

THE CHARLTTETOWN HERALD.

LOCAL AND OTHER ITEMS

Rosemuntian County, N. B., voted Tuesday to ratify the Bill. The majority was about 600.

The evening classes at the Charlottetown Business College and Ladies Academy open on Monday next at 7.30 p.m.

The fire alarm sounded Thursday afternoon for a blizz in a house on King St., occupied by Daniel Wright. The services of the brigade were unnecessary.

The dwelling house of Mr. Donald Boston, Esq., of Charlottetown, was destroyed by fire on Friday last week. Mr. Boston was in this city at the time. The cause of the fire is unknown. The dwelling and furniture were insured.

COMMENCEMENT with today, and during the remainder of the month, the B. I. M. will run between Boston and Charlottetown. The Carroll and Worcester will continue running to that port, sailing as per arrangement in charter of year.

The New Brunswick legislature has been dissolved, and the w.i.s have been issued for a general election on the 23d inst. The Legislative Council thus ceases to exist, and hereafter the affairs of the Province will be carried on in but one chamber.

We will be pleased to see as many subscribers as can do so, call at our office during the next few weeks and hand in their subscriptions. Rush money by mail will also be very opportune. The printer has his little obligations to meet as well as those in other lines of business; it is therefore to be hoped that you will confer a great favor, besides paying all the necessary expenses which we entail through having our agent pay them a visit.

The Sun in Charlottetown met at 8 a.m. yesterday. The court of Justice passed. To G. and J. J. J. in turn, "b" against the young man. Carroll, recently a lawyer, being the first to bring up the case, but was the first to withdraw it. It was the Sheriff who brought the case to bring the prisoner up. The trial was held before his master. He escaped early in the morning, having it supposed, picked the lock with a key, yet he is at large. Prices on the goal have quite a reputation for prisoners making their escape therethrough.

There are alarms sounded about a shock this morning as a blaze in the building formerly used by the R. I. S. Esq. on Grafton St. The building is now used by Mr. L. H. McLean as a canning factory, work having been commenced there about a fortnight ago.

The start in the back part of the building, which was badly burned. The main portion was very little damaged. The cause of the fire is unknown. A large quantity of timber, canned and in carcass, and a number of boxes, were destroyed.

Mr. McLean estimates his loss at about $1000. No insurance.

The Britains sailed for Boston, Tuesday. Her passengers were: W. M. Ross, M. Ross, Dr. D. D. Ross, T. J. Molloy, Mrs. M. Nottles, Lizzie Nottles, A. Buchanan, Mrs. E. Laing, Miss McIntyre, Miss Moisan, Miss Rose, J. McCormack, A. McPhee, C. Harris, J. J. Harris, A. Smith, Mary Collins, Mrs. Larkins, A. Cahill, S. Cahill, J. McGrath, Mary Hogan, Mrs. Champion, Mrs. Kelly, Maggie Kelly, Mrs. Kelly, Austin, E. Botman, MacLeod, B. S. Freeman, Mand B'nes, Mrs. B'nes, Mrs. Higgs, Mrs. Frost, Mrs. A. S. Sower, M. S. S. S. M. Doyle, W. Hickton, F. Traill, J. Walsh, Mrs. Green, May McMorris, P. H. Brady, Miss Cameron, H. Cameron, E. Cameron, O. Cameron, E. Cameron, Mrs. Cameron, H. Cameron.

Mr. Simeon Walton, Baptist Minister, and his wife, Cephas B. Walton, who is an insurance agent, and minister, and Dr. E. C. Randall, of Hillsboro, were arrested at St. John, Thursday, on the information of John W. H. Turner, of Albert County, charged with conspiring to cheat and defraud the Total Abstinence Life Insurance Association of America, by insuring the life of a sick man, William P. Reid, in Albert county, last year, for $3,000, on the purpose of getting the premium themselves. Dr. Randall had a certificate of his good health. Mr. Turner's wife, Mrs. Reid, also stated that she believed the signature to the application, purporting to be the signature of W. P. Reid was not his. Reid was being attended for sickness by Dr. Randall and died shortly after the application was made for the policy. It is said the Walton's are implicated in a number of cases of gravest insurance. Ray H. Walton was released from jail Saturday afternoon.

Saturday morning a young girl named Charlie Munro was arrested, charged with exposing an infant and thereby causing its death. The young girl had been staying at the home of Neil McLeod, over Spring Park, for some weeks past, and on Saturday night last gave birth to a child. She occupied a room with another girl, but, during the night left the room and went to the kitchen where she was discovered of the child. After its birth the mother wrapped the child in an apron and took it to the stable, where she placed some pieces of oil-cloth and a bag over it, and then returned to the house. She visited it several times afterwards, and on the last visit found it dead. She then went to her room but did not notice the young woman whom she slept with had deceased. On Sunday morning she placed the dead child in a basket and brought it to Rev. Mr. Scott, placing it in a hollow some distance up the road and covering it with leaves etc. The funeral and other services were conducted by the child's father, who found the body of the child buried, dead.

The 5th heat of the free-for-all for ladies, at the Hotel Victoria, on Saturday, was accompanied by a most violent and noisy scene. The crowd became inquest held that evening, when a verdict of death by exposure due to the neglect of his master, was returned.

The young woman, formerly employed as a domestic in this city for some years past, she has not come up for trial.

CONTINUED FROM 2ND PAGE.

and Perkins passed under the wire the second and third four lengths behind him. Carroll finished in the ninth. Perkins took second place in the ninth grand final, finishing the race in 2.00.

They went away on the seventh covers. Rounding the turn all were neck and neck, with the exception of Carroll, who had a long lead. They were still half way round when they were again, an also did Harry U. twice in the year but again was unable to beat him. They went away on the eighth covers. Rounding the turn all were neck and neck, with the exception of Carroll, who had a long lead. They were still half way round when they were again, an also did Harry U. twice in the year but again was unable to beat him. They went away on the eighth covers. Rounding the turn all were neck and neck, with the exception of Carroll, who had a long lead. They were still half way round when they were again, an also did Harry U. twice in the year but again was unable to beat him. They went away on the eighth covers. Rounding the turn all were neck and neck, with the exception of Carroll, who had a long lead. They were still half way round when they were again, an also did Harry U. twice in the year but again was unable to beat him. They went away on the eighth covers. Rounding the turn all were neck and neck, with the exception of Carroll, who had a long lead. They were still half way round when they were again, an also did Harry U. twice in the year but again was unable to beat him. They went away on the eighth covers. Rounding the turn all were neck and neck, with the exception of Carroll, who had a long lead. They were still half way round when they were again, an also did Harry U. twice in the year but again was unable to beat him. They went away on the eighth covers. Rounding the turn all were neck and neck, with the exception of Carroll, who had a long lead. They were still half way round when they were again, an also did Harry U. twice in the year but again was unable to beat him. They went away on the eighth covers. Rounding the turn all were neck and neck, with the exception of Carroll, who had a long lead. They were still half way round when they were again, an also did Harry U. twice in the year but again was unable to beat him. They went away on the eighth covers. Rounding the turn all were neck and neck, with the exception of Carroll, who had a long lead. They were still half way round when they were again, an also did Harry U. twice in the year but again was unable to beat him. They went away on the eighth covers. Rounding the turn all were neck and neck, with the exception of Carroll, who had a long lead. They were still half way round when they were again, an also did Harry U. twice in the year but again was unable to beat him. They went away on the eighth covers. Rounding the turn all were neck and neck, with the exception of Carroll, who had a long lead. They were still half way round when they were again, an also did Harry U. twice in the year but again was unable to beat him. They went away on the eighth covers. Rounding the turn all were neck and neck, with the exception of Carroll, who had a long lead. They were still half way round when they were again, an also did Harry U. twice in the year but again was unable to beat him. They went away on the eighth covers. Rounding the turn all were neck and neck, with the exception of Carroll, who had a long lead. They were still half way round when they were again, an also did Harry U. twice in the year but again was unable to beat him. They went away on the eighth covers. Rounding the turn all were neck and neck, with the exception of Carroll, who had a long lead. They were still half way round when they were again, an also did Harry U. twice in the year but again was unable to beat him. They went away on the eighth covers. Rounding the turn all were neck and neck, with the exception of Carroll, who had a long lead. They were still half way round when they were again, an also did Harry U. twice in the year but again was unable to beat him. They went away on the eighth covers. Rounding the turn all were neck and neck, with the exception of Carroll, who had a long lead. They were still half way round when they were again, an also did Harry U. twice in the year but again was unable to beat him. They went away on the eighth covers. Rounding the turn all were neck and neck, with the exception of Carroll, who had a long lead. They were still half way round when they were again, an also did Harry U. twice in the year but again was unable to beat him. They went away on the eighth covers. Rounding the turn all were neck and neck, with the exception of Carroll, who had a long lead. They were still half way round when they were again, an also did Harry U. twice in the year but again was unable to beat him. They went away on the eighth covers. Rounding the turn all were neck and neck, with the exception of Carroll, who had a long lead. They were still half way round when they were again, an also did Harry U. twice in the year but again was unable to beat him. They went away on the eighth covers. Rounding the turn all were neck and neck, with the exception of Carroll, who had a long lead. They were still half way round when they were again, an also did Harry U. twice in the year but again was unable to beat him. They went away on the eighth covers. Rounding the turn all were neck and neck, with the exception of Carroll, who had a long lead. They were still half way round when they were again, an also did Harry U. twice in the year but again was unable to beat him. They went away on the eighth covers. Rounding the turn all were neck and neck, with the exception of Carroll, who had a long lead. They were still half way round when they were again, an also did Harry U. twice in the year but again was unable to beat him. They went away on the eighth covers. Rounding the turn all were neck and neck, with the exception of Carroll, who had a long lead. They were still half way round when they were again, an also did Harry U. twice in the year but again was unable to beat him. They went away on the eighth covers. Rounding the turn all were neck and neck, with the exception of Carroll, who had a long lead. They were still half way round when they were again, an also did Harry U. twice in the year but again was unable to beat him. They went away on the eighth covers. Rounding the turn all were neck and neck, with the exception of Carroll, who had a long lead. They were still half way round when they were again, an also did Harry U. twice in the year but again was unable to beat him. They went away on the eighth covers. Rounding the turn all were neck and neck, with the exception of Carroll, who had a long lead. They were still half way round when they were again, an also did Harry U. twice in the year but again was unable to beat him. They went away on the eighth covers. Rounding the turn all were neck and neck, with the exception of Carroll, who had a long lead. They were still half way round when they were again, an also did Harry U. twice in the year but again was unable to beat him. They went away on the eighth covers. Rounding the turn all were neck and neck, with the exception of Carroll, who had a long lead. They were still half way round when they were again, an also did Harry U. twice in the year but again was unable to beat him. They went away on the eighth covers. Rounding the turn all were neck and neck, with the exception of Carroll, who had a long lead. They were still half way round when they were again, an also did Harry U. twice in the year but again was unable to beat him. They went away on the eighth covers. Rounding the turn all were neck and neck, with the exception of Carroll, who had a long lead. They were still half way round when they were again, an also did Harry U. twice in the year but again was unable to beat him. They went away on the eighth covers. Rounding the turn all were neck and neck, with the exception of Carroll, who had a long lead. They were still half way round when they were again, an also did Harry U. twice in the year but again was unable to beat him. They went away on the eighth covers. Rounding the turn all were neck and neck, with the exception of Carroll, who had a long lead. They were still half way round when they were again, an also did Harry U. twice in the year but again was unable to beat him. They went away on the eighth covers. Rounding the turn all were neck and neck, with the exception of Carroll, who had a long lead. They were still half way round when they were again, an also did Harry U. twice in the year but again was unable to beat him. They went away on the eighth covers. Rounding the turn all were neck and neck, with the exception of Carroll, who had a long lead. They were still half way round when they were again, an also did Harry U. twice in the year but again was unable to beat him. They went away on the eighth covers. Rounding the turn all were neck and neck, with the exception of Carroll, who had a long lead. They were still half way round when they were again, an also did Harry U. twice in the year but again was unable to beat him. They went away on the eighth covers. Rounding the turn all were neck and neck, with the exception of Carroll, who had a long lead. They were still half way round when they were again, an also did Harry U. twice in the year but again was unable to beat him. They went away on the eighth covers. Rounding the turn all were neck and neck, with the exception of Carroll, who had a long lead. They were still half way round when they were again, an also did Harry U. twice in the year but again was unable to beat him. They went away on the eighth covers. Rounding the turn all were neck and neck, with the exception of Carroll, who had a long lead. They were still half way round when they were again, an also did Harry U. twice in the year but again was unable to beat him. They went away on the eighth covers. Rounding the turn all were neck and neck, with the exception of Carroll, who had a long lead. They were still half way round when they were again, an also did Harry U. twice in the year but again was unable to beat him. They went away on the eighth covers. Rounding the turn all were neck and neck, with the exception of Carroll, who had a long lead. They were still half way round when they were again, an also did Harry U. twice in the year but again was unable to beat him. They went away on the eighth covers. Rounding the turn all were neck and neck, with the exception of Carroll, who had a long lead. They were still half way round when they were again, an also did Harry U. twice in the year but again was unable to beat him. They went away on the eighth covers. Rounding the turn all were neck and neck, with the exception of Carroll, who had a long lead. They were still half way round when they were again, an also did Harry U. twice in the year but again was unable to beat him. They went away on the eighth covers. Rounding the turn all were neck and neck, with the exception of Carroll, who had a long lead. They were still half way round when they were again, an also did Harry U. twice in the year but again was unable to beat him. They went away on the eighth covers. Rounding the turn all were neck and neck, with the exception of Carroll, who had a long lead. They were still half way round when they were again, an also did Harry U. twice in the year but again was unable to beat him. They went away on the eighth covers. Rounding the turn all were neck and neck, with the exception of Carroll, who had a long lead. They were still half way round when they were again, an also did Harry U. twice in the year but again was unable to beat him. They went away on the eighth covers. Rounding the turn all were neck and neck, with the exception of Carroll, who had a long lead. They were still half way round when they were again, an also did Harry U. twice in the year but again was unable to beat him. They went away on the eighth covers. Rounding the turn all were neck and neck, with the exception of Carroll, who had a long lead. They were still half way round when they were again, an also did Harry U. twice in the year but again was unable to beat him. They went away on the eighth covers. Rounding the turn all were neck and neck, with the exception of Carroll, who had a long lead. They were still half way round when they were again, an also did Harry U. twice in the year but again was unable to beat him. They went away on the eighth covers. Rounding the turn all were neck and neck, with the exception of Carroll, who had a long lead. They were still half way round when they were again, an also did Harry U. twice in the year but again was unable to beat him. They went away on the eighth covers. Rounding the turn all were neck and neck, with the exception of Carroll, who had a long lead. They were still half way round when they were again, an also did Harry U. twice in the year but again was unable to beat him. They went away on the eighth covers. Rounding the turn all were neck and neck, with the exception of Carroll, who had a long lead. They were still half way round when they were again, an also did Harry U. twice in the year but again was unable to beat him. They went away on the eighth covers. Rounding the turn all were neck and neck, with the exception of Carroll, who had a long lead. They were still half way round when they were again, an also did Harry U. twice in the year but again was unable to beat him. They went away on the eighth covers. Rounding the turn all were neck and neck, with the exception of Carroll, who had a long lead. They were still half way round when they were again, an also did Harry U. twice in the year but again was unable to beat him. They went away on the eighth covers. Rounding the turn all were neck and neck, with the exception of Carroll, who had a long lead. They were still half way round when they were again, an also did Harry U. twice in the year but again was unable to beat him. They went away on the eighth covers. Rounding the turn all were neck and neck, with the exception of Carroll, who had a long lead. They were still half way round when they were again, an also did Harry U. twice in the year but again was unable to beat him. They went away on the eighth covers. Rounding the turn all were neck and neck, with the exception of Carroll, who had a long lead. They were still half way round when they were again, an also did Harry U. twice in the year but again was unable to beat him. They went away on the eighth covers. Rounding the turn all were neck and neck, with the exception of Carroll, who had a long lead. They were still half way round when they were again, an also did Harry U. twice in the year but again was unable to beat him. They went away on the eighth covers. Rounding the turn all were neck and neck, with the exception of Carroll, who had a long lead. They were still half way round when they were again, an also did Harry U. twice in the year but again was unable to beat him. They went away on the eighth covers. Rounding the turn all were neck and neck, with the exception of Carroll, who had a long lead. They were still half way round when they were again, an also did Harry U. twice in the year but again was unable to beat him. They went away on the eighth covers. Rounding the turn all were neck and neck, with the exception of Carroll, who had a long lead. They were still half way round when they were again, an also did Harry U. twice in the year but again was unable to beat him. They went away on the eighth covers. Rounding the turn all were neck and neck, with the exception of Carroll, who had a long lead. They were still half way round when they were again, an also did Harry U. twice in the year but again was unable to beat him. They went away on the eighth covers. Rounding the turn all were neck and neck, with the exception of Carroll, who had a long lead. They were still half way round when they were again, an also did Harry U. twice in the year but again was unable to beat him. They went away on the eighth covers. Rounding the turn all were neck and neck, with the exception of Carroll, who had a long lead. They were still half way round when they were again, an also did Harry U. twice in the year but again was unable to beat him. They went away on the eighth covers. Rounding the turn all were neck and neck, with the exception of Carroll, who had a long lead. They were still half way round when they were again, an also did Harry U. twice in the year but again was unable to beat him. They went away on the eighth covers. Rounding the turn all were neck and neck, with the exception of Carroll, who had a long lead. They were still half way round when they were again, an also did Harry U. twice in the year but again was unable to beat him. They went away on the eighth covers. Rounding the turn all were neck and neck, with the exception of Carroll, who had a long lead. They were still half way round when they were again, an also did Harry U. twice in the year but again was unable to beat him. They went away on the eighth covers. Rounding the turn all were neck and neck, with the exception of Carroll, who had a long lead. They were still half way round when they were again, an also did Harry U. twice in the year but again was unable to beat him. They went away on the eighth covers. Rounding the turn all were neck and neck, with the exception of Carroll, who had a long lead. They were still half way round when they were again, an also did Harry U. twice in the year but again was unable to beat him. They went away on the eighth covers. Rounding the turn all were neck and neck, with the exception of Carroll, who had a long lead. They were still half way round when they were again, an also did Harry U. twice in the year but again was unable to beat him. They went away on the eighth covers. Rounding the turn all were neck and neck, with the exception of Carroll, who had a long lead. They were still half way round when they were again, an also did Harry U. twice in the year but again was unable to beat him. They went away on the eighth covers. Rounding the turn all were neck and neck, with the exception of Carroll, who had a long lead. They were still half way round when they were again, an also did Harry U. twice in the year but again was unable to beat him. They went away on the eighth covers. Rounding the turn all were neck and neck, with the exception of Carroll, who had a long lead. They were still half way round when they were again, an also did Harry U. twice in the year but again was unable to beat him. They went away on the eighth covers. Rounding the turn all were neck and neck, with the exception of Carroll, who had a long lead. They were still half way round when they were again, an also did Harry U. twice in the year but again was unable to beat him. They went away on the eighth covers. Rounding the turn all were neck and neck, with the exception of Carroll, who had a long lead. They were still half way round when they were again, an also did Harry U. twice in the year but again was unable to beat him. They went away on the eighth covers. Rounding the turn all were neck and neck, with the exception of Carroll, who had a long lead. They were still half way round when they were again, an also did Harry U. twice in the year but again was unable to beat him. They went away on the eighth covers. Rounding the turn all were neck and neck, with the exception of Carroll, who had a long lead. They were still half way round when they were again, an also did Harry U. twice in the year but again was unable to beat him. They went away on the eighth covers. Rounding the turn all were neck and neck, with the exception of Carroll, who had a long lead. They were still half way round when they were again, an also did Harry U. twice in the year but again was unable to beat him. They went away on the eighth covers. Rounding the turn all were neck and neck, with the exception of Carroll, who had a long lead. They were still half way round when they were again, an also did Harry U. twice in the year but again was unable to beat him. They went away on the eighth covers. Rounding the turn all were neck and neck, with the exception of Carroll, who had a long lead. They were still half way round when they were again, an also did Harry U. twice in the year but again was unable to beat him. They went away on the eighth covers. Rounding the turn all were neck and neck, with the exception of Carroll, who had a long lead. They were still half way round when they were again, an also did Harry U. twice in the year but again was unable to beat him. They went away on the eighth covers. Rounding the turn all were neck and neck, with the exception of Carroll, who had a long lead. They were still half way round when they were again, an also did Harry U. twice in the year but again was unable to beat him. They went away on the eighth covers. Rounding the turn all were neck and neck, with the exception of Carroll, who had a long lead. They were still half way round when they were again, an also did Harry U. twice in the year but again was unable to beat him. They went away on the eighth covers. Rounding the turn all were neck and neck, with the exception of Carroll, who had a long lead. They were still half way round when they were again, an also did Harry U. twice in the year but again was unable to beat him. They went away on the eighth covers. Rounding the turn all were neck and neck, with the exception of Carroll, who had a long lead. They were still half way round when they were again, an also did Harry U. twice in the year but again was unable to beat him. They went away on the eighth covers. Rounding the turn all were neck and neck, with the exception of Carroll, who had a long lead. They were still half way round when they were again, an also did Harry U. twice in the year but again was unable to beat him. They went away on the eighth covers. Rounding the turn all were neck and neck, with the exception of Carroll, who had a long lead. They were still half way round when they were again, an also did Harry U. twice in the year but again was unable to beat him. They went away on the eighth covers. Rounding the turn all were neck and neck, with the exception of Carroll, who had a long lead. They were still half way round when they were again, an also did Harry U. twice in the year but again was unable to beat him. They went away on the eighth covers. Rounding the turn all were neck and neck, with the exception of Carroll, who had a long lead. They were still half way round when they were again, an also did Harry U. twice in the year but again was unable to beat him. They went away on the eighth covers. Rounding the turn all were neck and neck, with the exception of Carroll, who had a long lead. They were still half way round when they were again, an also did Harry U. twice in the year but again was unable to beat him. They went away on the eighth covers. Rounding the turn all were neck and neck, with the exception of Carroll, who had a long lead. They were still half way round when they were again, an also did Harry U. twice in the year but again was unable to beat him. They went away on the eighth covers. Rounding the turn all were neck and neck, with the exception of Carroll, who had a long lead. They were still half way round when they were again, an also did Harry U. twice in the year but again was unable to beat him. They went away on the eighth covers. Rounding the turn all were neck and neck, with the exception of Carroll, who had a long lead. They were still half way round when they were again, an also did Harry U. twice in the year but again was unable to beat him. They went away on the eighth covers. Rounding the turn all were neck and neck, with the exception of Carroll, who had a long lead. They were still half way round when they were again, an also did Harry U. twice in the year but again was unable to beat him. They went away on the eighth covers. Rounding the turn all were neck and neck, with the exception of Carroll, who had a long lead. They were still half way round when they were again, an also did Harry U. twice in the year but again was unable to beat him. They went away on the eighth covers. Rounding the turn all