Death of Venerable Mother Patrick Maher at Placentia.

On Thursday, the 23rd inst., the remains of the late Venerable Mother Patrick Maher were laid to rest in the Placentia Cemetery, her death having occurred on the previous Monday after a few hours illness.

The deceased Religious had been afflicted for the past twenty-six years, with patience in suffering, her resignation to God's Holy Will during all these years were most edifying both to the Sisters of the Community and to all who had the happiness of being associated with her.

Mother Patrick had attained in the old age of eighty-two years, fifty-eight of which she spent in this community and was one of three sisters who had spent their lives in the cause of religious education in our Island. Sisters M. Joseph and Aloysius, both professed Religious in the Convent at Harbor Main having predeceased her.

Mother Patrick was born in Waterford, Ireland, on the 14th of September, 1829, and came to Newfoundland in the year 1852. On her arrival at St. John's she entered the Mother House of the Presentation Order as a Postulant, Rev. Mother O'Shaughnessy being the Superior, and was professed a few years later (1855) by Right Rev. Dr. Mullock, then Bishop of St. John's. She was one of the few Religious living to-day who were present at the consecration of the Cathedral, and her recollection of the Bishops and Priests and other eminent personages who took part in that important function, and who are all passed away, was most vivid.

Her great zeal for religion and her energy in the schools at Cathedral Square commended her to Dr. Mullock as most fitting for the establishment, and in completion, of a Religious House at St. Mary's. Accordingly she was sent there, and on August 11th, 1856, opened the Convent—being its Foundress. To this day her name is held in veneration by the good people of St. Mary's Parish among whom she laboured for fourteen years, assisting the venerable pastor, Rev. John Ryan (uncle of the late Dean Ryan, both now also gone to their reward) in the spread of religion and education.

Well might it be said of Venerable Mother Patrick that she was one of the pioneers of female education in this country. When our beloved, esteemed and hard-worked Archbishop sent into print his new History of Newfoundland we feel sure that this fact will get a fitting recognition.

In 1874 she was transferred to Placentia as Superioress of the Convent in succession to Rev. Mother Anthony Parahan. Here the best part of her religious life was spent and for twenty-four years she held office, resigning in 1897 in consequence of her failing health.

About six years ago Mother Patrick celebrated her Golden Jubilee as a Professed Sister, and was the recipient on the joyful occasion of many valuable gifts from her numerous friends, clerical and lay, as well as from the ex-pupils, many of whom children are to-day receiving instruction both religious and secular, at the same font and source, in the Convent School, where in years gone by their parents learned from the lips of the saintly Mother Patrick, those lessons of piety and Christian education which have so well fitted them for the cares and responsibilities which they are assuming to-day with such credit and honour to themselves.

The deceased Religious was greatly loved and deservedly beloved by the people of Placentia. Her bright, genial manner, even under long suffering, combined with a truly kind and sympathetic nature made her a general favourite. The Sisters of the Community to whom she was so deeply attached and who in turn loved her so devotedly, will miss her cheering presence and her wise and prudent counsel. To them she was as a devoted mother, and during the long period of her infirmities, unable as she was to help in the work of the Community, her interest in all that pertained to their happiness and success never for a moment flagged. Never was she herself more happy than when at the evening recreation, she heard from the Sisters an account of the work of the day in the schools and the success of the children in the various classes. She was particularly interested in the "lots" of the infant school; often would she have them around her in the Community room having them recite lessons, hearing them sing some little song, or going through some exercises, and the little ones left her feeling happy at the thought that they had done some thing to amuse "dear old Mother Patrick" as they fondly called her.

The deceased Religious was attended in her last moments by her old and devoted friend Monsignor Reardon, who imparted to her the consolations of Holy Religion. Her death, like her life, was calm and beautiful, the look of peace and resignation on her features was commented on by the band who who came to pay their last tribute of love and respect as she lay throughout the day and night of Wednesday in the beautiful Oratory of the Convent which was tastefully draped with mourning for the occasion.

On Thursday morning her remains were carried to the Parish Chapel where Office and High Mass were offered for the repose of her soul. The celebrant on this sad occasion was the Right Rev. Monsignor Reardon, Fr. Ashley, of Argentea, and Dr. Greene of the Cathedral, St. John's, Deacon and Sub-Deacon, respectively. After the High Mass the remains were borne to Convent Cemetery followed by the bereaved Sisters of the Convent and the whole congregation.

The funeral prayers at the grave were recited by the Monsignor and the assisting clergyman, and all that mortal of the Venerable and beloved Mother Patrick Maher was consigned sorrowfully by loving hands to mother earth to await the Resurrection Morn.

Her name and memory will live in benediction not only in the hearts of the people of Placentia, but also in those of St. Mary's where in both places her religious life was spent.

Owing to the severity of the weather during the week others of the clergy (who otherwise would have been present) were unable to attend the obsequies of the Venerable Religious. Expressions of deep regard and sympathy with the Community had been wired to the Superioresses from all parts of the Island, proving the esteem and veneration in which her name and the remembrance of her long suffering and saintly life were held.

The writer of this imperfect sketch whose privilege it has been to have known and esteemed the late Venerable Mother Patrick during the past thirty years, unites in the many heartfelt expressions of sympathy tendered the bereaved Community for the loss of this true type of Christian womanhood, their saintly Sister, the Venerable Mother Patrick. May God have mercy on her soul.—Com.

The Prospero Here.
The s.s. Prospero, Capt. T. Fitzpatrick, arrived here at 2 p.m. yesterday from the westward. After leaving here on Friday, the 14th February, she had stormy and cold weather until (Chanaan) was reached. Returning she had similar weather till she left Marystown, but later it was more moderate. She met none of the ship reported by other ships and brought a small freight and about 40 passengers, a good many of them sealers from the Southern Shore.

Eczema's Tortures
All treatments failed for three long years—Cure complete with DR. CHASE'S OINTMENT.

Mrs. Link, 12 Walker St., Halifax, N. S., writes: "After three years of miserable torture and sleepless nights with terrible eczema, and after trying over a dozen remedies without obtaining anything but slight temporary relief, I have been perfectly and entirely cured by Dr. Chase's Ointment. After the third or fourth application of this grand ointment I obtained relief, and a few boxes were sufficient to make a thorough cure. It is six months since I was freed of this wretched skin disease, and as there has been no return of the trouble I consider the cure a permanent one."

Such cures are not brought about by imitations and substitutes for Dr. Chase's Ointment. It is therefore necessary for you to be certain that the portrait and signature of A. W. Chase, M. D., the famous Receipt Book author, are on the box you buy. 60 cts. a box, at all dealers or Edmanston, Bates & Co., Toronto. Write for a free copy of Dr. Chase's Recipes.

Sir Edward Morris and the Saving Bank.
Dear Sir,—I notice in the Evening Herald's report of the proceedings in the House of Assembly yesterday that Sir Edward Morris in the debate respecting the Auditor General and the Newfoundland Savings Bank said in excuse for his having appointed Mr. Berteau Acting Manager that "He couldn't go out on the street and catch a man by the neck and drag him into the position."

It is very well known that Mr. P. T. McGrath, Mr. J. R. Bennett, Mr. Robert Watson and several others of the People's Party have been clamoring for the position for months past. Mr. P. T. McGrath has not been backward in saying what he will do if he does not get it. He wants to know who has a better claim than he. It wasn't necessary then, for the Premier to go out on the street and take people by "the back of the neck" in order to get somebody to take the job. I agree with Sir Robert Bond that this thing is a public scandal and should end at once.

Yours, DEPOSITOR.

That Important Bill.

Editor Evening Telegram:
Dear Sir,—I should like to suggest to whoever is responsible that the spelling of the word "Esquimaux" in the Esquimaux Deportation Bill is somewhat archaic. I notice also that the word is spelt the same in the Bill for the singular and plural, which is confusing.

The word, as is well known, is derived from an Algonquin word or words, meaning "eaters of raw fish." According to an Ethnological Dictionary, which I consulted, the word was first used in Father Briand's narrative in the "Jesuit Relations" about the year 1617. I found myself, however, that our good old Hakluyt in his discourse on "Western Planting," written about 1584, uses the word and spells it "Esquimawes." His "Discourse," however, was not printed until the middle of the last century.

The word having become known from a French source, the French method of spelling was very generally adopted. But for some time past scientific writers have spelt the word "Esquimo," singular, and "Esquimos," plural, as being less clumsy and more correctly interpreting the original Indian words. I think that we should adopt the same spelling.

I should also suggest that while adding the name of the Montaignais Indians it would have been as well to have included the Nascopee Indians, who are I think more particularly residents of our Labrador. Not that I have heard that any of these Indians have been deported since the days of Corté Real, but it is no doubt well that they should be protected.

Yours truly, W. G. G.
