

RELIABLE STORAGE. ROBERT GARRIE, 27 Front St. East. On all kinds of goods. Estimates Solicited. Business Hours. 115

FIFTEENTH YEAR ENDS HIS LIFE WITH POISON. A FORMER TORONTIAN SUICIDES AT FORT HURON.

Left Ottawa Under a Cloud and Went to Chicago—Mystery Surrounding the Circumstances of His Death at Fort Huron—Left Disposition as to the Disposal of His Body.

Ten years ago H. B. F. Odell was a well-known freight clerk in this city. He left here for Ottawa, where he secured employment as a freight clerk on the C.P.R. and subsequently as bookkeeper at the Ottawa office.

While this investigation was in progress Odell left the town. While in Ottawa he married Miss Thomas, daughter of Liverman W. H. Thomas, one of the prominent business men of that city.

Mr. Thomas, who was in the city yesterday on route to Port Huron, gave the following account of the suicide: Odell had been in Port Huron four days and was a quiet, handsomely-dressed gentleman of about 50. Wednesday evening he attended the Scotch concert, a home entertainment, and on his return chatted pleasantly with Landlord Knill, retiring shortly after 11. At 11:30 on the morning of the 11th, Odell called on Mr. Knill, who was in the room and called him, but received no response.

Mr. Knill, who was in the room and called him, but received no response. The door was open. He went in and found Odell apparently asleep in his shirt sleeves. Unable to awaken him, Knill notified Richard Howison, night clerk, who came to the room and found Odell dead. Everything in the room was in perfect order, and Odell had evidently changed his clothes before he died. Near by on the stand there was a bottle of chloroform and one of prussic acid. Soon after a telegram addressed to Mr. Knill. The telegram read:

"W. H. Thomas, Ottawa, Ont., Canada: Mr. Knill, please send me the body of my son, H. B. F. Odell, who died last night. Come at once. Answer."

Under this message was a note to Mr. Knill, which read: "Please send this first thing in the morning and you will be well repaid for your trouble."

The communication was written in a handsome business hand and was identified as that of Mr. Odell. Mr. Knill sent the telegram immediately. The funeral was held at 94 LaSalle-street.

MOTHERS EFFORTS TO KEEP HER INFANT FROM BEING BURIED. Mrs. Brockman went into Dundas from Millgrove with her six weeks' old baby to visit her mother, Mrs. George Hix. Upon arriving at the home of her mother she was shocked to find that her baby was dead, having been accidentally smothered on the way in through her mother's hands.

FATALITY IN A FROST. Mrs. Hix, who was in the room and called him, but received no response. The door was open. He went in and found Odell apparently asleep in his shirt sleeves. Unable to awaken him, Knill notified Richard Howison, night clerk, who came to the room and found Odell dead.

Mr. Knill, who was in the room and called him, but received no response. The door was open. He went in and found Odell apparently asleep in his shirt sleeves. Unable to awaken him, Knill notified Richard Howison, night clerk, who came to the room and found Odell dead.

Mr. Knill, who was in the room and called him, but received no response. The door was open. He went in and found Odell apparently asleep in his shirt sleeves. Unable to awaken him, Knill notified Richard Howison, night clerk, who came to the room and found Odell dead.

Mr. Knill, who was in the room and called him, but received no response. The door was open. He went in and found Odell apparently asleep in his shirt sleeves. Unable to awaken him, Knill notified Richard Howison, night clerk, who came to the room and found Odell dead.

Mr. Knill, who was in the room and called him, but received no response. The door was open. He went in and found Odell apparently asleep in his shirt sleeves. Unable to awaken him, Knill notified Richard Howison, night clerk, who came to the room and found Odell dead.

Mr. Knill, who was in the room and called him, but received no response. The door was open. He went in and found Odell apparently asleep in his shirt sleeves. Unable to awaken him, Knill notified Richard Howison, night clerk, who came to the room and found Odell dead.

Mr. Knill, who was in the room and called him, but received no response. The door was open. He went in and found Odell apparently asleep in his shirt sleeves. Unable to awaken him, Knill notified Richard Howison, night clerk, who came to the room and found Odell dead.

Mr. Knill, who was in the room and called him, but received no response. The door was open. He went in and found Odell apparently asleep in his shirt sleeves. Unable to awaken him, Knill notified Richard Howison, night clerk, who came to the room and found Odell dead.

Mr. Knill, who was in the room and called him, but received no response. The door was open. He went in and found Odell apparently asleep in his shirt sleeves. Unable to awaken him, Knill notified Richard Howison, night clerk, who came to the room and found Odell dead.

OBJECT TO THE BOND ISSUE. "No Lawful Authority For Their Issue"—"A War Measure With No Economy in Sight."

WASHINGTON, Jan. 18.—The proposed issue of five per cent bonds was the subject of a resolution offered in the Senate this morning by two Populist Senators and was subsequently referred to a discussion on a bill not even remotely connected with it.

The question was again touched upon in connection with a bill appropriating $40,000 for an equatorial station at Manchester, N.Y., to a revolutionary hero, General John Starke. Mr. Morgan (Dem., Ala.) said that the government was actually too poor to honor the memory of heroic ancestors, when it had to borrow at 5 per cent on a question of the use of $40,000.

FREE WOLLYN AND STEEL RAILS. Proposed substitution of the McKinley for the Wilson wool clause Defeated.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 18.—There were two very interesting questions engaging the attention of the House today, one being a proposition submitted by Mr. Burrows to substitute the wool clause of the McKinley for that of the Wilson bill.

Internal Revenue Bill Not Ready. This was the day fixed last week by the majority of the Committee on Ways and Means to report to the House the Internal Revenue bill, but up to this evening it had not been finally put in shape for consideration.

Income Tax Bill Monday. A caucus of House Democrats will probably be held in the afternoon of Monday to consider what action will be taken with reference to that measure.

Mr. Knill, who was in the room and called him, but received no response. The door was open. He went in and found Odell apparently asleep in his shirt sleeves. Unable to awaken him, Knill notified Richard Howison, night clerk, who came to the room and found Odell dead.

Mr. Knill, who was in the room and called him, but received no response. The door was open. He went in and found Odell apparently asleep in his shirt sleeves. Unable to awaken him, Knill notified Richard Howison, night clerk, who came to the room and found Odell dead.

Mr. Knill, who was in the room and called him, but received no response. The door was open. He went in and found Odell apparently asleep in his shirt sleeves. Unable to awaken him, Knill notified Richard Howison, night clerk, who came to the room and found Odell dead.

Mr. Knill, who was in the room and called him, but received no response. The door was open. He went in and found Odell apparently asleep in his shirt sleeves. Unable to awaken him, Knill notified Richard Howison, night clerk, who came to the room and found Odell dead.

Mr. Knill, who was in the room and called him, but received no response. The door was open. He went in and found Odell apparently asleep in his shirt sleeves. Unable to awaken him, Knill notified Richard Howison, night clerk, who came to the room and found Odell dead.

Mr. Knill, who was in the room and called him, but received no response. The door was open. He went in and found Odell apparently asleep in his shirt sleeves. Unable to awaken him, Knill notified Richard Howison, night clerk, who came to the room and found Odell dead.

Mr. Knill, who was in the room and called him, but received no response. The door was open. He went in and found Odell apparently asleep in his shirt sleeves. Unable to awaken him, Knill notified Richard Howison, night clerk, who came to the room and found Odell dead.

Mr. Knill, who was in the room and called him, but received no response. The door was open. He went in and found Odell apparently asleep in his shirt sleeves. Unable to awaken him, Knill notified Richard Howison, night clerk, who came to the room and found Odell dead.

Mr. Knill, who was in the room and called him, but received no response. The door was open. He went in and found Odell apparently asleep in his shirt sleeves. Unable to awaken him, Knill notified Richard Howison, night clerk, who came to the room and found Odell dead.

Mr. Knill, who was in the room and called him, but received no response. The door was open. He went in and found Odell apparently asleep in his shirt sleeves. Unable to awaken him, Knill notified Richard Howison, night clerk, who came to the room and found Odell dead.

Mr. Knill, who was in the room and called him, but received no response. The door was open. He went in and found Odell apparently asleep in his shirt sleeves. Unable to awaken him, Knill notified Richard Howison, night clerk, who came to the room and found Odell dead.

Mr. Knill, who was in the room and called him, but received no response. The door was open. He went in and found Odell apparently asleep in his shirt sleeves. Unable to awaken him, Knill notified Richard Howison, night clerk, who came to the room and found Odell dead.

THE "BEDROOM PRINTER." STRONG MEASURES TAKEN TO ROOT HIM OUT.

Employing Printers Hold a Meeting and Decide to Withdraw Trade From All Wholesale Firms Supplying Goods on the Chattel Mortgage or Lien Plan.—The Copyright Act.

The printers of this city are at last awake to the demoralized condition of the trade as shown by the attendance at last night's meeting called by the Employing Printers' Association. A large parlor at the Rossin House was filled with representatives of all branches of the trade, and discussion was lively.

Another extension. Healey & Carlisle, extensive retail book and shoe dealers of St. Catharines, are asking an extension from their creditors spread over a year. Their liabilities are about $8000, with a net worth of $1000.

IS THIS FOR YOU? If You Are a Bargain Hunter It Will Give You a Hint. The corner of King and Yonge-streets is now a regular standing-ground for bargain-hunters, that large and growing class of shoppers which is never satisfied until the price is at the lowest possible.

Mr. Knill, who was in the room and called him, but received no response. The door was open. He went in and found Odell apparently asleep in his shirt sleeves. Unable to awaken him, Knill notified Richard Howison, night clerk, who came to the room and found Odell dead.

Mr. Knill, who was in the room and called him, but received no response. The door was open. He went in and found Odell apparently asleep in his shirt sleeves. Unable to awaken him, Knill notified Richard Howison, night clerk, who came to the room and found Odell dead.

Mr. Knill, who was in the room and called him, but received no response. The door was open. He went in and found Odell apparently asleep in his shirt sleeves. Unable to awaken him, Knill notified Richard Howison, night clerk, who came to the room and found Odell dead.

Mr. Knill, who was in the room and called him, but received no response. The door was open. He went in and found Odell apparently asleep in his shirt sleeves. Unable to awaken him, Knill notified Richard Howison, night clerk, who came to the room and found Odell dead.

Mr. Knill, who was in the room and called him, but received no response. The door was open. He went in and found Odell apparently asleep in his shirt sleeves. Unable to awaken him, Knill notified Richard Howison, night clerk, who came to the room and found Odell dead.

Mr. Knill, who was in the room and called him, but received no response. The door was open. He went in and found Odell apparently asleep in his shirt sleeves. Unable to awaken him, Knill notified Richard Howison, night clerk, who came to the room and found Odell dead.

Mr. Knill, who was in the room and called him, but received no response. The door was open. He went in and found Odell apparently asleep in his shirt sleeves. Unable to awaken him, Knill notified Richard Howison, night clerk, who came to the room and found Odell dead.

Mr. Knill, who was in the room and called him, but received no response. The door was open. He went in and found Odell apparently asleep in his shirt sleeves. Unable to awaken him, Knill notified Richard Howison, night clerk, who came to the room and found Odell dead.

Mr. Knill, who was in the room and called him, but received no response. The door was open. He went in and found Odell apparently asleep in his shirt sleeves. Unable to awaken him, Knill notified Richard Howison, night clerk, who came to the room and found Odell dead.

Mr. Knill, who was in the room and called him, but received no response. The door was open. He went in and found Odell apparently asleep in his shirt sleeves. Unable to awaken him, Knill notified Richard Howison, night clerk, who came to the room and found Odell dead.

Mr. Knill, who was in the room and called him, but received no response. The door was open. He went in and found Odell apparently asleep in his shirt sleeves. Unable to awaken him, Knill notified Richard Howison, night clerk, who came to the room and found Odell dead.

Mr. Knill, who was in the room and called him, but received no response. The door was open. He went in and found Odell apparently asleep in his shirt sleeves. Unable to awaken him, Knill notified Richard Howison, night clerk, who came to the room and found Odell dead.

Mr. Knill, who was in the room and called him, but received no response. The door was open. He went in and found Odell apparently asleep in his shirt sleeves. Unable to awaken him, Knill notified Richard Howison, night clerk, who came to the room and found Odell dead.

Mr. Knill, who was in the room and called him, but received no response. The door was open. He went in and found Odell apparently asleep in his shirt sleeves. Unable to awaken him, Knill notified Richard Howison, night clerk, who came to the room and found Odell dead.

FRIDAY MORNING, JANUARY 19 1894

DON'T SCARE TEA DRINKERS. DEALERS SAY POISONOUS TEA ARE NOT SOLD IN CANADA.

Ping Sney Are Not All Adulterated—Small and Disreputable Portion of This Variety in the Canadian Trade—Some Goods Rejected by New York Authorities Offered for Sale Here.

The announcement made in the New York papers and reproduced on this side, that a quantity of tea was rejected by the customs authorities at New York as adulterated, has been taken up by the tea dealers in this city.

Mr. Knill, who was in the room and called him, but received no response. The door was open. He went in and found Odell apparently asleep in his shirt sleeves. Unable to awaken him, Knill notified Richard Howison, night clerk, who came to the room and found Odell dead.

Mr. Knill, who was in the room and called him, but received no response. The door was open. He went in and found Odell apparently asleep in his shirt sleeves. Unable to awaken him, Knill notified Richard Howison, night clerk, who came to the room and found Odell dead.

Mr. Knill, who was in the room and called him, but received no response. The door was open. He went in and found Odell apparently asleep in his shirt sleeves. Unable to awaken him, Knill notified Richard Howison, night clerk, who came to the room and found Odell dead.

Mr. Knill, who was in the room and called him, but received no response. The door was open. He went in and found Odell apparently asleep in his shirt sleeves. Unable to awaken him, Knill notified Richard Howison, night clerk, who came to the room and found Odell dead.

Mr. Knill, who was in the room and called him, but received no response. The door was open. He went in and found Odell apparently asleep in his shirt sleeves. Unable to awaken him, Knill notified Richard Howison, night clerk, who came to the room and found Odell dead.

Mr. Knill, who was in the room and called him, but received no response. The door was open. He went in and found Odell apparently asleep in his shirt sleeves. Unable to awaken him, Knill notified Richard Howison, night clerk, who came to the room and found Odell dead.

Mr. Knill, who was in the room and called him, but received no response. The door was open. He went in and found Odell apparently asleep in his shirt sleeves. Unable to awaken him, Knill notified Richard Howison, night clerk, who came to the room and found Odell dead.

Mr. Knill, who was in the room and called him, but received no response. The door was open. He went in and found Odell apparently asleep in his shirt sleeves. Unable to awaken him, Knill notified Richard Howison, night clerk, who came to the room and found Odell dead.

Mr. Knill, who was in the room and called him, but received no response. The door was open. He went in and found Odell apparently asleep in his shirt sleeves. Unable to awaken him, Knill notified Richard Howison, night clerk, who came to the room and found Odell dead.

Mr. Knill, who was in the room and called him, but received no response. The door was open. He went in and found Odell apparently asleep in his shirt sleeves. Unable to awaken him, Knill notified Richard Howison, night clerk, who came to the room and found Odell dead.

Mr. Knill, who was in the room and called him, but received no response. The door was open. He went in and found Odell apparently asleep in his shirt sleeves. Unable to awaken him, Knill notified Richard Howison, night clerk, who came to the room and found Odell dead.

Mr. Knill, who was in the room and called him, but received no response. The door was open. He went in and found Odell apparently asleep in his shirt sleeves. Unable to awaken him, Knill notified Richard Howison, night clerk, who came to the room and found Odell dead.

Mr. Knill, who was in the room and called him, but received no response. The door was open. He went in and found Odell apparently asleep in his shirt sleeves. Unable to awaken him, Knill notified Richard Howison, night clerk, who came to the room and found Odell dead.

Mr. Knill, who was in the room and called him, but received no response. The door was open. He went in and found Odell apparently asleep in his shirt sleeves. Unable to awaken him, Knill notified Richard Howison, night clerk, who came to the room and found Odell dead.

Mr. Knill, who was in the room and called him, but received no response. The door was open. He went in and found Odell apparently asleep in his shirt sleeves. Unable to awaken him, Knill notified Richard Howison, night clerk, who came to the room and found Odell dead.

UP TO HIS NECK. TO STEAL CANADIAN HONORS.

YANKS TRYING TO PILE UP WORLD'S FAIR AWARDS. Regular Judging of Implements As Chicago-Canada and the Wilson Bill—To Honoring Queen Lil in Vancouver—Canadian Textiles Praised by the President of the Austrian Jurors.

OTTAWA, Jan. 18.—Mr. J. S. Larke, Executive Commissioner for Canada at the World's Fair has returned from Washington, where he has been for some time past looking after the interests of some of the exhibitors who are likely to be disappointed in open competition, but of which they will probably be defrauded.

Mr. Knill, who was in the room and called him, but received no response. The door was open. He went in and found Odell apparently asleep in his shirt sleeves. Unable to awaken him, Knill notified Richard Howison, night clerk, who came to the room and found Odell dead.

Mr. Knill, who was in the room and called him, but received no response. The door was open. He went in and found Odell apparently asleep in his shirt sleeves. Unable to awaken him, Knill notified Richard Howison, night clerk, who came to the room and found Odell dead.

Mr. Knill, who was in the room and called him, but received no response. The door was open. He went in and found Odell apparently asleep in his shirt sleeves. Unable to awaken him, Knill notified Richard Howison, night clerk, who came to the room and found Odell dead.

Mr. Knill, who was in the room and called him, but received no response. The door was open. He went in and found Odell apparently asleep in his shirt sleeves. Unable to awaken him, Knill notified Richard Howison, night clerk, who came to the room and found Odell dead.

Mr. Knill, who was in the room and called him, but received no response. The door was open. He went in and found Odell apparently asleep in his shirt sleeves. Unable to awaken him, Knill notified Richard Howison, night clerk, who came to the room and found Odell dead.

Mr. Knill, who was in the room and called him, but received no response. The door was open. He went in and found Odell apparently asleep in his shirt sleeves. Unable to awaken him, Knill notified Richard Howison, night clerk, who came to the room and found Odell dead.

Mr. Knill, who was in the room and called him, but received no response. The door was open. He went in and found Odell apparently asleep in his shirt sleeves. Unable to awaken him, Knill notified Richard Howison, night clerk, who came to the room and found Odell dead.

Mr. Knill, who was in the room and called him, but received no response. The door was open. He went in and found Odell apparently asleep in his shirt sleeves. Unable to awaken him, Knill notified Richard Howison, night clerk, who came to the room and found Odell dead.

Mr. Knill, who was in the room and called him, but received no response. The door was open. He went in and found Odell apparently asleep in his shirt sleeves. Unable to awaken him, Knill notified Richard Howison, night clerk, who came to the room and found Odell dead.

Mr. Knill, who was in the room and called him, but received no response. The door was open. He went in and found Odell apparently asleep in his shirt sleeves. Unable to awaken him, Knill notified Richard Howison, night clerk, who came to the room and found Odell dead.

Mr. Knill, who was in the room and called him, but received no response. The door was open. He went in and found Odell apparently asleep in his shirt sleeves. Unable to awaken him, Knill notified Richard Howison, night clerk, who came to the room and found Odell dead.

Mr. Knill, who was in the room and called him, but received no response. The door was open. He went in and found Odell apparently asleep in his shirt sleeves. Unable to awaken him, Knill notified Richard Howison, night clerk, who came to the room and found Odell dead.

Mr. Knill, who was in the room and called him, but received no response. The door was open. He went in and found Odell apparently asleep in his shirt sleeves. Unable to awaken him, Knill notified Richard Howison, night clerk, who came to the room and found Odell dead.

Mr. Knill, who was in the room and called him, but received no response. The door was open. He went in and found Odell apparently asleep in his shirt sleeves. Unable to awaken him, Knill notified Richard Howison, night clerk, who came to the room and found Odell dead.

Mr. Knill, who was in the room and called him, but received no response. The door was open. He went in and found Odell apparently asleep in his shirt sleeves. Unable to awaken him, Knill notified Richard Howison, night clerk, who came to the room and found Odell dead.

And Neither Messrs. Carlisle or Wilson have as yet succeeded in rescuing him.

THEY ALL USE SUNDAY CARDS.

MONTEAL, Jan. 18.—Church of England clergyman in Montreal Friday advised that they Sunday street cars and find them a great convenience, but yet at the expense of the Lord's Day, in which Sunday is the consumption of Ping Sney tea here as he declared they were almost out of this market. He believed that some of the inferior classes of Ping Sney tea were made in some of the adulterated, but because of the bad condition of the leaf itself.

Mr. Knill, who was in the room and called him, but received no response. The door was open. He went in and found Odell apparently asleep in his shirt sleeves. Unable to awaken him, Knill notified Richard Howison, night clerk, who came to the room and found Odell dead.

Mr. Knill, who was in the room and called him, but received no response. The door was open. He went in and found Odell apparently asleep in his shirt sleeves. Unable to awaken him, Knill notified Richard Howison, night clerk, who came to the room and found Odell dead.

Mr. Knill, who was in the room and called him, but received no response. The door was open. He went in and found Odell apparently asleep in his shirt sleeves. Unable to awaken him, Knill notified Richard Howison, night clerk, who came to the room and found Odell dead.

Mr. Knill, who was in the room and called him, but received no response. The door was open. He went in and found Odell apparently asleep in his shirt sleeves. Unable to awaken him, Knill notified Richard Howison, night clerk, who came to the room and found Odell dead.

Mr. Knill, who was in the room and called him, but received no response. The door was open. He went in and found Odell apparently asleep in his shirt sleeves. Unable to awaken him, Knill notified Richard Howison, night clerk, who came to the room and found Odell dead.

Mr. Knill, who was in the room and called him, but received no response. The door was open. He went in and found Odell apparently asleep in his shirt sleeves. Unable to awaken him, Knill notified Richard Howison, night clerk, who came to the room and found Odell dead.

LADIES' FINE AMERICAN RUBBERS. Finest and Best in the City. TORONTO RUBBER COMPANY, LTD. 28 KING-ST. WEST.

ONE CENT.

TO STEAL CANADIAN HONORS.

YANKS TRYING TO PILE UP WORLD'S FAIR AWARDS. Regular Judging of Implements As Chicago-Canada and the Wilson Bill—To Honoring Queen Lil in Vancouver—Canadian Textiles Praised by the President of the Austrian Jurors.

OTTAWA, Jan. 18.—Mr. J. S. Larke, Executive Commissioner for Canada at the World's Fair has returned from Washington, where he has been for some time past looking after the interests of some of the exhibitors who are likely to be disappointed in open competition, but of which they will probably be defrauded.

Mr. Knill, who was in the room and called him, but received no response. The door was open. He went in and found Odell apparently asleep in his shirt sleeves. Unable to awaken him, Knill notified Richard Howison, night clerk, who came to the room and found Odell dead.

Mr. Knill, who was in the room and called him, but received no response. The door was open. He went in and found Odell apparently asleep in his shirt sleeves. Unable to awaken him, Knill notified Richard Howison, night clerk, who came to the room and found Odell dead.

Mr. Knill, who was in the room and called him, but received no response. The door was open. He went in and found Odell apparently asleep in his shirt sleeves. Unable to awaken him, Knill notified Richard Howison, night clerk, who came to the room and found Odell dead.

Mr. Knill, who was in the room and called him, but received no response. The door was open. He went in and found Odell apparently asleep in his shirt sleeves. Unable to awaken him, Knill notified Richard Howison, night clerk, who came to the room and found Odell dead.

Mr. Knill, who was in the room and called him, but received no response. The door was open. He went in and found Odell apparently asleep in his shirt sleeves. Unable to awaken him, Knill notified Richard Howison, night clerk, who came to the room and found Odell dead.

Mr. Knill, who was in the room and called him, but received no response. The door was open. He went in and found Odell apparently asleep in his shirt sleeves. Unable to awaken him, Knill notified Richard Howison, night clerk, who came to the room and found Odell dead.

Mr. Knill, who was in the room and called him, but received no response. The door was open. He went in and found Odell apparently asleep in his shirt sleeves. Unable to awaken him, Knill notified Richard Howison, night clerk, who came to the room and found Odell dead.

Mr. Knill, who was in the room and called him, but received no response. The door was open. He went in and found Odell apparently asleep in his shirt sleeves. Unable to awaken him, Knill notified Richard Howison, night clerk, who came to the room and found Odell dead.

Mr. Knill, who was in the room and called him, but received no response. The door was open. He went in and found Odell apparently asleep in his shirt sleeves. Unable to awaken him, Knill notified Richard Howison, night clerk, who came to the room and found Odell dead.

Mr. Knill, who was in the room and called him, but received no response. The door was open. He went in and found Odell apparently asleep in his shirt sleeves. Unable to awaken him, Knill notified Richard Howison, night clerk, who came to the room and found Odell dead.

Mr. Knill, who was in the room and called him, but received no response. The door was open. He went in and found Odell apparently asleep in his shirt sleeves. Unable to awaken him, Knill notified Richard Howison, night clerk, who came to the room and found Odell dead.

Mr. Knill, who was in the room and called him, but received no response. The door was open. He went in and found Odell apparently asleep in his shirt sleeves. Unable to awaken him, Knill notified Richard Howison, night clerk, who came to the room and found Odell dead.

Mr. Knill, who was in the room and called him, but received no response. The door was open. He went in and found Odell apparently asleep in his shirt sleeves. Unable to awaken him, Knill notified Richard Howison, night clerk, who came to the room and found Odell dead.

Mr. Knill, who was in the room and called him, but received no response. The door was open. He went in and found Odell apparently asleep in his shirt sleeves. Unable to awaken him, Knill notified Richard Howison, night clerk, who came to the room and found Odell dead.

Mr. Knill, who was in the room and called him, but received no response. The door was open. He went in and found Odell apparently asleep in his shirt sleeves. Unable to awaken him, Knill notified Richard Howison, night clerk, who came to the room and found Odell dead.