Hon. Robert Rogers Attacks Liberal Opposition for Attitude to Government.

MEASURES HELD UP

Senate's Unreasonableness Made Position of Sir Robert Borden Intolerable.

Special to The Toronto World.

MCNTREAL, May 3.—Condemnation of the Liberal press and the Liberal opposition for its truculent attitude towards the government in general and its war measure in particular was the feature of an address delivered by Hon. Robert Rogers, minister of public works, before a luncheon of the Montreal Conservative Club today. Hampered by the tactics of the opposition and blocked wherever postable by the same terms of the conservation. opposition and blocked wheteveriment, sible by the senate, the government, he insisted was fully vindicated in its determination to appeal to the country for a mandate to carry out its war policy. Neither he nor any other member of the ministry under rational and reasonable conditions wanted an election at the present time, but misleading attacks in the Liberal press were deluding a few simple-minded people, and even some clergymen who ought to know better Rev. Dr. Bland, of Winnipeg, who preached in Toronto last Sunday and censured Canadian politicians, he called a professional hypocrite, whose sible senate also received some caustic emergency measure its mutilation of soldiers' votes bill, and its attitude on the senatorial representation statute, all came in for sharp com-Responsibility of Premier-

"No prime minister in Canada had placed upon his shoulders ning his oddress Mr. Rogers heavy responsibility that our or, Sir Robert Borden, has been that our called upon to carry, and no prime minister could have carried those rea greater consciousness of his lasting to Canada and to the British Emprie, and no prime minister has ever called upon to meet such cowardly and dishonest misrepresenta-tions on the part of his opponents as has Sir Robert. But these vicious and organized attacks are not going to deter Sir Robert and his colleagues from carrying out the greatest task that has ever fallen to the lot of any government to deal with.

Duty of Sir Robert.

Gentinuing, Mr. Rogers said: "The Canadian people were fortunate to have had a Sir John Macdonald to perform the great task of confederation with British connection, and the Canby reason of the wide scope given them in their field of operations dur-ing the 15 years of Liberal reign. For of the press of Liberal reign. For example: Who will deny the strength of the press of Canada today that represents Liberal graft, Liberal loot and Liberal plunder? A press that in its desperation descends to the very lowest possible level, and when I make this statement I frankly acknowledge I am thinking of The Montreal Wereld I am thinking of The Montreal Herald. The Toronto Globe and The Winnipeg Free Press, all papers that have prospered in one form or another by the purchase and sale of influence with Liberal leaders, bu the purchase and sale of Liberal principles, or by pure and unadulterated graft during the reign of the late administration. to be expected that a press of this degenerate type will oppose the present government, for reasons that are obvious, no matter what they do. Fate of Naval Aid Bill. "When the present government took office they were pledged to the Canadian people to adopt a policy that would have for its purpose the binding in closer bonds of union our Dominion with the mother country. With this purpose in view, Sir Robert and several of his colleagues, at the first available opportunity, proceeded to England there to consult with the govern ment of Great Britain and the admiralty as to what means could best be employed to give effect to such policy They returned with a distinct and de finite answer. When our proposals for the carrying out of this policy were presented to parliament they were re-ceived with general approval by Canadians everywhere, excepting the present opposition in parliament, and the press which I have just described. That opposition and that press, with the aid of an irresponsible majority in the upper chamber, prevented the government, as representing the free will of the Canadian people, from giving effect to that policy, which, if we had been able to carry thru, would have meant so much in this solemn hour, e to Canada, but to the British Empire as well.

Served Notice on World.

"No sooner had hostilities begun than Canada, thru her prime minister, served notice upon the world that so far as the ties which bound her to the empire were ties which bound her to the empire were concerned they were stronger than ever before. The people in their enthusiatstic support of the government served notice, the young men of Canada, who by the thousands have volunteered for service at the front, have served notice, that Canada is with the empire, and those notices contained this clause, that Canada's share and Canada's part in this great struggle will not be finished until the last shot in the war has been fired and until the last will not be finished until the last shot in the war has been fired and until the last sprinciple for which Great Britain and France stand has been gained. Recognizing as we do the very grave and the very heavy responsibilities, the end of which no man can yet foresee, and believing as we did that we had the confidence and the support of the Canadian people everywhere in sending forward and mobilizing at home over 100,000 of our gallant sons, who so generously have offered their lives as defenders of their flag and their country, this great work canada their country the work of the canada the confidence and the condition of the canada the condition of the canada the cond amount of about $30,000.000. This iast proposal met with strenuous and determined opposition at the hands of our opponents in parliament, as well as at the hands of the Liberal press.

Danger of Position.

"In view of our past experience with our naval proposals of 1913, when we discovered that under our form of government it was possible for an irresponsible majority of the upper chamber to defeat, as they did then, the will of the Canadian people as represented in the house of comomns, is it to be wondered that the government, being charged with those great responsibilities, answerable for the carrying out of the greatest task ever imposed on public men in Canada, should keenly feel the danger of their position. And mark you, I do not mean by this their political position, but I mean the position of the Canadian people that want to take their proper place in the great struggle of the day. This war cannot be carried to a successful conclusion without money and without means, yet the opposition declare by their voice and by their votes that we must not have this money, and moved a vote of want of confidence in the government for asking it. Under our law and under our constitution we had the right as a government to recommend additional appointments to the upper chamber, but the irresponsible majority of that chamber today go the length and actually refuse to recognize the law and the constitution and prevent the government from making those appointments for the sole and only purpose of retaining their control thru which they are absolutely the masters of the situation.

Patriotic Election.

Patriotic Election. "Some people say it would not be patriotic to hold an election during the war. Let me ask such an individual this question: Which would be the most patriotic, to dissolve this parliament and have full and complete control, which any government must have if they are going to render that full service to Canada, and, above all, do our full duty by our gallant soldiers and those dependent upon them, or remain as we are, handicapped and crippled and interfered with at every turn?

Simple Deluded.

"We have appearing daily the most venomous, the most contemptible and the most lying misrepresentations that have ever been published in any part of the most lying misrepresentations that have ever been published in any part of the civilized world. The unfortunate part is that evidently some simple-minded, innocent people read those statements and believe them to be true, as is evidenced by the fact that a few clergymen—but, fortunately, very few in number—thru want of knowledge, are simple-minded enough to venture to re-echo from their pulpits some of the misrepresentations being published from day to day in the Liberal press of our country. It might be well for those individuals better to study and better to understand the true conditions before undertaking to enter upon a discussion of public affairs, for, if they have no better knowledge of their Bible and its teachings than they appear to have when they undertake to discuss public questions, all I can say is, may God have mercy upon the souls of the unfortunate people that depend upon such individuals for spiritual instruction and direction. Of course, the case of Prof. Bland is somewhat different in that he is a well-known mercent. case of Prof. Bland is somewhat different, in that he is a well-known professional hypocrite, who has ever been ready to endorse, approve and applaud every crooked act that has ever been known to have been committed by any Liberal.

"Then, we have the memorable attitude of the opposition on the bill intro-duced by Judge Doherty to provide that any of our soldiers who so wish could have the right to exercise their franchise. have had a Sir John Macdonald to perform the great task of confederation with British connection, and the Canadian people were still more fortunate the opposition offering the fiercest obtaining the commons, and it was finally so mutilated commons, and it was finally so mutilated today, in this great hour of trial and test, to have a Sir Robert Borden to perform the still greater task that today confronts the Canadian people. He has honestly and honorably discharged the greatest responsibilities that have ever gallen to the lot of any public man in Canada.

Liberal Press Scored.

"But the fact that he has so honestly and so honorably discharged these great responsibilities apparently means nothing to a certain horde of designing Liberal grafters and simpletons; grafters that are strong and powerful by reason of the wide scope given them in their field of operations durfavor of such policy, and because of this they exercised every means at their command, and succeeded fairly well, to so mutilate this bill as to make it almost of no value."

KINGSTON, Ont., May 3.—The story of the great fight at Hill 60, near Ypres is told in a letter received today by James McDermott from his son, Private Edward C. McDermott of the Canadian Motor Transport. He was in the fight when the British took Hill No. 60 from the Germans on April 20, and he was also close to where the Germans made their big drive a couple of days later. His letter is dated April 21, and is the first to reach here telling of the commencement of the terrible fighting around Ypres Private McDermott states that his transport was closest to the firing line of the British force. He says:

Hell Let Loose.

"They decided to actack the German position. All that night and part of next day it was a regular hell let loose. The British had a hill on which the Germans were strongly entrenched, and which the British had lost many lives trying to take. They fired the mines and that was the signal to start. At 7.10 p.m. they opened up, and I do not ever expect to see anything more thrilling if I live 100 years. We took the hill, lost it, and recaptured it, and about as good success as we did. The Germans have been trying hard to retake this position, but without success.

People Are Brave.

"Tyres is pretty well demolished. The people, brave to the last, stick there, selling little souvenirs, lace, etc., to the soldiers. Our boys were an the thick of it, but as yet I do not know the number of casualities, altho I hear our battalion tost 180. The British seem to have gained the supremacy of the air. Dozens of our planes are over their trenches all the time, while the only two German planes. I have seen in a week were brought down by the British guns in quick time. We are going to win, and a lot sooner than most people think, but it will take considerable lives to do it. The British took a large bunch of prisoners the last few days. There is to be another attack tonight. There is a continual stream of star shells thrown up at night that turn night into day."

Toronto Officer Wounded While Carrying Out Hazardous
