Young Man Proud of His Wife.

BY RUTH CAMERON.

A young man who had just been married went into a big newspaper office in a city near his home town and asked the editor to announce the forthcoming fact of his nuptials in the paper. His face was shining with pride and happiness, and after he had given the editor the item he wanted printed, he went out into the anteroom, brought his wife into the editorial sanctum and announced with infinite pride and delight to the editor and two or three reporters who were standing by, "This is the wife. I thought perhaps you'd like to meet her."

Of course, the newspaper men were vastly amused at the naive pride of the young benedict. They joked about him and mimicked him all the evening, and one of the would-be wits wrote a would-be funny story about the incident, which appeared in the paper the next morning.

In this story the enthusiastic groom was called Young-man-proud-of-his-wife. It was meant as a term of derision. To me it seems like a beautiful title. I have often wondered if the young bride saw the story and if she were ashamed. I sincerely hope not, for I think she had far more reason to be pleased and touched.

There is a young man in our neighbourhood who is sometimes ridiculed because he is so proud of his wife that he is always singing her praises and making opportunities to introduce her to all his acquaintances. They say even the wife herself is sometimes embarrassed by his open admiration. Foolish woman! She little knows how fortunate she is and how many wives there are who would gladly suffer some of that embarrassment, and not call it suffering by any means.

It seems to me that this pride which a young wife or husband or a lover feels is one of the most beautiful things in the world. Instead of the most amusing, I like nothing better than to find a man or woman who feels that way.

Do you remember how Corps of Sentimental Tommy fame is so elated when Gavina finally says she will have him that he visits all the neighbours for miles around, crying at each door, "I just cried in to tell you that Gavina says she will have me." Gavina was at first very much ashamed when she heard of this, but wiser Grizel thought it was "just sweet."

So do I.

There are many people who consider the pride and devotion of lovers and young married folks something vastly amusing. Poor people! How unkind they are to be able to recognize beauty when they are fortunate enough to see it!

WOMEN TAKE NOTICE!

A man cannot understand the torture and suffering many women endure uncomplainingly. If the majority of men suffered as much pain and endured with patience the weakening sicknesses that most women do, they would ask for immediate sympathy and look for a quick cure.

Many women have been saved from a life of misery and suffering by turning to the right remedy—Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription—a remedy which is safe to take because containing no narcotics, alcohol or injurious ingredients. It is an alternative extract of roots, made with pure glycerin, and first given to the public by that famous specialist in the diseases of women—Dr. R. V. Pierce, of the Invalids' Hotel and Surgical Institute of Buffalo, N. Y.

Mrs. HESSHEIMER.

Mrs. LIZZIE M. HESSHEIMER, of Lincoln, Neb., 53° 0' C. St., says: "I send a testimonial with much pleasure so that some suffering woman may know the true worth of your remedies. I was a great sufferer from female troubles but after taking one bottle of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription, which a friend advised me to take, I found myself very much improved. After taking three more bottles, and using two boxes of Dr. Pierce's Lotion Tablets, I found myself on the road to recovery. I was in poor health for five years but now I am cured. I hope all women suffering from female weakness will give Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription a fair trial."

Doctor Pierce's Pleasant Pellets regulate and invigorate stomach, liver and bowels. Sugar-coated, tiny granules.

Fads and Fashions.

The sleeve tucked from shoulder to wrist is new.

Wide box pleats are used in some of the new skirts.

There is tendency in favor of very flat handbags.

White chiffon dresses are veiled with a black net tunic.

Tulle streamers finish some of the flat picture hats.

All draped effects are narrow and enveloping in the skirts.

Yellow is popular in all shades, from beige to ripe wheat.

The linen shoe is fashionable and practical for outdoor wear.

In woollen stuffs the contrasting or striped effects are new.

Large silk roses finish the back of some of the new girdles.

Changeable silk bids fair to be as popular next season as this.

Fuller skirts appear in nearly all of the fall gowns and suits.

White batiste and linen dresses are embroidered in rich colorings.

A very deep flounce of single net is a new finish to the elbow sleeve.

Wide cuffs are pretty if decorated with French dots in clusters.

The scalloped sailor collar makes a very pretty finish for a plain dress.

White felt, velvet and plush will be a feature in soft, supple hats this fall.

White satin vests with crystal buttons are worn with dark tailored suits.

Coats either in black lace or in white Irish crochet are in evidence.

Crimson is much used, both as trimming for gowns and for millinery.

Silk taffeta dresses are pretty and becoming when made with a little coat effect.

Finely pleated tulle and mousseline skirts are overdraped in lengthened folds.

The new leather bags lean toward medium tones rather than decided colors.

Very pretty and fashionable dresses are made of flowered silks and muslins.

Striped taffetas are fast superseding in favour the changeable and plain taffetas.

Rich heavy embroidery, in very dark colors, is used on suits of white serge and ratine.

I bought a horse with a supposedly incurable ringbone for $30. Cured him with $1.00 worth of MINARD'S LINIMENT and sold him for $85.00. Profit on Liniment, $54.00.

MOISE DEROSCE.

Hotel Keeper, St. Philippe, Que.

Children's linen dresses, as well as their millinery, are trimmed with wool embroidery.

The flower-painted white silk sunshades is new; also the sunshade of flowered gauze.

Brilliant purple, mauve, bright blue and green shades of silk are favored in bathing suits.

White almon and batiste dresses are flounced with the finest cobwebby laces, in black and white.

Ornaments of maline, in the form of wings, cockades and aigrettes take the lace of feathers.

White serge must not be overlooked when one is looking out for plain and practical costumes.

There is no end to the combinations of blue and white and black and white in the voile dresses.

Coffures composed of banks of tulle and diamonds are worn for evening by fashionable women.

There has been a revival of the fashion of wearing white collars of linen or lace with tailored suits.

The skirts of some of the new dresses are trimmed with a center row of white ball ivory buttons.

Pluck of a Deer.

A Big Buck That Was More Than a Match for a Cougar.

It seems to be generally assumed that wild animals of different species keep the peace, but now and then the experience of some woodsmen strikingly disproves this peaceful view of forest life.

Two sportsmen made a trip to the Kettle river region, in the State of Washington, and in the course of the shooting witnessed a rare occurrence. They had been on the trail of a large buck for some time and, as it chanced, came in sight of him at the very moment when a cougar launched himself upon the buck from the limb of a tree. The cougar landed squarely on the buck's shoulders, almost throwing him to the ground.

The buck quickly recovered and, throwing back his head, drove two prongs of his antlers into the cougar's body and with a swing forward threw him to the ground. Leaping backward, he then waited with lowered head for a second attack.

With a yell of rage and pain the cougar sprang upon him. He might as well have leaped against an array of bayonets, for he was caught on the buck's antlers and hurled several feet into the air.

The instant he struck the ground the buck was upon him, striking savagely with his forefeet, which cut like knife blades, and driving his antlers again and again into his body.

Finally they separated, and the cougar crawled forward for the final struggle. The deer was wounded, but still in excellent fighting trim. The hunters interfered. One of them walked for our Annual Derby Day; the through the heart—Exchange.

A Dreadful Mistake.

One of the most eloquent lawyers that ever pleaded in a court of law had a cork leg. None but the most intimate of his acquaintances knew for certain which was the sham limb. One day he was engaged in a case when a young lawyer sought to utilize his knowledge for his personal benefit. The celebrated counsel was pleading in his most earnest manner when the young lawyer whispered to a stranger near him: "You see how earnest old Rusty is. I'll bet you a pound that I can run a pin in his leg right up to the head and he will never know it."

The bet was booked. The wag took a long pin from his vest and, leaning forward, drove it up to the head in the lawyer's leg. A yell, bloodcurdling and more awful than that of an Indian, made the hair of the jury stand on end and the judge to jump from the bench. "Great Scott!" exclaimed the wag. "It was the wrong leg, and I've lost my bet."

He'd Got It.

An Irishman was going on a journey by train, but he had never bought a railway ticket before, so did not know what to ask for. He thought he would wait until somebody else came to buy a ticket, to see if they could help him.

Presently a young lady came along, and wanted a single ticket to St. Mary Cray, so said to the booking clerk: "St. Mary Cray, single."

Pat scratched his head for a time then, saying, "I've got it!" he went up to the booking office, banged down a shilling, and said:

"Pat Murphy, married."
