and probably from five to six shipments monthly. He estimated that each shipment would total approximately 15,000 sacks. The company is also starting shipments of certified seed and he expects that at least 12,000 barrels will be expected. With reference to the crop of potatoes this year he said that it is good and the quality excellent. The price at the present time is low although the market in Havana is in a healthy state. Last year the number of sailings from this port, he said, were 45, and he expected as many if not more this season. Speaking about the potato shed in West St. John, he said it had proven invaluable to the shippers and had greatly facilitated the handling of the large shipments. Telegraph Journal.

The Welcome Sign

"Nobody asked you, sir," said the coy maiden. And in matters of buying, as well as in affairs of the heart, most people like to be "asked." Often indeed, they insist on a proper invitation.

He is a wise merchant who keeps the welcome sign constantly before the community in the form of ADVERTISEMENTS in the home paper. There everybody sees it—for ADVERTISING is "the light of directed attention."

Speak up. Light up. Hundreds of good customers are listening for your message and watching for your welcome sign in "The Observer."
