Port Wade

Schooner "Onward" Capt. Johnson, is loaded with lumber and piling at anchor in the stream awaiting a chance out. Daniel Crouin with a party of men is overhauling the slip in the Gov. Pier, rebolting to the stringers where there has been some working caused by the seas. He will also put ladders to pier. Mr. Reid, contractor of Halifax, wrote a party here last week that he should expect him to have a lot of timber ready as he and his foreman would be here in a few days to begin work on the elevated road. Ella Johns, after spending the summer here with her parents, returned to Lynn on Saturday. Mr. and Mrs. C. D. Arthur entertained a party of friends at their home on Friday evening, it being the sixth anniversary of their marriage. Lucy Hayes is quite ill at this writing, only being able to sit up a few minutes each day. The new lighthouse is being rapidly pushed to completion, two extra hands being put on last week, Messrs Balcom and Foster, Karadale. Alec Nelson will go on the "Port Wade" as engineer for the winter. F. J. Morrison and David Hayden are towing quite a lot of timber round into the Basin, from the Bay side with their power boats. Minnie Snow has recovered from her recent illness so as to be out again. The death of Mrs. Norman Apt occurred at her home on Saturday night, of consumption. She leaves a sick husband and eight small children to mourn the loss of a kind wife and mother. Much sympathy is felt for the bereaved family. Preaching services here Sunday afternoon at 2.30, next Sunday in evening at 7, Pastor West to conduct them. The Singing Party was held Sunday evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Edwd. Johns. We are hoping to start our Division next Saturday evening. After a sleep of four months, we should wake up refreshed, and with greater energy and higher appreciations in the work of the Temperance cause.

Smith Cove

The home of Mr. and Mrs. J. Harvey Hunt, Smith's Cove, was the scene of a very quiet but interesting event, on Wednesday afternoon, Sept. 23th, when their youngest daughter, Violette L., was united in marriage to Mr. Charles L. Merritt, of Worcester, Mass. The bridal party entered the parlor to the strains of Mendelssohn's Wedding March, which was beautifully rendered by Miss Helena Purdy, of Annapolis. The bride was attired in a becoming gown of white silk and carried an arm bouquet of sweet peas and asparagus ferns. She was attended by her sister, Miss Annie F., who was attired in pale blue silk and carried an arm bouquet of yellow chrysanthemums. The groom was assisted by Mr. Charles L. Reynolds, of Massachusetts. The house was tastefully decorated for the occasion with cut flowers and potted plants, the bridal party standing beneath an arch from which hung a large horseshoe of flowers. The bride was the recipient of many useful and valuable presents, showing the high esteem in which she is held by her many friends and relatives. The groom's present to the bridesmaid was a handsome gold brooch, and to the groomsmen a pair of monogram gold cuff links. After refreshments were served the happy couple were driven to Digby, where they boarded the Bluenose for Yarmouth, en route for Worcester, Mass., where the groom is stationed, and where they will in future reside. The bride's going-away gown was of Alice-blue broadcloth, with white satin hat trimmed with plumes. Mrs. Merritt will be very much missed both in church and social circles, and the best wishes of a host of friends for a long life of happiness and prosperity follow her. The groom is a son of Mrs. John H. Smith, of Smith's Cove. St. Croix The death of Mrs. Eliza Hogan, an aged and esteemed member of this community took place on Sunday morning, October the tenth. Her death was quite sudden after only a two days illness. She was eighty-one years of age and a widow of the late Charles Hogan. MINARD'S LINIMENT RELIEVES NEURALGIA.
