THAMES PARK CHOSEN FOR NEW PARK'S NAME

Parke Flats, On Ridout Street Will Be a Thing of the Past.

Parks Superintendent Diller has a scheme for improving Thames Park, new name for the Parke flats on Ridout street.

"It will be an athletic park in every sense," said Mr. Diller. "A baseball diamond will be laid out, and other recreation grounds. We will have several swimming pools. In the winter we will provide for a toboggan slide and a skating ring. I have not worked out all the details, but the park should be an ideal playground for the youngsters of that section of the city."

Work has commenced on the double English tennis courts in Queen's Park. They will be the most modern in the city.

national committee, and containing Roosevelt delegates in place of the many Taft delegates seated by the committee. The other was a roll adopted at the caucus of Roosevelt delegates early this morning, which would seek to prevent any action by the convention except upon the confirmative vote of 540 uncontested delegates. Up to noon neither side had been able to count 540 uncontested delegates as a voting unit.

The Taft forces retired last night entirely ignorant of this latest move by the Roosevelt people, but in the morning they were informed of the prepared bright and early this morning to meet it. It was frankly asserted that Victor Rosewater, chairman of the national committee, who had the task of organizing the delegates to order, could not entertain either a motion for substitute roll or the resolution calling for action only by an affirmative vote of 540 uncontested delegates. Parliamentarianism, it was said, would forbid the putting of any such motion or resolution before the convention prior to the choice of a temporary chairman.

TE OF BOIL.
The Taft forces prepared to take quick advantage of this parliamentary point, Congressman Olmsted, of Pennsylvania, parliamentarian of the convention, said this forenoon that the only thing he could do was to select a temporary chairman, was prayer by a chaplain and the reading of the call for the convention by the national committee.

After their caucus last night some of the more radical Roosevelt delegates freely predicted that if the powers that rule the convention were to maintain their motions looking to a "purging" of the convention of the delegates "fraudulently" seated by the national committee, they would not be bound by its action. This was a talk of a bolt last night, and this was still the case when the hotel corridors as the streams of delegates started toward the Coliseum.

There was every indication that the fight would break as soon as the prayer and the reading of the call of the convention read.

Hadley Starts the Fight.
The Republican national convention was called to order at 12:02 p.m. by Chairman Victor Rosewater. He called upon Rev. Father Callahan to invoke divine blessing, who delivered a short prayer. When Father Callahan concluded, the secretary of the national committee read the call of the convention.

The moment the call was completed Governor Hadley, of Missouri, the Roosevelt floor leader, was on his feet.

"Mr. Chairman," he called out. "The chair recognizes Governor Hadley, of Missouri," said Chairman Rosewater.

"The chair, I rise to a question of information," said Hadley. "The governor made his way to the stage, amid great applause. The governor was beckoned to the stage, and made his way there amid applause."

James E. Watson, of Indiana, Taft floor leader, followed him. Governor Hadley then stated his question which involved the substitution of a roll of delegates prepared by the Roosevelt forces for the temporary roll prepared by the national committee.

"I rise to inquire whether the national committee has framed for this convention a proper temporary roll," said Hadley.

The Trouble Begins.
James E. Watson, Taft floor leader, interrupted, saying: "Mr. Chairman, I make the point of order that nothing is in order before this convention until it has been organized."

Both Hadley and Watson were cheered as they stood on each side of the chairman's table facing each other. "I rise to a question of information," answered Governor Hadley, preliminary to making a motion.

"Until I had made that motion there was nothing to make a point of order. I still have the recognition of the chair."

Hadley Attacks Taft Delegates.
Again the cheers broke out. Governor Hadley then presented his formal motion to take from the temporary roll the Taft delegates and substitute the Roosevelt delegates in certain contested states.

LOCAL NEWS

An Explanation.
Mr. John McAnley, of 696 King street east, is not the person who figured in the police court yesterday for fighting Improving King Street.

The King street pavement will be scarified and oiled this week. City Engineer Wright purposes commencing work on Thursday, and it will be hurried through. It is thought that this process will make a good street of this present rather dilapidated roadway.

Death of Mrs. Robson.

School Contracts.
There will be a special meeting of the board of education on Wednesday afternoon at 5 o'clock to award the contracts for the heating plants of the Sincove street, Sincove avenue and Victoria schools. The tenders have been in hand some time, but were not considered, owing to the fact that the necessary debentures had not been passed by the city council. The afternoon did pass them on Monday evening, and the board will immediately award the contracts so that the plants may be installed by the opening of the fall term.

YOUNG MEN'S CONCERT.
Enjoyable Programme Rendered in the Wellington Street Methodist Church.

Monday night the young men of Wellington Street Methodist Church gave a very enjoyable concert before a large audience in the school room of the church. The programme consisted of choruses by the young men and the boys' choir, recitations by Mr. Albert George, selections by Messrs. H. J. McGee, R. Collins, Reginald Hudson and Mayor. Much of the success of the concert was due to the efforts of Mr. George Jackson, president of the Young Men's Class.

During the evening the pastor, Rev. H. A. Graham, who was chairman, was surprised when Mr. Jackson came forward and presented him with an address and purse and Mrs. Graham with a large bouquet of roses. Rev. Mr. Graham, in replying, expressed the appreciation of both Mr. Graham and himself for the many kindnesses of the members of the church during his pastorate of four years, and he regretted exceedingly that he was leaving.

Upon the conclusion of the programme the young ladies of the Epworth League served light refreshments to those that had taken part in the programme.
