RECEIVING REPORT OF COMMITTEE OF THE WHOLE ON SUPPLIES.

MR. CHRISTIE moved, that the salary of the Adjutant General of Militia for Lower Canada be £250 instead of £500.

Lost. Ayes 24, Nays 29.

Ma. CHRISTIE moved, that the salary of the Speaker be £500 per Session, instead of £1000 per annum.
The motion was lost. Ayes 12, Nays 42.

MR. CHRISTIE moved to add to the resolution—"provided the said Speaker hold no office of emolument under the Crown, or receive any money out of the consolidated revenue." The hon, gentleman said that this motion was for the purpose of preventing the Speaker from receiving the sessional allowance, or from acting as Queen's Counsel, or being under any obliga-tion to the Executive.

The motion was lost. Ayes 11, Nays 46. Scorr objected to the grant to the Medical Faculty of

Mr. Robinson's personal integrity has been repeatedly acknow-ledged during the session by Mr. Baldwin and other members irretrievably damaged in the public estimation of all political parties by the explanations. That Mr. Robinson has been badly used by his late colleagues cannot, we think, be denied. He joined them on the understanding that the University Bill would be introduced with the concurrence of the Council of King's College. At a very late period of the session the heads of a bill were submitted to him; be had no time to consult with those interested in the matter, and whose right to be consulted was admitted by his colleagues. He required postponement, and it was refused, and he was driven out of office. The supporters of the ministry in the house made the same demand and it was granted,—yes, it was granted to John P. Roblin, D. E. McDonnell, and David Thompson, although it was refused to Mr. Robinson. Mr. Draper's excuse that Mr. Robinson would not promise to vote for the bill next session is wholl Invalid. Have any of the supporters of the ministry promised to vote for the bill next session? Has Mr. Sherwood promised to do so? On the contrary, he has openly condemned the measure, and is the strenuous advocate of the division of the endowment, one of the Bishop's plans, and to which, in all probability, Mr. Robinson might have been brought to consent.

The avowed doctrine of Mr. Sherwood and others was, that The avowed doctrine of Mr. Sherwood and others was, that the Administration to the propriety of making a grant of £500 each to Queen's College and that of Regiopolis. He hoped that a supplementary estimate would be brought down, in which these items would not be forgotten. He also trusted that next and Mr. Sherwood are on precisely the same ground, and yet second reading were pledged, was "the right to legislate." Now to that extent Mr. Robinson avowed himself ready to go. He and Mr. Sherwood are on precisely the same ground, and yet the one is driven from office while the other looks on with the utmost complacency and sang froid. Mr. Robinson of course felt that by voting for the second reading he would have com mitted himself to the great principle of the bill, and he had no right be received and educated, that they might be enabled to eason to anticipate its postponement. Mr. Baldwin spoke in condemnation of the appointment of Dr. Ryerson to the Superintendent of Education, and that of Mr. Murray to the Professorship of Mathematics in Kings College. NEW BRUNSWICK. PETITION OF THE VICE-PRESIDENT OF KING'S COLLEGE. The following Petition was on Friday last presented to the Legislative Council by the Honorable Colonel Shore :-" To the Honorable the Legislative Council: "The Petition of Edwin Jacob, Clerk, Rector in Divinity,

Vice-President of the University of King's College at Fredericton, and a Professor in the same—Humbly Sheweth; "That your Petitioner received his appointment from the Chancellor of this University, under a Royal Charter, granted by his Majesty King George the Fourth, in compliance with a petition of the General Assembly, and accepted and confirmed, which he was about to lay before the House, he did so, without any desire to praise, still less to flatter his honourable friend, by adulation. He would say, however, both for himself and his friends, that they had every reason to be satisfied when the late Inspector General became their colleague, and to regret, that the circumstances now under review or any others, should ave rendered it necessary for him to retire from than a few of the course of the direct trade between it the consented to withdraw it—the object of its presentation having been sufficiently accomplished. We have reasons to believe that the "authority" to which the petition refers was indeed "high,"—much superior to any which could be found in the conformity to the said Resolutions.

A Committee was then appointed to draft the said Petitions, and they were reported, adopted, and ordered to be communicated to the Council for their concurrence.

Adjourned till 3, p.m. a very weak Government indeed. If ministers could have consented to postpone the measure, his hon, friend would still have been unable to promise his support either to that Bill, or to any other have been unable to promise his support either to that Bill, or Some of the members of the Council having objected to the NEW TAILORING ESTABLISHMENT, that he is, and has uniformly shewn himself, friendly to the "real and practicable improvements" which would, in all probability, render the College far more extensively beneficial.—

The "Constitutional" question is of course entitled to grave consideration, which it must undoubtedly receive in the highest to satisfy the most fashionable who may favour him with a trial.

our own University, has been undertaken by the Legislature of New Brunswick. We suppose that the present extraordinary proceedings of our Canadian Parliament will afford no small encouragement to those who are engaged in this kindred enter-prise in the sister Province. With the dissatisfaction which appears to prevail as to the internal economy of the University at Fredericton we, of course, are not concerned; destitute, as we are, of that intimate local knowledge which would warrant us in pronouncing a judgment on the complaints which have been made; but in regard to the propriety and justice of the interference—in a tone of absolute and final authority,—of any Provincial Legislature with the conditions and privileges of a Royal Charter, we fully concur in the doctrine thus enunciated in the New Brunswick Assembly :-

"Wednesday, Feb. 26th.—Mr. W. H. Street was opposed to the present Bill: the House had no right to interfere with the Charter of the College. It was granted by the Crown, and the Queen alone had any right to annul or modify her own grant.—Mr. S. referred to the opinions of Mr. Draper in Canada in proof of his argument, and contended that Mr. D. had conclusiv ly shown that the Colonial Legislature could not interfere with the Royal Charter without the assent of the Corporasented from the College Council, but expressed a willingness to submit to any alteration Her Majesty would make. He hoped, therefore, that the Bill would be abandoned, and an Address to Her Majesty adopted in lieu thereof. Mr. S also referred to the opinion of the Chief Justice, which he thought high authority, and quite strong enough for him."

THE EXECUTIVE COUNCIL: - On Saturday last, Messrs. Partelow and End enquired of the Hon. Mr. Simonds if any measure had yet been taken for filling up the Council since the Toronto, Jan. vote of Want of Confidence had passed the House, upon which Mr. Simonds answered that two additional Members had been appointed; and Colonel McLeod immediately informed the House that both the Solicitor General and himself had that day been sworn into office. Upon this announcement Messrs Partelow, End, Barberie, Wilmot, and Dr. Earle, severally addressed the House, declaring their determination to give them Constitutionally their political opposition. Mr. Wilmot was particularly severe on the Covernment, and Messrs. Barberie and Dr. Earle equally so in respect to the new Councillors.

Mr. Brown stated that the Government had acted as he had the Province. He would also assist in having the question fithat his design to delay the vote of want of confidence, till after the first of March, would have, if acceded to, pluced the House in a better position than it then occupied.

It is said that His Excellency received the Committee which waited on him to request his transmission of the address to England, with great courtesy; stating that he felt obliged to the House for having refrained from stopping the usual supplies, which would of course disarrange the whole affairs of the country .- Fredericton Reporter, Feb. 28. THE COLLEGE BILL.—This Bill, which passed the Lower House a week or two ago, is now before the Legislative Council, and what its fate will be in that House we are entirely without data on which to ground an opinion. We have hitherto left this subject in the hands of corre-pondents, for whose ideas we do not consider ourselves responsible, as our columns have been equally open to both sides; but the time has at length arrived when we are called upon to record our own opinion, and We shall not lined from the task.

King's College has usually been considered as exclusive in its character, and as having been established for the especial benefit of the Church of England. This is an erroneous sup-position, for not only are the scholarships open to all denominations of Christians, and no constraint placed upon the stu-dents to attend the services of the Church of England either in or out of the College, but we verily believe that the obloquy ation can produce | England has at least equal claims to that of any other denomideeply deplored that an Institution, so nobly endowed, should charges against the Board.

Mr. Cameron opposed the motion. The statements which had been made to the Committee were exparte statements, and the other side had not yet been heard.

Sity boasts.

We desire to see every denomination of professing christians and been made to the Committee were exparte statements, and the power of conferring academical degrees, but we protest against the invasion of a Royal Charter to accomplish that the students should be so few. This the friends of the College regret, and her enemies the other side had not yet been heard. the other side had not yet been heard.

Mr. Attorney General Draper defended the Board at some of the computation of the comput length; he considered it altogether unjustifiable that the charges contained in the Report brought up by the member for Huron should be placed upon the Journals of the House, without the Dersons expected in the Report brought up the member for Huron should be placed upon the Journals of the House, without the Dersons expected in the Report brought up to the House, without the Dersons expected in the Report brought up to the House, without the College University are held by letters patent from the King's College University are held by letters patent from the having in any one particular instance shown partiality or in-King's College University are held by letters patent from the countries of the House, without the persons accused having had an opportunity of explaining or defending their conduct.

WEDNESDAY AFTERNOON.

Mr. Draper resumed his defence of the conduct of the Board, entering into a variety of details of little interest to others than the parties interested.

Mr. Berthelot opposed the investigation.

If this were done what guarantee is there that the Charter would not be amended every year?-What guarantee would there be that in a few years our Provincial College would not become a hot-bed of politicians and infidels? What guarantee would there be (seeing that a large number of our Representatives are influenced chiefly by their Roman Catholic constituents) that it might become a second authorised to collect and receive the same. Maynooth? Let us hope that a stand will be made against this by every person who has the success of the Protestan Religion at heart; and let it not be forgotten that the only reason why the College Charter is not altered is because of the non-resistence (on this subject) to the Wilmot faction in the House
