TURNED DOWN GIFT BY LAW
Moose Jaw, Sask., July 25.—Today the ratepayers voted on a bylaw to grant a free site to George White & Co., of London, Ontario. This they turned down by the decisive vote of 214 to 118. The bylaw required a two-thirds majority to carry. This is the second time the proposition has been before the people.

An interesting suggestion is reported from Turin. For some days a chauffeur has been wandering round the streets and showing no visible means of support.

On being questioned by the police he could give no details of his life before or after May 23. To all questions he replied: "He who has forbidden me to speak has crossed the ocean, and the police will never find him."

For the present the chauffeur, whose name is kept secret by the police, has been sent to an asylum, but physicians think that the case is one of hypnotic suggestion, and the cause a "refined" vendetta.

West End W. C. T. U.
The West End W. C. T. U. held an interesting meeting at the Parish hall of St. Stephen's church yesterday afternoon. Committees are gradually being formed so that the work can be carried out more effectively.

Mrs. Haskins has been appointed convener of the lower committee, Mrs. J. D. Chisholm of the good literature department. Anyone having magazines, books, or papers suitable for distribution among invalids, if they would kind forward them to Mrs. J. D. Chisholm, 5158 Eighth avenue west, the West End W. C. T. U. would deem it a great favor.

The workers are enthusiastically looking forward to a large number of members.

The executive will meet next Thursday 8 p.m. at the home of the corresponding secretary, Mrs. S. G. Adams, 2017 Fifth street west.

Calgary Men are Polite

Did you ever get into a Calgary street car between the hours of five and six o'clock? It is just at this time that the working men and the shopping women are all scurrying to catch the home car.

And haven't you noticed who stands up? It isn't the women of Calgary, if there is the least possible chance of a man giving up his seat.

"Calgary men are so polite," remarked a Toronto lady. "Indeed, in my home city everybody, man or woman who got the chance of a seat took it."

"Once I got into a Calgary street car," said another lady, "and it was filled with working men. There were no vacant seats and a foreigner arose and gave me his. I took it, fearing to offend the man by a refusal, but I had a queer feeling of guiltiness as I thought he had probably labored all day and was tired while I had just come from a visit to a friend's home and was feeling particularly refreshed."

A Winnipeg man remarked: "I noticed that the Calgary men observe the same unwritten rule about giving a seat to a woman as the men do in Winnipeg."

This small instance is but indicative of the consideration of the Western man toward women.

I wonder if it is just a woman's privilege of not having the "equal rights?"

Reasonably, a tired laborer certainly should keep his seat in a car rather than give it up to a woman who has probably spent a pleasant afternoon down town shopping, at the matinee, or at a tea room.

Of course a woman who has a baby in her arms or a small child hanging to her skirts will, by the unwritten law of chivalry of both man and woman, be given every assistance.

After all it is a little act of kindness, this street car seat episode. It is merely an incident, but a good life is but a series of mere incidents and small kindnesses, which, when estimated together make a world of happiness.

CLOTHES THAT SHOW THE CHARMS OF FEMALE FORM CAUSE OF MUCH CRIME
Milwaukee, July 26.—Charm-disclosing clothes cause crime, declares Judge Backus, Milwaukee Municipal Court, who has heard many recent cases which have involved well known men with young girls, and who has been forced to send to prison young men for crimes like that of the New York girl sixteen years of age.

He says when girls walk the streets as garbed as to give passers by more than a hint of their charms, it is sealed and more often accentuated, they cannot expect to escape offensive attention when in fact they actually invite such attention.

"These dresses," said the judge in commenting on the Julia Connor murderer, who said he had been driven insane by beautifully made up women, "are an invitation to men to assault and molest. These girls only invite the elders, and I often sit and hear testimony on such cases and wish we could return to the days of the hoop skirt, when such display of the form was unknown. I thoroughly believe, may be true, as the New York murderer declared, that he was led to his crime by the position inspired by modern immodest clothing."

TO RESTORE THE STATUE OF MARCUS AURELIUS
Rome, July 24.—Every visitor to Rome will remember the famous equestrian statue of Marcus Aurelius on the square of the capitol. This historic monument has been found to be suffering from the infiltration of water, and a technical commission has advised prompt repair. The municipal council voted the sum of 3900 for the careful restoration of the statue.

In order to execute his work it will be necessary temporarily to remove the philosophic emperor from his pedestal, and to transport the former into the Palazzo del Conservatori. Thus American summer tourists will find the Capitoline square denuded of its chief attraction. Close to it, however, another restoration, that of the splendid ceiling of the Church of Ara Coeli, commemorative of the victory over the 10,000 units of $125 for a large bottle of 300,000 units. The bottles bear a stamp of the date of issue, and as the strength of the emanation diminishes by 50 per cent in four days immediate use is recommended.

ROMAN GAS CAR DRIVER IMAGINES HE IS BROKE
Rome, July 24.—A curious case of hypnotic suggestion is reported from Turin. For some days a chauffeur has been wandering round the streets and showing no visible means of support.

On being questioned by the police he could give no details of his life before or after May 23. To all questions he replied: "He who has forbidden me to speak has crossed the ocean, and the police will never find him."

For the present the chauffeur, whose name is kept secret by the police, has been sent to an asylum, but physicians think that the case is one of hypnotic suggestion, and the cause a "refined" vendetta.

BOND BETWEEN FRANCE AND BRITAIN, GAIN TO EMPIRE
London, July 24.—Approes to the visit of the Canadian ministers to Paris. The Daily Mail declares that anything tending to improve relations between Canada and France is a gain to the empire. The visit will emphasize the fact that Britain and France have long ceased to be divided. French Canadians must see that in strengthening the defenses of the empire they are also aiding France's security.

NEW HEAD MOFFAT ROAD
Denver, Colo., July 24.—Rumors that Hawley interests will dominate the future of the Denver, Northwestern & Pacific, known as the "Mgfat Road," seems borne out by the generally accredited report that Newman Erb, the Hawley representative among the route conditions in conference here, will be named a joint receiver to protect Eastern non-holding interests.

CONVICT WHO WOULD DIE SWALLOWED MUCH METAL
Geneva, July 24.—A convict who is undergoing a long sentence in the prison of Levaux, Canton of Argovie, became tired of life recently and decided to hasten death by a curious method. He swallowed every piece of metal glass, etc. he could find in the court yard when the warders were not watching him. This continued for weeks, and the convict seemed to thrive, but the other day he was found writing in agony, and the doctor, to save the man's life performed an operation in haste.

From the convict's stomach were extracted 147 nails of various sizes, 69 screws, 24 pieces of glass, 3 bits of lead, 22 brass heads of nails, 3 collar buttons and the broken blades of a knife and a chisel. The operation was a success, and the convict, who has changed his view concerning his departure from this world, will soon be well again.

A Perfectly Digested Breakfast Makes Nerve Force for the Day

Everything goes wrong if the breakfast lie in your stomach like a mud pie. What you eat does harm if you can't digest it—it turns to poison.

A bright lady teacher found this to be true, even of an ordinary light breakfast of eggs and toast. She says:

"Two years ago I contracted a very annoying form of indigestion. My stomach was in such condition that a simple breakfast of fruit, toast and egg gave me great distress."

"I was slow to believe that trouble could come from such a simple diet, but finally had to give it up, and found a great change upon a cup of hot Postum and Grape-Nuts with cream, for my morning meal. For more than a year I have held to this course and have not suffered except when indolently varying my diet."

"I have been a teacher for several years, and find that my easily digested breakfast means a saving of nervous force for the entire day. My gain of ten pounds in weight also causes me to want to testify to the value of Grape-Nuts."

"Grape-Nuts holds first rank at our table."

SOLVES VEXING PROBLEM OF WHEN WE ARE IN LOVE

New York Man Invents "Erometer," Which He Says is Infallible Love Tester

Inventor Says Doubting Maiden Can Decide Vital Question By Wearing His Bracelet

New York, June 24.—Robert C. Auld, author and president of the Human Welfare league, things his newly invented "erometer," which solves the vexing problem of "when are we in love."

By the use of this machine, Mr. Auld says, the doubting young maiden may decide for herself the vital question simply by dining with or talking to the man who she thinks is her ideal.

Auld Explains His Machine.

"The name is derived from 'Eros,' love and 'meter,' measure," Mr. Auld says in explaining his machine. "It is literally a love tester. It is made in the form of a bracelet, smooth and hollow, like a tube bent into a ring. It may be adjusted to fit tightly over the wrist of any man or woman."

"Inside the hollow tube is a tiny slip of paper, and an electric needle which responds to every deviation of the pulse, whether above or below normal. Now it is known that a cardiac, a complement, or even the mere presence of a beloved object sends the pulse leaping upward. Therefore, if a girl is doubtful whether a certain young man really affects her emotionally, all she has to do is to put on the bracelet and go out to lunch with him."

On her return she draws off the bracelet, extracts from it with help of the small slip of paper, scored with the minute record of the needle, and places it under a microscope. Then she can literally measure the height and depth of her affection."

Believes Affinity Theory

It was suggested to Mr. Auld that he had made his test purely a physical one and he was asked if love might not manifest itself in other ways.

"Assuredly," he replied. "The poets and romantics, with their theories of spiritual affinity, are repeating a world old truth. Love is a psychic matter, a concern of the soul. But as our souls dwell in our bodies on this earth, so psychic affection must manifest itself through physical attributes."

Other Symptoms of Love.

"Then a young person in love loses his appetite. Food seems a gross and material thing; he literally lives on dreams. He is absent minded and prone to frequent yawns during any work that he is doing. He grows pale and loses weight, but is not consciously weakened. He alternates fits of nervous, restless energy with spasms of dreary idleness."

He is not likely to suffer serious harm unless he is separated from his beloved for a long period. Then he may either pine away and die, or, in a fit of insanity, take his own life.

"It is not merely a poetic convention that people die of broken hearts. They continue to do so, even if the cause is seldom listed in the death certificate. And one has only to read the newspapers to realize that suicide for love's sake did not go out of fashion with Romeo and Juliet."
