NEW ZEALAND DESIRES CABLE

Premier Ward Moves Resolution Favoring Direct Line to Sydney-Australian Transcontinental Railway

MELBOURNE, Oct. 12.-Premier Ward of New Zealand, moved in the House of Representatives today a resolution approving of the plan of the Pacific Cable board to lay a cable direct from Auckland to Sydney. The board will meet the cost, estimated at fifty thousand pounds out of the reserve fund.

The proposed new cable is very urgently needed to cope with increasing business. Traffic has been lost to a large extent lately through delays in transmission. The new cable would entirely obviate this difficulty.

The difficulty which was anticipated in the Australian parliament over the difference between the guages of the proposed new transcontinental railway and the roads in the states through which the new line from Port Augusta to Kalgoorlie will run, has been set tled. Parliament today adopted officially the standard guage for the new transcontinental. The decision will cost the protesting states two millions of pounds to make the existing lines uniform.

Arrivals by the Inaba Maru Tell of Great Floods Which are Causing Much Loss of

With 205 passengers and a jotal cargo of 3,462 tons of general freight the Japanese steamer Inaba Maru, Capt. Cominaga, of the Nippon Yusen kaisha. eached the outer wharf yesterday morning. There were 33 saloon passengers. of whom 7 debarked here. The arrivals included several missionaries from various parts of China, Miss L. M. Spiess coming from the flooded district where so much destitution and starvation prevails in the Yangtzse valley and Rev. Magnason and family came from the far northwest, in Mongolia, where they have been for the past seven years. Other arrivals included J. R. Redfield, who has been in the service of the Slamese government, accompanied by his wife. Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Knight and family, Mrs. M. B. Leuvis and daughter, and Mrs. Gubbey came from the Philippines, and there were a number of Japanese merchants, mostly bound to New York, among them being Mr. Ogawa of Vancouver who returned with his family from a business trip to Japan. The steamer debarked 80 Chinese, 20 Japanese steerage passengers here.

Miss Spiess said there would be great distress in the Yangtzse valley. When she left Wuhu the city was flooded and the water was higher than it was ter years ago. Ihkisang was an island, and the water was breaking in over the new bund. At the riverside the sight was de-

Straw huts, planks, beds and house hold goods were floating down the stream. It is reported that over 100,000 have been drowned. Hundreds, if not thousands of straw huts which the refugees had erected on the foreshore were under water, and the people are fleeing to the hills. The rain comes in torrents, and the water was bound to rise still higher. It seemed that the whole city was threatened.

There are quite a number of famine works carried on by Guilds, and some attempts have been made to feed the hungry arivals, but the present distress is not to be described.

The yamen prisons were opened and many prisoners it is said exulting in liberty, rushed forth into deep waters and perished. A woman whose husband was away attempted to leave her hut and gain the shelter of a house. She entrusted herselfe to a frail craft, constructed of three tubs bound together. In her left arm she clasped her infant and in her right hand ninety cents. The craft lurched, capsized and both were drowned.

Buried Alive

The Ku Mun Pao, a Chinese paper published at Hankow tells of how a man rendered destitute by the floods was caught thieving food, and was buried alive by his uncle for bringing disgrace on the clan. The unfortunate man Fang Chu, had acted as a spy for a band of thieves and the villagers of Hanchue arrested him, beat him severely and handed him over to the officials of his own clan. The elders of the clan held a meeting and decided to take Fang Chu before the Hanyang magistrate for punishment as he had brought infamy upon his clan. But an uncle of the man was violently enraged at him and resolved to put him to death in spite of the pleas of other relatives. Knowing that this uncle was very obstinate, the rest of the family let him have his way.

He bound Fang Chu fast and carried him away to the open country to a spot where he had dug a grave. He threw his prisoner into the hole and filled in the earth, never heeding the prayers and lamentations that came from the man's lips. Rev. Mr. Magnuson said that the Mongols resident in his neighborhood were quiet, although rumors came from other parts of Mongolia and from Kansu of a Mohammedan rising. He said that a short time age a Russian traveler, one of many explorers who have been in Mongolia recently, reported that he had found a Chinese monument in western Mongolia with a large cross carved on it, this being taken to mean that the Christian religion had been formerly known in this district. Rev. Mr. Magnuson brought a large number of curios which he is taking to Sweden. He oc cupied three weeks by camel and mule cart on his journey out from his station to Kalgan from where he traveled to Peking over the new railroad route. He said the people of Mongolia are mostly Buddhists, and converts have been few there being but thirty at the big mission farm where he was stationed. The Mongols, he said, are dying out. The custom is that the first son is made a lama, and as celibacy is practiced by the lamas the people are decreasing.

The cargo of the steamer included 474 tons for Victoria. This was made up as follows:

Rice, 2125 mats; tea, 200 cases; lily bulbs, 2398 cases; peanuts, 200 bags; sugar, 1150 bags; general merchandise, 1949 packages. For Seattle the cargo was as follows

Tea. 10,792 cases; beancake, 9975 cakes; raw silk, 788 bales; silk goods, etc., 244 cases; fily bulbs, 805 cases; porcelain, 1222 cases; matting, 916 rolls, firecrackers, 938 cases; rice, 1353 mats; straw braid. 310 bales; general merchandise, 3765 packages. Total, 31,108.

CHURCHES' PART IN UNIVERSITY PLANS

Hon, Dr. Young Confers With Head of Methodist Educational Work in the West---To Spend Half a Million

Hon, Dr. Young, provincial minister of education, yesterday enjoyed an in formal call from a most interesting visitor in the person of Rev. Ernest W. Stapleford, who is in charge of the educutional work of the Methodist churc in Western Canada, and who naturally takes a most active and direct interest in the maturing plans for British Columbia's model university that is soon to be.

The question of the representation of the Methodist demonination on the theological campus has for some time past been obtaining practical consideration by the church authorities, who propose to spend half a million dollars on the erection and equipment of their necessary buildings, $250,000 of which is already in hand. Actual commencement of work on the Methodist buildings will begin shortly, as also the erection of the buildings at Latimer college, over which Dr. Vance so capably presides.

The arrangements in the university plans for the various theological colleges make for closer acquaintance and a resultant better understanding among he various religious bodies, and there fore indirectly for the advancement of the cause of church union, in which connection it is interesting to note that the Methodists and the Presbyterians as most nearly akin in doctrinal matters, are to be "next door neighbors."

By the coming of the spring, also, the land clearing will have sufficiently advanced for the commencement of construction of the arts building and necessary dormitories, after which the agriculture and mineral buildings will

Salvage Steamer Oura Maru Returned to Nagasaki -Hope Not Entirely Abandoned for Raising Liner

Hope has not been abandoned for the floating of the R. M. S. Empress of China, which since July 26th has been fast on Mara reef near the entrance to Tokyo bay, when the N. Y. K. steam er Inaba Maru, which reached port yes terday left Yokohama on September 27. While the salvors were still at work. the position of the stranded liner is much werse, the attempt made to float the steamer on September 13, for which long preparation has been made, resulting in failure. The salvage company had 140 men engaged and had thre large pumps at work with capacity for 1 300 tons per hour, but the leakage was too great. Another attempt is to be made, yet as the bottom of the hull is buried deep in the sand, efforts will firstly be made to remove the sand and destroy the rocks surrounding the hull and then refloating work again attempted. Accordingly the work is very difficult and it is anticipated that if this effort fails, she will be abandoned.

The Oura Maru of the Mistu Bishi Salvage company returned to Nagaski after the failure, arriving there on September 20th, and the Osaka Asahi pubished the following message from its Nagasaki correspondent: The captain of the Oura Maru is reported to have stated that the stern of the Empress liner is now under water, but her bow is high above the surface of the sea. However, the salvage operations are still going on and there is every hope that the steamer will refloated. According to a Nagasaki message to the Osaka Mainichi, one of the crew of the Oura Maru which has been engaged in indeavoring to refloat the Empress of China, reports that the steamer is being gradually carried oward the land by the heavy waves, al though anchors have been laid out astern. When the sea is quiet, a portion of the hull below the water line is seen above water, but owing to the rough seas, salvage operations can only be carried on 4 or 5 days in a month. Efforts to refloat her, after pumping the water out of the holds, were made three times but owing to the heavy swell the hull s constantly bumping on the rocks thus destroying the work previously accomplished in patching up the bottom so far, all the attempts have ended in failure. It is expected that the relief measures will end in failure, the Arims Maru is still standing by, trying to clear a passage through the rock-bestrewn bottom for the steamer if she

Peculiar Development in Mc-Namara Trial at Los Angeles Counsel Preparing for Legal Contest

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 12 .- Outdoor sleepng, a fairly common habit in Southern California, became a factor last night in the McNamara triai. Eleven falesmen locked up for the night in the newly var nished rooms of the Hall of Records, rethose addicted to the outdoor habit, and one of them, Zimri E. Hiatt, required medical assistance during the night.

The men face long confinement in the earing of James B. McNamara on the charge of murder in connection with the charge of murder in connection with the explosion and fire which destroyed the Los Angeles Times building on October 1, 1910. Sheriff William Hammel immediately took steps to alter arrangements, and the talesmen slept tonight in a roomy, vacant court room with many windows, across a court from the Irial room. The room designed for sleeping quarters was set aside as an exercise room, and windows in both were kept open.

as an exercise room, and windows in both were kept open.

Even this arrangement is not considered satisfactory, however, nor is the court reconciled to taking the talesmen to restaurants for meals. Further efforts are being made to improve conditions.

It is feared that six months of a la carte eating may prove disastrous to some of the prospective jurors, who are accustomed to home cooking, and Sheriff Hammel is looking for a private house where the jurors may have their meals and perhaps sleep.

rois may have their meals and perhaps sleep.

Some such preparations seem necessary even for the eleven talesmen now locked up because while it is agreed that probably not more than one man, and perhaps none, will be selected from this number, their examination may drag over a week. A state holiday—Discovery Day—which interrupted court proceedings today, served only as a brief lull before sharp legal encounters which are expected at the opening of court tomorrow. Officially nothing happened, but District Attorney John D. Fredericks, in a room high up in the Hall of Records and overlooking the jail where the McNamara brothers and Ortic McManigal, a first magnitude witness for the prosecution are locked up, and Attorney Clarence S. Darrow, chief counsel for the defense, in a downtown business block, gathered about them their assistants and drew plans for the impending clash.

about them their assistants and drew plans for the impending clash.

Judge Waiter Bordwell, before whom the case is on trial, took occasion to visit his chambers and dispose of routine matters, in order to have a clear field when court opens. All preparations centered on the intention of the defense to reach into the minds of talesmen to ascertain if possible their real feelings toward labor organizations. Judge Bordwell already has ruled favorably on certain questions along this line, but the extent to which the interrogation may be carried and the method in which it shall be done remain to be determined.

Z. T. Nelson, a talesman who was being examined when court adjourned yesterday, is scheduled for further examination to-orrow. Questions thus far put by the defense will be followed by others intended to show whether the talesman is without bias, or may be challenged for cause. The precious twenty peremptory challenges allowed by law will be used only as a last recourse and are to be pitted against ten peremptory challenges allowed the state.

CLOSE SESSION

Freight, Express and Telegraphic Rates Come Under Discussion-Would Extend Parcels Post System

TORONTO, Oct. 12.—The Canadian Manufacturers' association concluded its session today. The transportation committee's report reviewed Vancouver and Pacific Coast rate cases. Considerable discussion followed the reading of this report.

Much dissatisfaction was voiced at the high prevailing express rates, and the suggestion was made that more use could be made of the postal service if a more elaborate and cheaper parcel post system were introduced. Telegraph tolls in Ontario were also attacked, the statement being made that in some cases they were as high between points in this province as from Ontario to far western points.

The new officers are: Nathaniel Curry, Montreal, president; R. S. Gourlay, Toronto, vice-president; vice-chairman for British Columbia, James Ramsay, Vancouver.

The Fife Coal company have decided to proceed at once with the laying out of a new village at Valleyfield in connection with their extensive mining developments there. In all 192 houses are to be erected, of which 176 will be of two apartments, and sixteen of three apartments, the latter having baths. This is a new experiment of the company's to see whether the homes with bath rooms will be appreciated by the workmen.
