Lord to-day the Government amonused that Lord Ohelmsford, in negotiating with King Cotewayo, had consented to receive from him one thousand rifles instead of the condition that the Zulus should lay down their arms. The War Office is instead of the condition that the Zulus should lay down their arms. The War Office is ignorant of the burning of King Cotewayo's Irrals, which was reported this morning. The opinion is general that the Government information is not recent nor so full as that received by the newspapers.

A despatch from Cape Town says the British have captured 2,500 Zulus.

London, July 21.—A despatch from Cape Town, July 4th, says General Sir Garnet Wolseley arrived at Port Durnford on July 2nd.

Seven hundred Zulus with 700 cattle have surrendered. It is stated that the Government have received a telegram from Natal announcing that the British army had reached Ulundi after a few skirmishes, in which small bodies of Zulus were killed. It was found the King's kraal and all the surrounding kraals had been burned by the Zulus.

Gen. Clifford's despatch continues as follows:—"A message from Lord Chelmsford on the 30th June says that I have just informed the Zulu King that I must advance to the left bank of the river. I shall do so to-morrow, but I will stop hostilities pending negotiations if my must advance to the left bank of the river. I shall do so to-morrow, but I will stop hostilities pending negotiations if my demands relative to the captured cannon, etc., are complied with by the 3rd of July. My supplies will only permit of my remaining here until 10th July. A white man with King Cetswayo states that the King has 20,000 men. The King has marked those previously mentioned, succeeded in making the highest possible scores. Milton Farrow, an American made the highest score for single barrend sporting rifles, in the contest for the Marting Three hundred barron of guspowder were at pected to satisfy that night.

The People Fighting to get on Trains Leaving the City.

McKenzia, Tenn., July 22.—Train after train load of Memphians almost hourly pass through here, leaving a crowd of anxious people at the plague-stricken city, waiting at the depot there for the first chance to get away. The Memphians say the people olamour with one another as a mob, and those passengers with most strength and determination are those who run over the multitude of more timid people and escape. The people have crowded about the depot twenty-four hours before with heat and fatigue, men, women, children sleep closely huddled together until aroused and told that their hour of liberation is at hand.

OTHAWA, July 23.—This is the long expected 23rd of July—a date to which may pet of our citizens have been looking forward with anxiety. Ordinarily there would be no cause for any apprehension, but after the difficulties arising on the 12th of August last year, fears were entertained that a repetition might be expected on the present occasion. These fears were not realized, as everything passed off quietly. The Montreal contingent arrived at the St. Lawrence and Ottawa valiroad depot about 7.30. A detachment of police, under command of Sergt. O'Keefe, was in attendance for the purpose of preserving order, but fortunately no occasion arross for the exer-

A despatch received at the War Office from Sir Garnet Wolseley expresses the belief that the Zulu war is ended. He has instructed the Government to stop sending supplies and reinforcements to the Cape. Sir Garnet Wolseley states in his telegrams that he is to meet King Cetewayo on July 16th to conclude a peace. Sir Garnet asks the War Office to instruct him as to the order in which the regiments now serving in Africa shall be sent home.

The report of the Adjutant-General states that Capt. Edgell, of the Royal Lancers, was killed; a colonel, a major, and two lieutenants of the Royal Lancers were wounded, besides various officers of other
