Ottawa, Oct. 13 .- (Special.)-The Dominion Cabinet rose at 5 o'clock, and at 7 o'clock the following official statement

The greater part of the statements published in the press during the past few days respecting the action of the Government in relation to the proposed contingent for service in the Transvaal has been inaccurate. The press, in the absence of any official statement, has indulged in speculation, some of which, perhaps, has misled its readers. In matters of this kind there are reasons for official reticence which only men accustomed to the responsibilities of Government can fully understand.

Their Excuse for Delay.

Their Excuse for Delay.

It was only within the last few days that the matter assumed such a shape as admitted of Government action, and it was necessary that a full council meeting be held to consider a question of so great importance. At no time was there any question as to the desirability of Canada co-operating with the home authorities in any movement necessary for the promotion of Imperal interests.

The only question that causes a moment's delay was whether Parliamentary authority was—not required. The sending of a contingent to the Trausvaal involved not only the expenditure of considerable money but the taking of an important step that had not been contemplated by Parliament, and which might possibly be regarded as a precedent in a matter of so much consequence. Precedents ought not hastly to be established. Hence the first view that prevailed was that Parliament should be summoned to confirm the action which was proposed. Subsequently it was learned that the Imperial authorities had placed certain limitations on all colonial arrangements, which, in reducing the initial cost and in solving a somewhat serious constitutional question respecting the power of enlistment, obviated the necessity of a meeting of 'Parliament in order to clothe the Government with authority to take action.

An Imperial Arrangement.

In view of this fact and of the vrgent reasons for prompt action, the Ministers decided this afternoon to carry out an arrangement which had been arrived at through communication with the Imperial authorities. The Home Government agreed to receive into the army in Africa a contingent comprising a number of units of 125 men each and certain officers, the highest to be a major, so that the unit may on arrival be consolidated with the Imperial forces under Imperial officers.

Entirely Volunteer,

The movement is to be entirely a

The movement is to be entirely a volunteer one. The number of officers and men determined on is 1000, which is a much larger number than that supplied by any other colony of the Empire. The Militia Department, which has all its plans in shape, will immediately provide arms and equipment for the necessary forces.

Call for Volunteers.

The commanding officers of the various corps throughout Canada will be asked to obtain the names of vo'unteers, to be forwarded to the Minister of Militia. Only men in the very best physical condition will be acepted, and preference will be given to good marksmen. It is expected for obvious reasons that chiefly unmarried men will form the contingent.

Arrangements will be made by the Canadian Government for the equipment of the contingent as above stated, and for the transportation of the force to a point of disembarkation in South Africa.

Part of the Imperial Army.

On arrival in South Africa the contingent will be received into the Imperial army and will come under the Imperial army regulations.

Imperial army regulations.

No Canadian Command.

The arrangement respecting the supplying of units with no officer of higher grade than a major is not satisfactory to the Canadian Government, who would have preferred to send a complete regiment, under the command of a Canadian officer, but it appears that the unit arrangement is a part of the general scheme prepared by the War Office, applying to the various contingents furnished by the colonies without any exception. And John said: "My dear, you have never tried the "Pioneer" Cavendish, and until you do you will never know the pleasure I derive." She never will.

"Pioneer" is a gentleman's smoke, a full, rounded smoking tobacco, of exquisite flavor and body, sweet, cool and moist. It has every quality that you like best in smoking tobacco.

The Richmond Cavendish Company of Liverpool, England, have completed arrangements whereby every tobacconist in Canada can get a supply of the "Pioneer" Cavendish—in 10 and 20 cent packages, and in 40 and 75 cent sealed tins. As will be seen by the terms upon which the Government has at last capitulated to public sentiment in the matter of authorizing a Canadian military contribution to assist British arms in South Africa, Mr. Tarte has his way, as became the master of the administration. It took two days' wrangling in a council and a threat to resign to accomplish it, but the Bytown Coons have come down. There will be no Canadian contingent sent out by the Government, as such, just as Mr. Tarte said. The 1000 volunteers will be enrolled for Attached to Them. The 1000 volunteers will be enrolled for
