CHINESE LIKELY TO CLASH WITH RUSSIA

Mongols Show Disposition to Side With Russians, Who Make Move to Check Chinese Troops.

CHICAGO, Nov. 25.—(Can. Press.)

—News of the Chinese expedition to Mongolia under Prince Pohl was received here today in a cable to The Chicago Daily News from Peking. The cable said in part: "The war office today made public a copy of a telegram from the loyal Mongol general, Prince Pohl, saying that Ulas-sutai, Mongolia, had been captured by his command. After a battle lasting two days, the Mongolians were put to flight. "According to a telegram from Klamina, a city on the Russian side of the northern frontier of Mongolia, the Mongols recently seized the Chinese Government telegraph offices at Miamachen, Mongolia, threw out the Chinese operators and installed Russians. "The Russians are sending detachments toward Urga and Western Mongolia, with the avowed object of protecting the lives and property of Russian subjects. It is believed, however, to be a counter move to the Chinese operations in upper Mongolia."

BLAME YOUNG TURKS FOR STARTING WAR

Progressive Element Accused Government of Selling Country, Says Statement Explaining Discipling.

CONSTANTINOPLE, Nov. 25.—(Can. Press.)

—A long official communication is published explaining the government's action against the Union and Progressive party. It asserts that in the demonstration of students and others around the Porte demanding war, there were numerous official Young Turks, who endeavored to inflame the populace by accusing the government of selling the country. Police inquiries proved that at the departure of the army for the field of battle, delegates were similarly employed in urging the soldiers not to fight for the traitorous government. One delegate even undertook the task of inducing the soldiers against the Sultan and his ministers by bombs. The communication, while it declares that indulgence towards such agitators would be a crime against the nation, repudiates the reports that the government is animated by political animus against the party itself, proof of which, it says, can be found in the decision of the government to liberate those against whom there is not sufficient evidence of guilt.

Johnston Verdict Expected Today

Chauffeur Who Ran Down Miss Watson on Kingston Road, Now Being Tried by Jury.

This morning a verdict will be returned by the jury sitting on the case of Edward Johnston, chauffeur for A. E. Rae, charged with criminal negligence in running down Miss Edna Watson at step 17 on the Kingston road on Oct. 12 last. Miss Watson continued to howl when she was sustained injuries which resulted in her death.

All the witnesses agreed that Johnston was traveling slowly when the accident happened. The motorman and conductor of the car from which Miss Watson alighted gave evidence, relating how she had noticed the oncoming car, stopped for an instant, then continued across the road, and Johnston, after swerving the car outward, ran over her.

Mr. Rae swore that the car could not have been travelling more than five miles an hour when the girl was struck. Johnston blew his horn, according to him, when Miss Watson evidently heard, for she stopped, then suddenly dashed across ahead of the motor car.

The crown's automobile experts swore that there was eighteen inches of play in the steering gear of Mr. Rae's motor if it was unsafe to drive it in that condition. The foreman of the Russell Motor Car repair shop, however, tested the car, and declared that it was safe for any competent man to drive.

T. C. Robinson, K.C., defence for the accused, asked Chief Justice Mulock to take the case away from the jury, because, as he stated, the crown's case had fallen down. The chief justice decided otherwise, however, and the case goes to the jury this morning.

We show what is probably the most varied selection to be seen in Toronto, and, beyond doubt, the very best values.

There are both men's and women's styles—the former in sterling silver, with leather straps, costing from $7.50 upwards.

The Ladies' styles are more attractively fashioned than ever, having neatly made gold or platinum links for the bracelet, while the "bead" or watch itself is equally chaste, and just what appeals to an artistic eye. Prices from $40.00 to $125.00, and where diamonds are used—up to $300.00. Gold-filled ones cost only $12.00.

For Xmas giving we advise early selecting, as the line cannot be duplicated until after the holiday season.

LAURIER MOVES TO CENSURE

ister design," enquired Sir Wilfrid, "is in the mind of the government?" Likened to Tammany.

The main portion of the ex-premier's speech, however, dealt with the alleged misconduct of the Borden government and especially of Hon. Mr. Rogers. "The government," he declared, "had connived at practices in Macdonald and Macdougall which would put to shame the most infamous practices of Tammany Hall."

He read newspaper reports of various arrests made of Liberal canvassers without cause in Macdonald, and declared that Mr. Rogers and Sir A. I. A. R. had terrorized the supporters of Mr. Macdougall. In the absence of Mr. Macdougall, he returned the Conservative candidate.

Sir Wilfrid closed by offering an amendment to the address and reply to the speech from the Liberal, expressing regret that in the Macdonald and Macdougall by-elections "practices calculated to terrorize and corrupt the voters were connived at by ministers of the crown, for which they deserved the censure of the house."

Speaker's Brief Reply.

Mr. Borden spoke briefly in reply. Referring to Sir Wilfrid's statement that he should be feared as an enemy, the prime minister said he would prefer to say that the empire feared no enemy, and we should all see to it that the empire was well prepared for all dangers that might ever assail it.

He asked Sir Wilfrid whether he objected to the arrangement made for the speedy transportation of grain, and the latter was forced to say that he did not.

"Then we will not waste time upon Mr. Borden's remarks," and referring to Sir Wilfrid's criticism of the car in cement duty, concluded with Mr. Oliver, who must be embarrassed to find his name mentioned in the press over the cement combine.

Mr. Borden then intimated that the highway bill would be again passed by the house and advised the opposition leader to warn the senate against laying unholy hands upon it.

Referring to the change of standard on the National Transportation bill, Mr. Borden promised that Mr. Cochrane would deal with that charge during the present debate and that his statement would be satisfactory to the people of Canada.

Redistribution in 1914.

As to redistribution, Mr. Borden said that it could not become effective before the next general election, and that if redistribution was made by April, 1914, the present government would have acted as promptly as did the Laurier government after the census of 1911.

The charges made in his speech by Sir Wilfrid and in the amendment offered by Mr. Borden were characterized by Mr. Borden as baseless, supported only by newspaper gossip and unworthy a man who had been prime minister of Canada.

It was amusing, he said, to find Sir Wilfrid confessing himself shocked at the occurrences in Macdonald and Macdougall, and he had forgotten West Huron, Brockton and Lennox (Appalachee and Hurler).

Mr. Borden's Regrets.

Mr. Borden spoke glowingly of Canada's prosperity. No one in this country regretted the defeat of reciprocity, he said, and Sir Wilfrid Laurier was embarrassed by this issue which he had not the courage to abandon. Sir Wilfrid had been advised to cancel his waters tour after a conference of party leaders at which, according to reports, there were angry words if not blows. At any rate, the scene was so painful that Sir Wilfrid had been visibly upset all day.

Proceeding to discuss reciprocity, Mr. Borden went about to read the famous "adjunct letter," written by President Taft to Col. Roosevelt, when Mr. Carvell of New Brunswick and other members of the opposition, "Oh, "I do not wonder at my friends' opposite squirming when this letter is read," commented the prime minister, amid applause and laughter. "Let me tell them," he added, "of the authority of The New York Evening Post, that this letter was submitted to and passed upon by the cabinet before it was despatched by the president of the United States."

Mont. Frank Oliver, embalmist in Hansard many affidavits showing that wrongful arrests of Liberal workers had been made just before the Macdonald by-election. He denounced the Roblin government for diverting the funds of the province to the upkeep of a "standing army of political thugs."

Finance Minister White will resume the debate tomorrow.

The World and the Bible

The phenomenal success achieved by The World in the distribution of Bibles which class with this week, has probably never been equaled by any other publication in Canada. Bibles are considered the most common commodity, that it has been impossible to excite any enthusiasm outside of strictly religious circles. This impression has been dispelled, as evidenced by the thousands of people of all classes, who have flocked to The World office and stood in line waiting for their turn to secure a copy.

This book, while familiar to everyone, was decidedly new in that the publishers had recreated it, making it attractive by reason of hundreds of text pictures, many colored plates reproduced from the Tissett Collections, and enclosing the whole in an elaborate slip case with leather binding.

The Illuminated Bible, as it is termed, has created a place for itself and it is now being sold in thousands of homes where formerly it held an honored place on the top shelf of the bookcase.

The World's extraordinary distribution will cease on Saturday next. You should not lose this last opportunity of securing this really admirable book; on occasion from the current issue of this week's World, together with nominal charge will secure it for you.
