EARLY CLOSING.
While we are waiting for the Legislature to give the people a weekly half-holiday, it would not be a bad idea if the leading merchants were to shorten the business day, during the summer at least, and to follow the practice of those who close up their establishments on Saturday afternoon. It should not be difficult to strengthen public opinion to this effect on this question that the merchant would find it would not pay him to set such an opinion at defiance. First of all, we have the great army of people who are employed in the stores in a few weeks of the year. The press is in favor of the project, and the clergy have gone so far as to recommend the idea from the pulpit. The merchants would only be too glad to secure unanimity among themselves in favor of early closing. Any store that is conducted on good business principles need not fear the loss of business that is supposed to follow from early closing. The T. Eaton Co. have closed their premises at an early hour for the last eight years, and when most other firms were doing business on Saturday afternoon this firm had its doors locked to the public. If public opinion is worked up on the lines suggested above, the sentiment in favor of shorter hours will become so strong that no business house that wishes to retain the good will of the public can afford to keep its employees working after 6 o'clock, or deprive them of the Saturday half-holiday. It would be to the advantage of us all if the shopping of the day can be confined to seven or eight hours. This period affords ample time for everyone. When the shopping day is extended to ten or twelve hours, the difference is only so much lost time.

THE HORSELESS CARRIAGE.
Full particulars are not yet to hand of the "horseless carriage" race that was run last week from Paris to Bordeaux and back. We learn, however, that one of the carriages covered the distance, which is 730 miles, in something less than 49 hours, an average close upon 15 miles an hour. The motor that propelled the fastest vehicle was driven by a petroleum engine. Various other motors were used in the different stages, but those operated by petroleum seemed to obtain the best results. In this competition it should be remembered that the vehicle traveled over roads not much better, if any better, than the leading roads of Ontario. The carriages were compelled to go up hill and down dale and to face the ordinary conditions of road traffic along the route. A feature of the race that merits notice is that no act of impudence detracted from its success. The race has established this fact, that in a competition of the kind horses would not be in it at all. Even if there was a relay of horses every ten miles the speed obtained by the petroleum engine could not be obtained. The horseless carriage has promise of a great and useful future; and in these days of rapid changes it ought not to require many years to drive the horse off the streets, for business purposes at least. As a medium for recreation and sport the noble animal will probably remain as long as the sporting instinct in man keeps alive, but for business purposes the community has no use for the horse; provided a better substitute is forthcoming, years they were gold heart brooches, the gift of the groom.

YESTERDAY'S BANK MEETINGS.
The shareholders of the Imperial Bank of Canada held their 20th annual general meeting at this city yesterday. President H. S. Howland, in the chair. The report presented by the directors showed that the net profits for the year ending May 31, 1895, amounted to $203,600.88, out of which two half-yearly dividends of 4 per cent. each and a bonus of 1 per cent. for the second half-year were paid. Allusion was made in the report to the improvement that has set in in both trade and in prices, and the exhibit as presented by the directors shows that the bank is in an excellent position to avail itself of any further revival in business. The directors have recommended that the unabsorbed capital stock amounting to $64 shares, be disposed of at an early date, in accordance with the provision of the Banking Act. A branch of the bank is about to be opened in Vancouver, B.C., where good results are expected.

The directors of the Standard Bank of Canada met their shareholders at the banking house at this city yesterday, and presented an exceedingly satisfactory statement, showing that the profits for the year ending May 31, 1895, amounted to $101,544.83. Two half-yearly dividends of 4 per cent. each were paid, and the sum of $21,920.43 carried to the profit and loss account. The report alludes to the appointment on the board of Ald. James Scott in place of the late Dr. G.

D. Morton, and also of the appointment of Mr. George P. Reid, the late assistant manager, to the position of manager, made vacant by the death of the late Mr. J. L. Brodie. The bank appears to be carefully and economically managed and is doing a good sound business, both at its head office and at its various branches.

The stockholders of the Bank of Toronto held their 39th annual meeting yesterday, President George Gooderham in the chair. The report of the directors showed the net profits for the year amounted to $204,325.54, out of which two half-yearly dividends of 5 per cent. each were paid and $75,492.90 carried forward to next year.

CANADIAN AND AMERICAN DIVORCE LAWS.
The divorce laws of the United States and Canada are widely different in their scope and application. The laws of the two countries run to extremes. In Canada the obtaining of a divorce involves such an expense and so much legal formality that very few think of seeking redress from marital unhappiness in this way. In the United States, on the other hand, the facility with which divorces are obtained in some of the states has questioned the nation. In Canada the question of divorce rests with the Dominion Parliament. In the adjoining republic, however, each state has its own laws as soon as the United States decide on making further amendments to their constitution, one such amendment will undoubtedly transfer the authority as to marriage and divorce to the state legislatures, to the National Congress. The absurdities of the present system, or rather lack of system, are so apparent that it is a matter of surprise that such an amendment has not yet been adopted.

In New York a woman can secure a divorce from her husband for every known cause, and the court will leave her free, but bar him from marrying again. But the man can go to New Jersey within a half hour, marry there and return to New York with his new wife. The court that would have treated him as a criminal if he had married on its side of the river is compelled to acknowledge the validity of the New Jersey law.

A correspondent writing from Oklahoma gives a startling picture of the social scandals and debasing official juggling that prevail there. According to this writer, any man or woman desiring a divorce can, after a residence of only a few weeks, and the payment of an essential fee, secure a divorce without notice to the other party. A notice in the columns of a local weekly is regarded by the courts as sufficient service of complaint to the defendant. Nor is it necessary that the complainant should appear in court, an affidavit of the facts, sworn to before a notary and read by the judge in chambers, being all that is necessary to secure a favorable decree.

According to this correspondent there are now in Oklahoma more than 1000 persons from different parts of the United States establishing a legal residence with a view to securing a divorce. The law requires a residence of three months, but the courts are so accommodating that the time may be shortened for a consideration. Many of these divorce seekers are wealthy and are accompanied by a friend of the other sex, and after the divorce is granted these people pay big fees to a local lawyer to carry them, and then they go back to add another blight to the social world with which they came.

While our laws on this subject are so much to be preferred to those of the United States, yet a reform is much needed in this country. The present granting of divorces should be taken from the Senate, which is a political body, and transferred to a court specially organized for the purpose. We have copied most of our legal procedure from Great Britain, and we cannot do better than introduce the English system in dealing with divorces. The law in Canada is all right, but it is carried out in such a way that only the wealthy can take advantage of it.

Fashionable Wedding at Cobourg.
Cobourg, June 19.—There took place in St. Peter's Church this afternoon a brilliant social function, when Miss Nora A. Macdonald, a charmingly educated young lady, became the wife of Mr. John W. Dryden, son of Mr. John Dryden of the firm of W. A. Murray & Co., Toronto, the ceremony being performed by Rev. Rural Dean Sprague, in the presence of a large and fashionable assemblage.

The bride, who was led to the altar by her father, was attired in a dress of ivory white brocade, heavily embroidered with pearls, and trimmed with orange blossoms, and carried a wreath of orange blossoms and carried a huge bouquet of white bride roses.

The groom, who was dressed in a tuxedo, was escorted by Miss Edith Dainton and Miss Dumble of Cobourg. There were becomingly fifty guests in the wedding party, and the bride and groom were accompanied by their bridesmaids and large chaffron picture hats. They carried bouquets of pink carnations and may, and had in their hands they were gold heart brooches, the gift of the groom.

The best man was Mr. Clarence Rogers of Toronto, and the ushers were Mr. George Armour, Dr. Donald Armour, Major McGee, Mr. L. G. McCarthy, Mr. R. McCulloch, Mr. A. P. Burritt, all of Toronto.

The Postponed Fireworks.
Owing to the slight shower of rain that fell at 6 o'clock yesterday afternoon the Toronto Fireworks Company were compelled to postpone their grand exhibition of fireworks announced to take place at Hamilton's Point last evening. The delicate nature of the small connecting fuses of the large set pieces when exposed to the slightest dampness rendered the successful working of the same, so from necessity the postponement became necessary. As soon as the light became clear the company did all in their power to make the public aware of the fact, and the postponement was announced by special bulletins in the windows of their respective offices, while the newspapers on the wharves and ticket offices of the company also announcing the postponement. The company was disappointed of the public, but they promise that if the weather permits they will give the fireworks display on Sunday, June 21st, at Hamilton's Point.
