Needles and Pins.

By RUTH CAMERON.

A neighbour of mine was telling a story of something that had happened to himself and his wife. His wife was present. Three times she broke in upon him with, "Oh, no, my dear, that wasn't what he said!" and similar corrective interruptions. They haven't been married very long and he bore the interruptions patiently, though I could see he was chafing under them. The third time, however, he said with a gentleness that evidently held in leash considerable impatience, "Are you telling this story, my dear, or am I?"

"We are, my dear," she laughed. "Then I'll yield my share to you," he said.

Can't I Interrupt My Own Husband? "What, can't I interrupt my own husband once in a while?" she questioned, pouting prettily.

And because they haven't been married very long, he answered, "I suppose I'll have to let you if you want to."

But I'm afraid there'll come a day when he won't suppose that.

No, not afraid, for I don't see why

I think this habit that so many wives and husbands both contract of interrupting and contradicting each other is very unfortunate, to put it mildly.

Can't I interrupt my own husband or wife, as the case may be, is their thought, or at least their subconscious feeling.

And why should you, sir or madame, any more than you would interrupt anyone else.

Was It In The Marriage Service? What was there in the marriage service that conferred on you the right to be rude to your partner? Love, honor, cherish until death us do part—I do not find it in any of these words or phrases.

The closer any social relationship the more danger of friction, and the more danger of friction the more need of the lubricating oil of tact and courtesy. Marriage is the closest social relationship that exists. Why then should we dispense with even that measure of tact and courtesy that we use with outsiders?

The Wife Who Listened To Her Husband's Stories.

I once met at a friend's home a woman whose husband told long and tedious stories. It was worth the suffering he inflicted to see the courtesy and fine pretense of interest with which she listened to him, despite the fact that he was her husband, that they were fearfully tedious even at a first hearing, and that she must have heard them a hundred times.

Entering a room without knocking, opening each other's letters, contradicting, interrupting, making a jest of the other's faults and foibles for outsiders to laugh at, teasing each other (primarily a masculine fault)—these are some of the discourtesies to which husbands and wives think they have a right by virtue of their relationship.

"We don't have a right to all our rights," says Phillips Brooks. If this is right at all, it's certainly that kind of one.

Wedding Bells.

FORD-WINTER.

Mr. Charles E. Ford, of the Bank of Montreal, this city, and son of Mr. and Mrs. R. J. Ford, of Toronto, was married yesterday afternoon to Miss Marion Belcher, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Winter, of this city. The ceremony took place at St. Thomas's Church and was performed by the Rector, Rev. Dr. Jones. The service was choral. The bride was given away by her father. She looked charming, dressed in white silk net over white satin, the dress having a court train, and wore a veil of tulle and wreath of orange blossoms and carried a bouquet of chrysanthemums. The little maid of honor, Miss Florence Winter, sister of the bride, wore white crepe de chene with serge coat, white beaver hat and chiffon velvet muff. The bridesmaids, who were Miss Frances Goodridge, of New York, cousin of the bride, and Miss Elsie Herder, wore white gorgette crepe and crepe meteor dresses, with black velvet hats and chiffon velvet muffs. The groom was supported by Mr. Harry Winter. Messrs. Duke Winter Herbert Winter and P. E. Outerbridge acted as ushers. At the conclusion of the ceremony a reception was held at the residence of the bride's parents on Rennie's Mill Road. Bride and groom motored to Manuels and took the train from there to Holyrood for the honeymoon. Numerous useful and costly presents were received, including many cheques. The Telegram joins in extending congratulations to Mr. and Mrs. Ford.

BEDTIME STORIES.

Long years ago, when I was small, not more than forty inches tall, an ancient woman used to tell fierce Robin stories passing well. Before I went to roost at night, she'd spring those yarns with keen delight, and all the long dark night I'd dream of horrid shapes, each one a scream. And now that I am old and gray, and bent and worn, and full of hay, I fear the dark and all its hosts of witches weird and sheeted ghosts, and only daylight can disperse the things that make the night a curse. And oftentimes I go and fume around that foolish bel-dame's tomb, and tell her—though she cannot hear—how she made night a thing of fear. And even as we go to press fool dames are sowing long distress, by telling kids, in solemn tones, dark tales of ghosts and bats and bones. Oh, tell the children pleasant tales of silver ships with purple sails, that come across the sunlit seas to bring them dolls and Christmas trees.

What Are You Doing for that Eczema?

"Nothing; I've about given up trying to cure it."
"That is not wise. Do as I did and you will probably be cured in a short time. I used Zylex and Zylex Soap with it and my Eczema began to improve at once. A couple of boxes cured. You can get Zylex at your druggists."
Zylex, 50c. a box; Zylex Soap, 25c. a cake.

Last Night's Concert.

A large and appreciative audience attended the concert held at Canon Wood Hall last night in aid of the funds of the Women's Patriotic Association. His Excellency the Governor and Lady Davidson sent a note regretting their inability to attend, and forwarded a substantial donation. The programme included selections from Rev. H. Uphill, Miss Russell, Skinner, Shea, Barnes, Williams, Lang, Edwards, Garland England, Hamlyn, Messrs. Burley, Connolly, Jago, Gill, Chislett, Macklin, Lloyd and Luxon. Special features of the programme were the camp scene at midnight in the Dardanelles, and the watch on deck" at midnight by the Calypso party. The selections by the string band of the Calypso, Messrs. Jago, Macklin, Lloyd and Luxon were very much appreciated, and Mr. Aubrey Crocker presided at the piano with his usual ability. The programme closed with a brief address by Rev. Mr. Uphill, after which the National Anthem was sung. The proceeds amounted to a considerable sum and the promoters of the affair, Messdames Macklin, Rendell and Burley deserve to be congratulated on the success of their efforts.

"Cascarets" Best If Headachy, Bilious Sick, Constipated

Best for liver and bowels, had breath, bad colds, sour stomach.

Get a 10-cent box. Sick headache, biliousness, coated tongue, head and nose clogged up with a cold—always trace this to torpid liver; delayed, fermenting food in the bowels or sour, gassy stomach. Poisonous matter clogged in the intestines, instead of being cast out of the system is re-absorbed into the blood. When this poison reaches the delicate brain tissue it causes sickness and that dull, throbbing, sickening headache. Cascarets immediately cleanse the stomach, remove the sour, undigested food and foul gases, take the excess bile from the liver and carry out all the constipated waste matter and poisons in the bowels. A Cascaret to-night will surely straighten you out by morning. They work while you sleep—a 10-cent box from your druggist means your head clear, stomach sweet, breath right, complexion rosy and your liver and bowels regular for months.

Fads and Fashions.

Very narrow silver or gilt braid is sometimes used for trimming of coats. Furs will be made up in combinations, all sorts of furs being made up together. Mother's clothes, as well as the small girl's, are to be prettily smocked. The strictly tailored suit usually has a circular skirt or some modification of it. High draped velvet toques are becomingly worn with the high collared velvet coats. Leather is a novel trimming applied as embroidery would be on cuffs, belts and collars. Millinery continues to be simple. Cut steel is used with good effect in millinery trimming. The daintiest of handkerchiefs is not elaborate, but bears evidence of beautiful workmanship.

The Good Genius of the Sick Room.

A Gas fire, always a desirable installation, never proves its worth more than in cases of illness, for an invalid may need a fire at any season of the year. A coal fire makes dirt and dust and needs repeated attention, and the noise and clatter that the least stoking operation renders inevitable is at once an annoyance and a possible danger to the patient.

Gas fires are clean and noiseless, and when once alight will burn for an indefinite period without supervision of any kind, and it is now the common practice of medical men, especially when the illness is likely to be lengthy, to recommend a gas fire in the sick room.

When children are convalescent but still confined to one room, it is highly necessary, if the much-dreaded chill is to be avoided, to keep its temperature at a steady level. This is impossible where coal is the fuel, but a gas fire can be so easily and accurately regulated that the required degree of warmth can be obtained without difficulty.
