The word 'piz' applied to iron is a mere play on the word 'sow.' When iron is metted it runs off into a channel called a 'sow,' the laternal branches of which are called the 'pigs.' Here the Iron cools and is called 'pig iron.' Now, 'sow' has nothing whatever to do with swine, but is from the Saxon, 'sow has nothing whatever to do with to seatter, German 'sawsen,' to rush, and ought to be written 'saws' (sows.) Here the Iron cools as as a sow for the parent channel it requires no great effort of wit to make the lateral grooves the little pigs.
