

made the experiment of settling at Massachusetts——Their peculiarities—No pre-existing monarchy, hierarchy, or nobility to contend with—Settlers not a military people—No mobs—Monarchy the oldest and most natural form of government in the world—Laws passed to regulate the price of labour—Massachusetts was a federative body in miniature.
 Secondly, With reference to the period of the adoption of the federal constitution and herein of general predisposition to rebellion—Immediate cause of revolution—The large republic possesses all the features of the first: 1st. The same vast territory; 2nd. People of one common origin and language;
 3rd. No pre-existing monarchical institutions; 4th.
 No powerful neighbours; 5th. No poor; 6th. Important additions or changes; 7th. Universal toleration, in consequence of which there is danger of Romish ascendancy—Growth of sectarianism and infinite dissent—American Episcopal Church, its character, conduct, and growth—Republicanism favourable to spread of Popery—The error of the Jesuits in judging of it—State of Popery in purely Roman Catholic countries, and where Protestantism prevails—Permanent provision for President and Judges—High character of the Supreme Court of the United States—American mode of selecting judges recommended for colonies—Difference in power of English and American judges. Thirdly, Reasons why a republic cannot be successful in England—Effects of monarchy on society.—Fourthly, Reasons why it cannot exist in France—Effect of first revolution clergy

 expul
 —Ab
 infide
 Roma
 pared
 Popis
 Franc
 Legis
 Down
 ferenc illustr their i nor o its in it suc
 ment