SNAP-SHOTS AT VARIOUS SPORTS

The Woodstock juniors did not win the championship, but they have made a good record nevertheless. The champion Port Hope team is very fast, and ripe for intermediate company. Our only hope is Goderich. They sught to win if the games are home and home.

The jaunt of Queen's University after the Stanley Cup was pleasant, but not very profitable. The Ottawa team did not have to be rough, and the mug is never in danger when they are gentle. The Smith's Falls aggregation ere next, and judging from reports this one will be rougher.

Gradually is the game of golf spreading. Even Japan has a coursejust one. It belongs to the Kobe Golf Club, and it was only recently that the full circuit of eighteen soles was placed in commission.

The course is perched on the top of a long range of hills, 3,000 feet above the sea level, and the location made the preparation of the links a tremendous task. One of the members is the Governor of Hyozoken, and the gutty ball he used in making the first drive is kept in the clubhouse under a glass case.

The organization imports all clubs and accessories. Holes have been named appropriately, after the American fashion. The third hole is called "The Bishop" because of an ecclesiastical dignity who owns a mountain chalet in close proximity. Sunday play, however, goes in Japan.

Thick, stiff bamboo grass covers the course, making it a difficult matter to approach with accuracy. Owing to the light, which is continuously changing in that mountainous country, distances on the links are deceptive. The location is picturesque, Osaka Bay being spread below like a blue lake dotted with sails.

From an expert's viewpoint, the ourse is too short, covering as it does a playing distance of only 3,576 yards. But eight of the holes are blind, and it is claimed that no 6,000-yard course in the world is so fatiguing.—Star.

The Globe takes itself and the O. H. A. executive so seriously, that is has positively lost all sense of humor. In another of its series of explanations on the Rowe case, it prophesies that light on that case will reach us about midsummer. If any rational explanation of the O. H. The next thing that august body will do, will be to remit the Argos' fine for being late at Berlin the other night, and summon the Grand Trunk for contempt of the O. H. A.

We are beginning to wonder if the O. H. A. executive saw that article in a Galt paper about Pete Charlton's holdup of the Berlin team. If they let this opportunity of suspending the Dutchmen pass without acting upon it, the senior trophy will have to remain in little Germany all winter. The Argos ought to be given some chance.

A Brockville dispatch says: After the attacks that have been made on the Brockville Federal hockey team by Ottawa and Smith's Falls papers during the past few days, it is interesting to know that McRobie, who has been particularly assailed, has been asked to finish the season with Ottawa, and Debeau is likely to finish with Smith's Falls.

A race has been arranged between Wentworth, 2:041/2, Sweet Marie, 2:04%, and Tiverton, 2:04%. The race will be a two-in-three event for $2,500 a corner, play or pay, winner to take all. The Kenora Miner has a fit of the blues. With regard to the finals in the Manitoba League it says: "The home-and-home games, with the largest number of goals to count, present the objection of a useless waste of time, that is, assuming that the winning team will go east after the Stanley cup, when the championship can be settled in one straight game. It looks as if all roads lead to Winnipeg after all."

We have the word of a veracious press agent that Nazo, the great runner from the Tiburon Isles is the most marvelous and stupendous plece of humanity discovered in the age of man. He talks in the fascinating gibber of his native land, runs like the wind-a strong wind, of coursefeeds from both sides simultaneously, and is positively an amateur, as he never competed for anything more gross than beads and cocoanuts. In speed he rivals the centaurs of legandary history, he can outdo the iron monster which hisses over our plains; his pleasures are running down deer and antelope or playing tag with jack rabbits. He will appear in this country on dates to be announced later to an anxious public.-Chicago Record-Herald.

Never was there a time when the call for honesty in sports was so toud; nor a time when answers were so badly needed.

Soccer football has made such rapid strides in Chicago that there are enough clubs to start a fight among themselves.

But there is a big difference between the Gans-McGovern barney and the Gans-Britt fake. According to Gans' story and according to all the stories sent out, from 'Frisco before and after the fight the Britts, Gans and Hereford and lord knows how many more were mixed up in it. The commercialism of the Britt family precluded anything being pulled off without them having a bit of it. There is not the slightest reason for doubting that Britt himself was in the job and that he deliberately carried out his part of the agreement when he fouled Gans. It may have been unnecessary, as was the case when Corbett's admirers jumped into the ring the night he met Sharkey at the Lenex. Sharkey would have won that night had the bout been on the level. Gans might have won the same way. In the Corbett-Sharkey affair Honest John Kelly established a precedent by awarding the fight to Sharkey, but calling all bets off. This protected the public, which is always the sufferer by a job. Had the referee of the Gans-McGovern bout, and Eddie Graney, the referee of the Gans-Britt bout, acted likewise they would have scotched the most substantial part of the job and given the sure-thing players a jar. Under the circumstances, we cannot see the silghtest difference between Gans and Britt, and if we had our way James Edward would be ostracized along with Gans. Neither has any right to appear anywhere where square sports congregate. But the cases of McGovern and Britt are in no way similar, McGovern was an innocent party to a job framed up by a bunch of sharpers; Britt, on the contrary, was a members of the clique that framed up a job, if his brains really did not inspire it and carry it to a successful conclusion
