TRIP TO THE PACIFIC COAST

Greatest 'Musical Evangelist'.

The business sessions of the different branches of the Order were held in the forenoon of each day, the afternoon and evenings were spent in sightseeing and various entertainments. The hospitality of the western people is unlimited.

Portland is an ideal city in which to spend a week, a city of homes and called the "Rose City" because roses grow in profusion and bloom the whole year. A mild climate throughout the year, average temperature 50.0 lowest temp. in February 37.0, highest in August 71.0. The city covers seventy square miles and has a park area of 2,046 acres and 18 public play-grounds, splendid schools, fine churches, public buildings and stores. Portland is one of the leading exporting ports. A number of mills are situated on the Columbia River. It is the terminus of five trans-Continental Railways, giving service north, south, east and west.

From Portland we took the famous "Shasta Route" to San Francisco, this trip was full of interest as we climb the Siskiyou mountain, in the trip of one hour, a distance of seventeen miles, we go up 2,135 feet, the grades being overcome by horse curves, with the track winding round the mountain and visible at one point in three places, each below the other, in Conner Gulch, one tunnel crosses directly above another tunnel. Pilot Knob, a prominent landmark of the Indians appears to view and soon we get our first glimpse of Mount Shasta, snow-covered, and rising to the height of 14,580 feet. As the train winds around the mountain it appears first on one side then on the other. Several other peaks of the Coast Range can be seen in the distance and away east in the distance the Cascade Range.

We have crossed the boundary line between Oregon and California, the temperature is falling fast, we are now 322 miles from Portland and 407 miles from San Francisco, and 460 miles above the sea level. From Weed we run south through the foot hills of Mt. Shasta which towers 12,000 miles to the east and presents the most remarkable clean-cut view of a mountain of such height and grandeur. Later on we run six miles on a plateau above the Sacramento River Canyon. The river is a thousand feet below, a turn is then made into the Timpani Canyon and then for hours follows the river, crossing it eighteen times in thirty-two miles.

At Shasta station the train stopped long enough for all passengers to get out and have a drink of the sparkling Shasta Mineral water, which is piped in at the station from the famous Shasta Springs a few miles away. The route, the mountain and the mineral water made its impression on the memory of a never to be forgotten trip. Indeed it was hard for a lover of nature to leave the exhilarating zone of the sweet scented woods and tang of mountain air for another three hundred miles in the study train.

At Davis Creek we get our last glimpse of "Shasta" and are now descending very rapidly and are coming into the fertile lands of California, passing some large oaks, the white oaks on low lands and black oak on uplands. Corning is the centre of a large fruit and olive plantation. Two olive canneries are located here. Orland is the sight of a Government irrigation system, storing the waters of Stoney Creek to irrigate the twenty thousand acres lemons, oranges, raisin grapes and alfalfa. Farming districts, vineyards, fruit canning districts are then seen and then Sacramento, the capital of California, the largest inland city of the State, and principal manufacturing city and shipping point. It is situated on the Sacramento River, which is navigable for seventy-five miles from the city. The Capitol building is situated in a beautiful park of thirty-five acres and cost $2,000,000. Sacramento is only 89 miles from San Francisco.

Richmond is one of California's younger cities and has a population of 27,000. Berkeley is the seat of the University of California and is a charming city. The University campus is a place of imposing granite buildings, green lawns, fine groves of ancient oaks and towering candelabra trees, a bell tower 267 feet high, Greek Theatre and the University of California Memorial Stadium with a seating capacity of 50,000, this was completed in 1924 at a cost of $2,000,000.

Oakland is a fine city of beautiful homes and handsome business buildings, well as a commercial centre. Oakland Pier extends mile into the bay, here we boarded one of the ferry steamers and the trip of four miles was made in eighteen minutes, landing at Ferry Station at the foot of Market Street, San Francisco.

San Francisco has a population of 800,000 is built upon a commanding heights overlooking the Bay. Its position marks it out as a fine seaport. Golden Gate, the entrance to the harbour is a Strait about five miles long and two miles wide, fifty-five to fifty-seven feet in depth at low water. The Presidio with its cantonments of regular troops, holds an important place among the nation's garrison-posts. Golden Gate Park is the centre of its outdoor life and covers 1,012 acres. It is a huge made park and a wonderful interesting place with its Japanese Tea Garden, Museum, Art Gallery, Aquarium, trees and flowers, and eleven lakes with their Dutch Windmills. For some unknown reason we were not impressed with San Francisco as with the other cities we visited. We may have expected too much.

Twelve hours ride on the Southern Pacific Coast Line passing through most interesting Cities, Towns, farming districts, olive and walnut groves, all wells, orange and apricot groves, fields of sugar beets and beans, and following the shores of the Pacific Ocean for many miles we arrived at Los Angeles. Spanish "Nuestra Señora la Reina de los Angeles," meaning Queen of the Angels, that is why it is called "City of Angels" and it was here to judge all the people who live there by the folk we met while there, it well deserves its name.

Los Angeles is the largest city in western America, and has a population of 1,150,000 and covers an area of 410 square miles. It has three Continental Railway Systems, the Southern Pacific, Union Pacific, Santa Fe, also the Pacific Electric touching all the principal points in Southern California, and motor stage lines, running in all directions. Nearly one hundred and fifty steamship lines connect Los Angeles harbor with the world's markets. Its factories turn out annually $1,200,000,000 worth of manufactured goods. Its paved streets, attractive homes, parks, play-grounds—open all the year—and its schools are among the best in the nation. One of its great achievements was the building of Aqueducts, 230 miles long, bringing pure water to the city from Owen River on the east side of the Sierra Nevada Mountains, across the Mojave Desert and beneath the Coast Range. William Mulholland was the chief engineer, employing four thousand men. It was built at a cost of $24,000,000.

Los Angeles ranks high among the oil producing districts of the world. Thirty-five oil tanker lines are operating out of local harbours. The oil is piped direct to the harbour from the oil fields. Experts say that there is so much oil beneath the surface that decades will pass before the supply is greatly depleted.

While there we found some former Bridgetown people, who are doing well in this western city. Miss Reta Abbott, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Abbott, has been there about four years and is now private secretary to the President of the California Bank. Laurie Palfrey is climbing high in the Merchants National Bank, is now in the General Books Department, and he and his wife are very popular among their many friends. Gerald Palfrey, B.A., who has been teaching in Winnipeg for a number of years, has accepted a position in Gardfield High School, one of the best schools in Los Angeles, and is taking special Universities studies for M.A. degree. These two boys are sons of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Palfrey. Dr. A. S. Borza, a brother

HEALTH BROKE DOWN

Could Not Get Sleep for Hours After Going to Bed.

"It is not natural for me to sit down and write a letter in praise of a proprietary medicine as I had always been skeptical as to their virtues." Thus writes Mr. Arthur Seguin, Storhacks, Sask., who further says:—"But three years ago I opened a general store here in Storhacks and placed on my shelves a few lines of the best known proprietary medicines. Among these, naturally, were Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. As there were three of my customers who were obtaining good results from taking the pills, and as I was in need of a medicine I decided to try them myself.

"I had been suffering from catarrh for years, and my inside work had completely broken down my health. I was coughing all day, suffered from indigestion, and could not sleep until three or four hours after retiring. I started the pills, not with any great confidence, but by the time I had finished the second box I marked much improvement. At the fourth box I felt quite recovered, but continued them for some further time. My cough has left me, the indigestion has disappeared and I now fall asleep almost as soon as I am in bed. In my store now I do not hesitate to recommend Dr. Williams' Pink Pills to anybody who are feeling run-down or without energy. I think they are a blessing to mankind."

If others who may feel skeptical will give Dr. Williams' Pink Pills a fair trial they will be convinced of the truth. You can get the pills from your druggist, or by mail at 50 cents a box from The Dr. Williams Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

London—A million and a half dollars in German reparations has been received by Canada under the Dawes' plan, and by the end of this year this sum will total two millions.

In addition to this, the British Government has promised to furnish within the next month a statement of all reparations either in kind or under the 25 per cent. duty which was formerly charged on German goods, which it has received in the last five years.

of Mrs. Palfrey, has been in Los Angeles for twenty-five years. He has not only been financially successful but he and his wife are filling a large place in church, social and lodge work. Their nephew Harold Barnes is a fine young man, a former soldier, and though he is having a hard battle for health as the result of trench life, he is bravely fighting and winning, and has been financially successful, owning a home and other property in Glendale.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Eldridge are living at Pasadena, a few miles from Los Angeles, and are doing well in the Real Estate business. Mrs. Eldridge, nee Lillian McAlpna, R.N., is formerly from N. B. Saw service in France and filled responsible positions in the Hospitals of Calgary and Los Angeles.

Dr. Francis, pastor of the First Baptist Church, Los Angeles, is from Nova Scotia and is filling a big place ministering to the people of one of the leading churches of the west.

At Santa Monica we met Flora Dodge who is well known here. Miss Dodge is one of the girls who having become wealthy knows how to use her wealth, always doing for other. At a picnic given by her at Santa Monica beach, we met Rev. Clayton Legg and his sister, Miss Susie Legg, who is with her brother since her mother passed away. Rev. Legg is a man for Bridgetown to be justly proud of. Our friend Edith Crosskill was also at that Nova Scotia picnic.

At Pomona we saw Willie Whitman and family and his sisters, Mrs. Trewbridge and Eve Whitman. Mr. Whitman is a leader in citizenship and church work, he is S. S. teacher, leader in boys work and deacon of the First Baptist Church for the past seven years. This church has a membership of 560, average attendance at the Sunday school last year was 524.

At Pomona we also met Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Dodge and James Dodge, brothers of Miss Flora, another brother, Rev. Arthur C. Dodge is graduating from Theological Seminary, Alexandria, Virginia, in the spring.

At Long Beach we had the pleasure of spending an hour or more with Mrs. Livingston, nee Nellie Hoyt, in their splendid home. At San Diego we saw Dr. Williams, Mr. and Mrs. Parnsworth and Ernest Williams, all doing well and enjoying Southern California.

We returned home by Santa Fee to Chicago, Michigan Central to Detroit. At Montreal we met two young doctors, students of McGill Medical College, Class 1925, Rev. Sather and Brinton Hall, also Myrtle Hayward, B.A., B.S.C., spent part of Sunday with us. Miss Hayward is Science teacher in MacDonald College, St. Anne, Quebec. MacDonald College is affiliated with McGill College and at all classes and public functions she has a place with the other professors of both institutions.

We feel justly proud of all the former Bridgetown people and others from the Maritime Provinces whom we met while away. It is to be regretted that so many have to leave home to secure higher education and seek their life work but since they do we are glad to know that the influences and environment of their early life has helped them to excel in whatever vocation they have chosen.

CANT OUT-TALK A PRINTER.

The late P. T. Barnum said: "If you have $19 to use, put $10 of it into advertising. I can out-talk any man but a printer." The man who talks every week to a thousand men while I am talking to a few, is the man I am afraid of and I want to be his friend. Trade with the man who advertises and you get bargains and the worth of your money. Patronize your paper as your paper and as you would any other enterprise, because it helps you. The local papers are religiously read and are the very best avenues for imparting to customers or profilers simple, but extremely important information."

There are two sides to everything—except the most expensive photograph records.
