FOR POSTAL INGREASE Further Difficulties Promised Because Re-Mailing Privilege Isn't What it Was.

The new postal regulations are causing international friction.

A Washington despatch says that the United States department have been notified that it will be impossible for the Canadian postal department to handle second-class mail matter sent to Canada from the United States by either express or freight, and mailed there

The despatch adds that United States Postmaster-General Meyer added that as soon as a specific case of refusal on the part of the Canadian govern-ment to handle U.S. 2nd-class matter was called to his attention, he will be forced to issue an order that Canadian publications in the United States could not be handled at the second-class rates.

From Ottawa, Hon. Mr. Lemieux, P. M. G., declares that "No such prohibition has been made," and that "the United States has the same privilege of remailing to-day in Canada under the present postal convention as it had under the old one, with the exception that instead of the rate being one cent per pound it is one cent per four ozs., or four cents per pound. Under the old convention the remailing privilege of one cent per pound was not a higher rate than the domestic rate of either country, and was no violation of the convention, but to continue the remailing privilege of one cent per pound, when the domestic rate in both countries is four cents per pound, would, in the opinion of this department, be a violation of the convention existing."
At Detroit, it is said, a large quantity of second-class mail matter, con-signed to Canadian points, and sent from the United States, is being held up on account of insufficient postage
